H. P. Davison Outlines to Chicago Bankers Broad Plan to Extend Credits.

INDUSTRIES TO JOIN HANDS

SAYS WE WOULD BE GAINER

Federal Reserve Report Says That Europe Requires $3,000,000,000 from Us.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Henry P. Davison of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., speaking tonight before about forty of Chicago's financiers and business men at a dinner given in his honor by George M. Reynolds, President of the Continental and Commercial National Bank, advanced a plan to put debt-ridden, hungry, and desolate Europe on a sound basis with the aid of American goods and Americans dollars.

It is a plan of co-ordinating the industrial and financial resources of the United States in a manner never before attempted, of extending industrial credits through a governing body, which would locate the need for goods, make investigations of credits, and decide on the distribution. Credits would be guaranteed by the European Governments and debentures issued against them.

Mr. Davison made it plain that everybody in the United States who desired to aid would be included in the proposed industrial organization, and that the idea was not altruistic, but based on business principles.

"The problem of what we must do for Europe," he said, "is an American question. My plan is strictly a business one, without sentiment. We must have Europe as our best customer; we must help her to be that best customer; we must get back that $10,000,000,000 she owes us.

"We must find out what she needs in reason, and distribute our goods accordingly. My suggestion is to co-ordinate all our industries and have the whole directed by one central organization, supported and assisted by the Federal Government. Thus the chaos that would result from individual endeavors would be avoided. Co-ordinate these industries separately. Say the cotton industries. Thus when cotton is desired it can speedily be forwarded without red tape or delays.

"Distribute the supplies according to the reasonable needs of the different countries. We do not want one country to get too much because it has a better credit than some other country, and this other country to get nothing at all and fester as a breeding spot of unrest because it has no credit.

"We believe that it is possible to organize in Europe a committee that could consider the demands of the different countries, especially the new ones, like Poland, Czechoslovakia, Albania, &c., and determine whether their demands were reasonable and whether they could pay for as much as they want."

Europe's Overwhelming Needs.

"Continental Europe is nearly prostrate. She needs food, materials, about everything, in fact, that America can furnish her. She owes America about $10,000,000,000. She has got to have materials, but how can she pay? One way—there are only two—would be by sending gold, and the other by exporting goods. But she cannot send gold and she cannot export without having manufactured goods.

"Now, what can be done? And what is our interest, aside from the great debt owing us?

"If we want business to continue properly we must have an outlet for our products. Europe is our greatest customer. If we want our industries and our mines to keep operating and our farms to remain prosperous, we must have Europe as a customer.

"The equation sums up to this: Europe—all Europe—must have our materials, for our sake. There never was such a situation before, and, as it is extraordinary, the solution must be extraordinary, but simple, too.

"First, the requirements of Europe must be co-ordinated. We must know just what is wanted, and these wants must be reasonable. The Governments of Europe must get away from paternalism as soon as possible, and so must we. There are some peculiar complications. For instance, there are new countries, and these must be supplied. One cannot organize a corporation without capital and then go to a bank for the money that is needed. The sooner we get trade into normal channels the better it will be for all.

"I believe it possible to organize in Europe a committee to pass upon the demands of all countries. When this committee makes a request, we will comply.

How Plan Would Work.

"It is essential to co-ordinate our industrial and financial interests as regards exports so the proper credits can be extended, say, in cotton, steel, metals, agricultural machinery, and foodstuffs, perhaps under the form of corporations. When Poland, for example, asks for $100,000,000 in goods, including cotton, copper, tobacco, etc., the demand for cotton would be referred to

Arrest Countess Markievicz Again for Sinn Fein Work

She was taken to Cork under escort.

Countess Georgina Markievicz has been the leading female figure of the Sinn Fein movement. She took part in the Dublin rebellion in 1916 and was sentenced to penal servitude for the rôle she played. She was released under the general amnesty, but was re-arrested in May, 1918, and interned. She was again released early this year.

The Countess, who is a sister of Sir Josslyn Gore-Booth, is the first woman ever elected to the House of Commons.

Laurence Ginnell, also a Sinn Fein Member of Parliament, was arrested in Dublin on May 30. On June 7 he was sentenced at Mullingar to four months' imprisonment for inciting to disorder at Athlone.

BATTLE WITH VILLA FORCE NEAR JUAREZ

JUAREZ, Mexico, June 13.—A skirmish occurred between Federals and advanced forces of General Felipe Angeles, Villa's chief lieutenant, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Several were reported killed on the Federal side.

That the Villista forces are raising money by forced loans was reported by Librado Nunez, a merchant of Villa Ahumada, who arrived at Guadalupe, east of here. Nunez said the Villista officer who demanded money from him was dissatisfied with the amount he gave and looted his general merchandise store.

HEADQUARTERS OF GENERAL FELIPE ANGELES, Mexico, June 13.—General Felipe Angeles, commander of the rebel forces in the vicinity of Juarez, granted a four-hour interview to a correspondent of The Associated Press this afternoon. With General Angeles at his headquarters is Martin Lopez, next in command; Ramon Vega, and General Holguin.

General Angeles is in the best of spirits, and says he is confident of his cause. His forces are well equipped and his cavalry horses are the best seen below the border and equal those of the American cavalry.

General Angeles is well supplied with funds and states he is paying for everything he obtains from the ranch folk. The most surprising thing is his men—they are not the ordinary run of revolutionists; they are big and strong, and when some were asked about Juarez they smiled and said: "We can take Juarez in three hours."

General Angeles's headquarters are in an old house situated on a lane off the main road about thirteen miles southeast of Juarez. To reach the headquarters is difficult because his men appear every few yards. Some are armed with as many as three guns and as many cartridge belts filled with shells.

EL PASO, Texas, June 13.—The 24th Infantry, (negro troops,) consisting of 1,675 men, arrived in El Paso from Columbus, N. M., last night under command of Colonel Arthur G. Hadsall. This leaves one battalion of infantry at Columbus.

A courier who arrived late tonight from the rebel headquarters near Zaragosa, less than thirteen miles from Juarez, reports they have 4,400 men, all armed with rifles, and each man supplied with 300 rounds of ammunition. Two field guns and eight machine guns are included in their fighting equipment.

A personal inspection of the territory east of Juarez and as far as Guadalupe, in which town a large force of Villistas under Felipe Angeles was reported several days ago, was made by a representative of The Associated Press yesterday and last night. No considerable force, according to the inhabitants of Guadalupe, has been anywhere near that town.

A party of four men from Villa's headquarters, said to be at Villa Ahumada, visited Guadalupe Tuesday. They reported that Villa, Felipe Angeles, and Martin Lopez were at Villa Ahumada with 800 men and that more were coming. They said there were detachments at Samalayuca and Tierra Blanca and at other points about Juarez at short distances from that city.

Andres Garcia, Consul for the Mexican Government in El Paso, today made the following statement to The Associated Press:

"Stories of fighting in the neighborhood of Juarez are false. There has been no engagement, big or little, and I know that up to last night no force of rebels of any consequence has been within thirty miles of Juarez. Scouting parties are out now, and as soon as they return we shall know more about the whereabouts of any Villista force that may be south of the city across the river. In any case there is no expectation of an immediate attack.

"My information is that between 1,400

KOLCHAK PLEDGED TO ALLIES NOT TO KEEP POWER

AGREES TO MAIN PROPOSALS

Will Turn Over Authority to Constituent Assembly as Soon as This Is Formed.

END OF BOLSHEVIKI HIS AIM

Plans to Submit Difficulties with Other National Groups to League of Nations.

PARIS, June 12.—Admiral Kolchak, head of the All-Russian Government at Omsk, in his reply to the first letter from the allied and associated powers, which resulted in a second letter promising him allied support, stated that he did not intend to retain power longer than required by the interest of the country. He reaffirmed his intention to call elections for the Constituent Assembly as soon as the Bolsheviki have been crushed. The text of the Admiral's reply as made public tonight, having been received here on June 5, reads:

"The Government over which I preside has been happy to learn that the reply, as made public tonight, having in regard to Russia is in perfect accordance with the task which the Russian Government itself has undertaken, that Government being anxious above all things to re-establish peace in the country and to assure to the Russian people the right to decide their own destiny in freedom by means of a Constituent Assembly. I appreciate highly the interest shown by the powers as regards the national movement and consider their wish to make certain that the political conditions with which we are inspired are legitimate; I am therefore ready to confirm once more my previous declarations which I have always regarded as irrevocable.

"1. On Nov. 18, 1918, I assumed power and I shall not retain that power one day longer than required by the interest of the country; my first thought at the moment when the Bolsheviki are definitely crushed will be to fix the date for the elections of the Constituent Assembly. A commission is now at work on direct preparation for them on the basis of universal suffrage. Considering myself as responsible for that Constituent Assembly, I shall hand over to it all my powers in order that it may freely determine the system of government; I have, moreover, taken the oath to do this before the Supreme Russian Tribunal, the guardian of legality.

Objections to Old Assembly.

"All my efforts are aimed at concluding the civil war as soon as possible by crushing Bolshevism in order to put the Russian people in a position to express its free will. Any prolongation of this struggle would only postpone that moment; the Government, however, does not consider itself authorized to substitute for the inalienable right of free and legal elections the mere establishment of the Assembly of 1917, which was elected under a régime of Bolshevist violence, and a majority of those members are now in the ranks of the Soviet. It is through the legally elected Constituent Assembly alone, which my Government will do its utmost to convoke properly, that there will belong the sovereign rights of deciding the problems of the Russian State both in the internal and external affairs of the country.

"2. We gladly consent to discuss at once with the powers all international questions, and in doing so shall aim at the free and peaceful development of the peoples, the limitation of armaments, and the measures calculated to prevent new wars, of which the League of Nations is the highest expression.

"The Russian Government thinks, however, that it could recall the fact that the final sanction of the decisions which may be taken in the name of Russia, will belong to the Constituent Assembly. Russia cannot now and cannot in the future ever be anything but a democratic State where all questions involving modifications of the territorial frontiers and of external relations must be ratified by a representative body which is the national expression of the people's sovereignty.

"3. Considering the creation of a unified Polish State to be one of the chief of the normal and just consequences of the world war, the Government thinks itself justified in confirming the independence of Poland, proclaimed by the Provisional Russian Government of 1917, all the pledges and decrees of which we have accepted. The final solution of the question of delimiting the frontiers between Russia and Poland must, however, in conformity with the principles set forth above, be postponed till the meeting of the Constituent Assembly. We are disposed at once to recognize the de facto Government of Finland, but the final solution of the Finnish institution must belong to the Constituent Assembly.

"4. We are fully disposed at once to prepare for the solution of the questions concerning the fate of the national groups in Esthonia, Letvia, Lithuania, and of the Caucasian and trans-Caspian countries, and we have every reason to believe that a prompt settlement will be made, seeing that the Government is assuring at the present time the autonomy of the various nationalities. It goes without saying that the

British Warships Shell Red Base at Kronstadt

STOCKHOLM, June 13.—A British squadron is bombarding the Bolshevist base at Kronstadt with heavy guns, according to a report published in the Aftonblad today. The Bolshevist batteries, however, are not replying to the British fire.

BANK MESSENGER THWARTS HOLDUP

HIS COMPANION BLINDED

David Ryan, 58 years old, a retired policeman employed as a bank messenger by the Colonial Bank at Eighty-first Street and Columbus Avenue, broke up a well-organized attempt of six men to steal a satchel of securities from him on the platform of the downtown elevated station at Eighty-first Street and Columbus Avenue at 11 o'clock yesterday morning by shooting down the man who had seized the satchel. The robbers took a lesson from the war, using an ammonia gas attack on their intended victims.

Ryan and his companion, Henry Boylan, 67 years old, another retired policeman and bank messenger, were starting from the Colonial Bank with a satchel for the Federal Reserve Bank when the attack was made by the six men, who closed in from all sides at the top of the stairs of the elevated station, when the two elderly bank messengers arrived there.

One of the robbers clapped a handful of cotton soaked with ammonia over Boylan's face, blinding him temporarily, and at the same time another used a blackjack on Ryan. The rim of his straw hat partly broke the force of the blow, but he was knocked to his knees, and the satchel snatched away from him. Ryan recovered his feet at once, drew his revolver and started shooting at the man with the satchel. The holdup man fell at the foot of the stairs and dropped the bag of securities. His pals picked him up quickly, but did not go back for the securities, as the ex-policeman kept on firing. They hustled the wounded man into a green automobile and the whole party started east. The machine got away and is believed to have disappeared into Central Park.

Ryan picked up the bag and helped Boylan, who was still dazed from the powerful fumes. A crowd gathered from all directions. Several persons saw the attack and looked for the number of the escaping machine, but the number plate had been removed from it.

Bank Officials Silent.

Officials of the bank were reluctant to talk about the robbery, saying that secrecy had been enjoined on them by the police. Vice President George S. Carr said that he did not know the total value of the contents of the bag, but in answer to questions he placed the value at less than $100,000 and more than $50,000. He refused to say what was the nature of the securities which the bag contained, except that there was no cash in it.

One of the bank officials said that there was no policeman near at the time of the robbery, but that this was not surprising, because no patrolman had been seen in the vicinity of the bank for months.

Henry Sedley, a motion picture actor of 114 West Seventy-ninth Street, who was having his shoes polished on a stand at the southwest corner of Eighty-first Street and Columbus Avenue, said that all of the robbers appeared to him to be young men. The police found a straw hat believed to have been lost by one of the robbers in his flight, and picked up the wad of cotton soaked with ammonia. These were the only clues reported by the police except for the fact that the timing of the attack and the careful arrangements by the robbers to overwhelm the two messengers indicated that the holdup men knew the practice of the bank in sending its messengers downtown with the securities.

Police Captain Henry and a number of detectives arrived shortly after the attempted robbery. Word was flashed to stations all over the city to watch for the green car with a party of young men, one probably seriously wounded. Ryan said that he fired at close range and believed that he hit the man four times, inflicting mortal injuries.

Police Won't Talk.

Captain Henry and his detectives refused yesterday to discuss what they had learned about the case, and this, together with the police request for silence on the part of bank officials, was taken as an attempt to carry out the policy of Mayor Hylan, who recently wrote to a banker arguing that accounts of robberies inspired others to attempt similar crimes and urging that bankers use their supposed influence to have crime stories suppressed.

Boylan was treated by a physician, who found his eyes badly burned by the ammonia. Ryan escaped with only a big lump on his forehead.

A number of loiterers were arrested later in the day and questioned at various stations, but the police refused to say that they had any one in custody

COUNCIL IN ALL-DAY SESSION

FINANCE CLAUSES AMENDED

ERRORS IN ORIGINAL DRAFT

No Provision Made for Damage Suffered by America Before Entering the War.

No 'Fundamental Concessions' Can Be Made, Allies Will Say

PARIS, June 13, (Associated Press.)—The Drafting Committee has completed the work of framing the letter covering the reply to the German counterproposals.

It recalls that the principles upon which the treaty is based are such as to preclude the Allies from making fundamental concessions.

PARIS, June 13.—A rewritten treaty, unchanged in principle, but with many important textual alterations, will be presented to the Germans and made public, probably by Sunday night or Monday morning.

The Council of Five made the decision in favor of revision when it became evident that the explanations made to meet German objections to the terms regarded as most severe could not be presented as addenda.

It is asserted that the Germans will have eight days within which to determine whether they will sign the treaty.

It is expected that the text of the German counterproposals, which has never been given out, will also be made public soon.

All-Day Session on Revision.

The Council of Five today devoted both of its sessions to the revision of the text of the treaty. When the forenoon session ended the council had sent to the Revision Commission nine out of the eighteen reports before it. Among those remaining to be passed are several dealing with important subjects, including the Sarre Valley, Alsace-Lorraine, and the League of Nations.

The Revision Commission, which is in constant session, is headed by Captain André Tardieu of the French mission. The other members are Sir Philip Kerr, representing Great Britain; Signor Vannutelli, Italy; Sadao Saburi, Japan, and Mr. Hudson, the United States.

The treaty will be entirely rewritten and reprinted for the incorporation textually of the explanations and clarifications contained in the allied reply to the German counterproposals. While unchanged in principle, virtually a new document will be presented to the Germans.

The council, it develops, decided that simply to attach the reply to the original document was impracticable, as important clauses would be left obscure and imperfect.

Hence the decision to rewrite the document.

It was remarked in Peace Conference circles today that this action rendered obsolete the text published in the United States.

Many of the divergencies from the old text in the new treaty are of a minor nature, but some are highly important. This is notably true of the second paragraph of Article 232, where the English text of the old document limited the compensation that Germany was to make for damage done the civilian population of the allied and associated powers and to their property "during the period of the belligerency of each as an allied or associated power against Germany."

This wording excluded American losses during the period of the neutrality of the United States and Italian losses during the time when Italy was at war with Austria, but not with Germany. The French text, however, contained no such limit clause.

The Drafting Committee elsewhere had used the words "may" and "shall" interchangeably in translating the same French expression, apparently without noticing the important difference involved.

Aside from the divergencies here noted, the reparations clauses will go into the new treaty virtually unchanged. Other sections of the treaty, however, will be rewritten.

Many Errors in First Draft.

It was the finding of such errors as that in Article 232 that furnished an additional reason for presenting an entirely new draft of the treaty. Errors and inconsistencies in the draft first presented were continually being discov-

Allied Reply May Be Delayed Until Tuesday, Making Date of Peace Signing as Late as June 30

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 12.—It looks this evening as if the revised treaty would not be presented to the German plenipotentiaries as soon as has been expected. French and Americans who have been predicting that the treaty would be ready for presentation not later than Friday now say it will be impossible to complete both documents before Saturday, while the British think there will be a delay until Monday, and possibly Tuesday.

The British guess seems more reasonable in view of the fact that the additions to the treaty will comprise 20,000 words, and the work of redrafting is hardly begun. The draft will have to be revised by the Council of the leading plenipotentiaries, and there is every indication that the German delegation will not get the treaty until next week.

In the circumstances, with Tuesday accepted as the date for handing the revised draft to the Germans, it will be Monday, June 23, before the Germans are obliged to say whether they will sign or not, and if the answer is affirmative it will probably be June 30 before the formal ceremony of signing takes place at Versailles.

SETTING THE STAGE FOR SIGNING PEACE

FLAME OF ALLIED BUNTING

PARIS, June 13.—Plans for the formal ceremony of the signing of the peace treaty at the Château of Versailles have been withdrawn from the pigeonholes in which they were gathering dust, when no definite date for the signature was in prospect, and are being brought up to date. It is probable that they will soon be submitted to Premier Clemenceau or the Council of Five for approval before being put into effect.

French officials, intrusted with the arrangements, were informed originally that everything must be ready for the signing on June 5. They worked out an elaborate project with diagrams, sketches, timetables, and suggestions for sample tickets for the plenipotentiaries, representatives of the press, and spectators. They also laid out the routes for the automobiles which will take the place of the state carriages of former Peace Congresses. The project was forwarded almost a month ago through the proper channels for approval.

The officials even went so far as to select a table on which the treaty should be signed, a splendid example of buhl marquetry from the historic furnishings of the château, and to build barriers in the great Place d'Armes in front of the château behind which the general public would be permitted to witness the arrival of the delegates. They also tried out the great fountains in the park at Versailles, which will be played in connection with the ceremony.

Unexpected delay arose and the project for the ceremony disappeared from sight. It has now been resurrected for possible use about the end of the month.

The actual signing, as originally announced, will be staged in the historic Hall of Mirrors. The delegates, who will arrive by automobile after traversing the Bois de Boulogne and the historic park of St. Cloud, where the favorite residence of Napoleon once stood, will enter Versailles by the Avenue de Paris, a boulevard almost 100 yards wide leading directly to the main entrance of the château. Beyond the enclosure reserved for the general public, they will pass between tribunes erected for the members of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies. They will descend from the carriages at the doorway of the château through which the Paris mob on the momentous day of the French revolution broke into the château, massacred the Swiss guards and compelled King Louis and Queen Marie Antoinette to return to Paris.

To reach the Hall of Mirrors the delegates will traverse the state apartments, once occupied by the monarch and his queen. A space at either end of the Hall of Mirrors will be railed off. At one end will be the privileged spectators, while at the other will be the correspondents representing the newspapers of the world.

The German delegation will approach the château from the other side. Its members will go by a different route to the Hall of Mirrors and will pass the guard of honor drawn up in the Court of Marble of the château to render military honors to the arriving delegates, and will see the battle flags representing the armies of the old and new worlds.

Probably only the French flag will float from the château at the opening of the ceremony, but when the pen of President Wilson, as the first delegate, is placed to the document, the standards of the twenty-three nations associated in the war will be broken out upon the château in a gay display of triumphal bunting.

It is expected that the ceremony will be timed to begin about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. There will be speeches by Premier Clemenceau, as chairman of the conference, and by the head of the German delegation.

The actual work of appending the signatures of the representatives of all the belligerent nations will occupy well over an hour, but it is expected that at least two hours of daylight will remain of the long summer evening during which the fountains distributed over many acres of the château park will play for the admiration of the delegates and spectators.

The plenipotentiaries after the ceremony will leave the château by a portal opening on the terrace, from which many of the fountains are visible. The German delegates, no longer regarded as enemies, will walk with the other plenipotentiaries.

BERLIN REFUSES TO BE SATISFIED

New Terms Would Place Germany Under Supervision, Says Suedekum.

BELIEVES CABINET SECURE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 11.—The news circulated here that Germany will be admitted to the League of Nations about October if the Versailles treaty is signed and certain other conditions are complied with, has not created any enthusiasm. Indeed, the pessimism seems to be deepening day by day.

The most important Socialist leaders have gone to Weimar to attend the annual Socialist Congress and there may be trouble for the Government there, mainly because of its indulgence toward the men and methods of the old régime. The situation is not as serious, however, as the Independents would like, though they prophesy that the congress will disavow Chancellor Scheidemann.

The Chancellor, who left for Weimar last night, will doubtless make a clear and detailed statement to the Congress on just how far Germany can meet the Entente and what sort of a peace she must refuse. THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent believes that he has gained some of its point from a conversation with Dr. Suedekum, the Prussian Minister of Finance, who has remained in Berlin.

"Admitting us to the League of Nations after the signing of the Peace Treaty," he said, "would not be thoroughly in accordance with Count Brockdorff-Rantzau's counter propositions. It would make Germany's position even worse than if she were excluded from the League, because it would merely mean placing us under the constant and immediate supervision of the victors and forge our chains of slavery only harder."

"Then you believe that the present Government cannot sign the treaty?" was asked.

"Neither the present Government or any other German Government can sign the Versailles treaty." Dr. Suedekum said, "if the reply to our counterproposals is anything like the Entente papers indicate."

"Will the present Government retire if it finds it impossible to sign the treaty and make room for a Haase Cabinet?" was the next question.

"The present Government," he answered, "will remain as long as duty to the country demands it, whether the treaty be accepted or rejected, but there is little chance of the Independents assuming the Government. They do not want to do so. They have not the men, and they are afraid to face the people's wrath should they sign the people's death sentence.

"A Haase Government would not live much longer than Levine's in Munich, but it is idle to talk of the possibility of such a Cabinet taking over the Government, because the leaders of that element have no such intention. Their only aim is to create difficulties for us. Let the Entente ask Haase and he will refuse point blank, knowing well the intellectual and numerical limits of his supporters, who make a big noise and nothing more."

"Still the Government saw fit to concentrate large masses of troops in and around Berlin to preserve order in case of rejection," was suggested.

"I am not informed," Mr. Suedekum said, "just why these troops were gathered. Haase himself protests against the military concentrations, saying that his party does not dream of any violent demonstrations a la Spartacus. Perhaps that is so, seeing that there are troops ready to suppress any riots. Perhaps Haase honestly means what he says, but how can he vouch for his undisciplined adherents? We must and shall keep order if the treaty is rejected until

LEAGUE UPHOLDERS CONFER

DENY AIM TO FILIBUSTER

Will Take the Ground That the Supply Bills Should Have First Attention.

TEST ON CLOSURE SOUGHT

Republicans Hope That Vote Will Show One-third Against League.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Administration leaders of the Senate decided, at a conference at the Capitol today, to insist upon the fullest possible consideration and debate of the Knox resolution, which declares in effect that the treaty of peace with the covenant of the League of Nations included is unacceptable to the Senate.

The conference was wholly informal and no vote was taken, but the virtual effect of the decisions reached will be a debate against the Knox resolution which may continue until after the treaty is signed by Germany. The resolution is regarded by Democratic leaders who participated in the conference as so menacing to President Wilson's peace program as to justify the use of any legitimate method to defeat its purposes.

Senator Hitchcock, leader of the Administration forces, and other Senators who participated in the conference denied that any formal decision had been reached to filibuster. He said that he would state in the Senate, probably on Tuesday, that no filibuster was intended by the Democrats, but he added that the Knox resolution would be subjected to much debate.

McCumber to Open Fight on Move.

The purpose of the conference, Senator Hitchcock explained, was merely to map out the line of action to be followed in resisting the Knox resolution and to ascertain what Senators on the Democratic side would make speeches. He also said that Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, would make the opening speech against the resolution.

Besides Senator Hitchcock, those present were Senators Williams of Mississippi, Smith of Arizona, Walsh of Montana, Pittman of Nevada, Chamberlain of Oregon, King of Utah, Thomas of Colorado, and Simmons of North Carolina.

The decision was developed to have the discussion of the Knox resolution make it clear to the country that the adoption of the resolution would involve the sidetracking and possibly the ultimate defeat of the League of Nations. It is expected that these speeches will develop a fire back home against Senators who might be inclined on the Republican side to support the Knox resolution. Throughout the debate the idea will be driven home by Administration leaders that a vote for the Knox resolution would be a vote against the League.

How long the debate against the resolution will continue was a matter of difference of opinion among Senators who attended the conference. Some of those present insisted that there should be an out-and-out filibuster so as to postpone the vote until after Germany has actually signed the peace treaty.

Claims Eight Republican Votes.

"We feel that a measure of so revolutionary a character should be subjected to the most thorough discussion," said Senator Hitchcock, "and there will be the most thorough discussion, but no filibustering. I have no doubt that a good many speeches will be made on the Republican side, because I understand there are some differences as to amendments to the measure. I do not expect a vote before the end of next week.

"The impression seems to have gotten out that we are afraid to permit the Knox resolution to come to a vote. Nothing could be further from the truth. We have the votes to beat the resolution. I don't believe it will get forty votes

"We are absolutely certain of the position of every Democratic Senator, and we know that of those present, all but one will vote against the resolution. At the same time we are almost sure to get from eight to ten Republican votes."

Opposition leaders disputed Senator Hitchcock's estimate of the situation. If the Democrats insisted on filibustering, they said, they would try to force a record vote by invoking the closure rule. Although they have no expectation of mustering the votes necessary to shut off debate, they could make the roll call stand out as a clear test of the Senate's position on the separation of the treaty, they said.

Some Democratic Senators are fearful of the effect of any kind of a vote, on the theory that if one-third of the members of the Senate supported the Knox resolution it might be regarded as the equivalent to saying to the Peace Conference that the Senate would reject the treaty if the League covenant is included in the text.

No word came today from Paris to cudgel the Republicans of the Senate into submission, and Senator Hitchcock said he did not expect one. It would not be necessary, he added.

"This is not the President's fight," said Senator Hitchcock. "This is a fight in the Senate to see whether we are going to advertise to the world that the United States Government is divided against itself."

Some excitement was created about the Capitol when it became known that Senator Hitchcock was to confer with David Hunter Miller, who has been in Paris attached to the American Peace Commission. It was even said that Mr. Miller had been hastily dispatched from Paris to this country to give private advice to Senator Hitchcock and other Democrats.

At the State Department it was said that Mr. Miller, a New York lawyer, was an expert on international law, who had aided with others in framing portions of the League of Nations' covenant, and who had given some advice on sections of the Peace Treaty. It was stated that no special significance should be attached to the conference, other than that Mr. Miller would be able to supply Senator Hitchcock with a "good general view" of the procedure in Paris. Mr. Miller talked with Acting Secretary of State Polk in the forenoon.

Claims were made both by Republican and Democratic Senators that the vote upon the Knox resolution would make inroads upon the party ranks on each side of the Senate Chamber. While some Democrats claimed eight Republican votes against the resolution, the most optimistic Republicans counted on the same number of Democratic votes. It is considered hardly probable, however, that either side will be able to draw so many votes from the opposing forces.

The Democrats say that besides Senator McCumber of North Dakota, Senators Colt of Rhode Island, Capper of Kansas, Norris of Nebraska, and McNary of Oregon, Republicans, will vote with them. There is some fear, too, on the Republican side, that these Senators will not line up with the party on the resolution.

Democrats also say they believe that Senators Kellogg of Minnesota, Jones of Washington, and possibly Kenyon of Iowa, Republicans, will vote with them, but these three are regarded as "doubtful," especially Senator Kenyon.

Senators Gore of Oklahoma, and Reed of Missouri, are expected to vote with the Republicans. Senators Chamberlain of Oregon, and Overman of North Carolina, are two more Democrats who, the Republicans insist, will be against Senator Knox's resolution.

Other Democratic Senators claimed by the most extreme partisans of the resolution, are Myers of Montana, and Underwood of Alabama. Many Republicans, however, place these men in the "doubtful" class, and Democrats scoff at the idea that the Senators named will vote to separate the League covenant from the Treaty.

Democrats declared that the Republicans were afraid to allow the Knox resolution to come to a vote, even though the Republicans asserted that they wished a ballot. The Republicans emphatically denied this, and countercharged the Democrats with fearing a vote.

Republicans again said that if no other way was open they would present a "round robin," which would be sent to Paris as an indication of where the Republicans stood. This, they declared, would serve as a "warning" of the opposition that existed in the Senate to the League of Nations.

The Democratic fight will be conducted on the principle that the supply bills must be passed before July 1, the end of the fiscal year, if the army, navy, and other establishments are to receive the necessary money to carry on their work. This argument, if successful, would mean that these bills would have right of way over everything else.

Senators Knox and Hitchcock, the generals of the respective camps, both appeared confident today of ultimate victory.

LAMONT REFUSES COMMENT.

Will Make No Statement on Treaty "Leak" Except to the Senate.

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 12.—Thomas W. Lamont said today, that out of courtesy to the Senate, any statement from him concerning the circumstances in which the copy of the treaty was given Elihu Root would be made directly to the Senate Committee. He declined to comment on the matter.

Only moderate interest is shown in American circles in Paris over the leak investigation. The opinion is strong that Mr. Root should have had a copy of the treaty because he had made many valuable suggestions regarding the provisions of the League covenant, some of which were adopted.

PEACE LEAGUE FIGHTS THE KNOX RESOLUTION

National and State officers of the League to Enforce Peace, representing fifteen States, attended a meeting held here yesterday at the National Arts Club to formulate plans for changes in the league's campaign to meet the situation created by the Knox resolution in the United States Senate. Speakers declared that the present attempt to separate the League of Nations covenant from the peace treaty would first of all give aid and comfort to Germany. It was decided to direct a national campaign against the resolution through the branches of the league in forty-eight States under this slogan:

"Don't let Germany win the war through the United States Senate."

One of the most vigorous speeches was made by Oscar S. Straus, formerly Ambassador to Turkey, who had just returned from Paris, where he spent nearly four months as Chairman of the league's delegation to the Peace Conference.

"The Knox resolution," said Mr. Straus, "is the most powerful incentive to Germany to postpone the translation of the victory we have won in the war into a victory of permanent peace. Those who support it are giving to the Germans the encouragement of which the war has deprived them."

In reporting his experiences in Paris Mr. Straus said that one of the first tasks he and his colleagues in the League to Enforce Peace Committee had to perform was to remove the idea generally prevalent in Paris last February that the United States was not behind the President. Mr. Straus said he pointed out to the foreign representatives that ex-President Taft and many other prominent Republicans sided with the President in his effort to get a League of Nations.

"This covenant," he said, "does not satisfy France or Great Britain completely, but if our own statesmen could have gone through the peace negotiations they would appreciate that it is a remarkably perfect document. If they want to view it from a purely sectional or narrow point of view it is possible to find many objections. I look with pain and horror upon the attitude of those Senators who today are opposing the reconstruction of the world. There can be no League of Nations unless the United States takes part in it.

"The Knox resolution plays into the hands of Germany. By withdrawing our consent we hold up the treaty. If we consent we hold up the treaty. If we do not sign the treaty the result probably will be that our associates, the Allies, will have peace with Germany and we shall still be at war with her. If this happens what chance shall we have of making an advantageous peace? What can we do then to bring Germany to terms? I know there is bitterness. I know there is an unwillingness to let the President get credit for carrying through this treaty, but, my God! no man is worthy of being a member of the Senate if he lets his personal jealousies and enmities stand in the way of ratification."

Among those present from New York City were Mr. Straus; Herbert Parsons, Republican National Committeeman; ex-Attorney General George W. Wickersham; William Church Osborn, ex-Chairman of the Democratic State Committee; ex-State Senator John G. Saxe; Professor John Bates Clark and Professor Talcott Williams of Columbia; Hamilton Holt, Herbert S. Houston; Judge William H. Wadhams, William G. Saunders, William H. Short, and Alton B. Parker.

ACERBITY MARKED THE PEACE DELAYS

Ten Days of Strain Preceded the Framing of the Reply to Germany.

BRITISH FOR CONCESSIONS

In General They Were Those Vainly Proposed by Wilson in Earlier Discussions.

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 11.—The story of how the Council of Four—the President of the United States and the Premiers of France, Great Britain, and Italy—reached the compromise agreement with respect to the proposed modifications of the German treaty has not been told, but enough is known to show that the past ten days have been full of doubt and uncertainty that threatened a crisis in the effort to bring about world peace.

The communication to be addressed to the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles by Clemenceau as President of the Allied Peace Conference, will be the outcome of many days of deliberation, punctuated by some acerbity and frequent recurrence of alternate feelings of anger and despair over the inability of the great statesmen of Europe to harmonize the differences developed at the very end of months of consultation, when all the problems seemed to have been solved.

The most important concessions which the Germans wanted, and which the British delegation also, in response to a widespread public opinion in the United Kingdom, believed should be made in part at least, were:

First, that the amount of reparation should be fixed in the treaty instead of left open until the Reparations Commission reported in May, 1921;

Second, that the Allied Reparations Commission's powers should be modified so as not to give it authority over German financial and taxing legislation;

Third, that the fifteen-year period for the stay of the Allied Army of Occupation in Germany should be reduced;

Fourth, that Upper Silesia should remain German;

Fifth, that Germany be admitted immediately into the League of Nations.

The British representatives did not ask for modifications as great as those practically demanded by Germany. Their proposals, in general, were in accord with the suggestions urged unsuccessfully by President Wilson while the treaty was being framed.

With respect to the authority of the Reparations Commissions, which the Germans construed as giving it complete control over their financial legislation—(a construction easily placed on the article)—the plenipotentiaries will be informed in answer to their memorandum that it was never intended that the commission should exercise any authority that would permit it to interfere with German domestic legislation. It will be pointed out that the Allies consent to listen to German representatives on the amount of reparations due the Allies, and the ability of Germany to pay that amount. In this connection, an assurance will be given that the Allied Reparations Commission will be willing to confer with a German Commission.

In addition, the allied powers indicate that if the German representations as to reparation payments are made without delay the Allied Reparations Commission will fix the amount of reparation within three or four months instead of taking advantage of the period of nearly two years permitted by the treaty. These mollifying statements to the German plenipotentiaries will in no way affect the provision in the treaty by which Germany pledges herself to pay the amount of damages fixed by the Reparations Commission.

As for Germany's objections to having an allied army on her soil for fifteen years, the allied powers will indicate that they do not contemplate keeping a large force of troops there at an enormous expense to Germany. They intend, it is made known, that the force shall be reduced, when the treaty is in effect, to a few thousand more than 100,000 men, for whose upkeep a comparatively moderate amount will be assessed against Germany annually. The suggestion conveyed is that the Army of Occupation may not, and probably will not, be retained on German territory for the full period of fifteen years, which the treaty provides.

Encouragement in this connection is offered to Germany in reference to her appeal to be admitted into the League of Nations. No promise to admit her within any definite period is given, but in assuring the enemy plenipotentiaries that their Government will be elected to membership in the League when it is shown that it is entited ito association with the nations of the world, a hint is conveyed that the allied Army of Occupation will be withdrawn with Germany's admission. It cannot be said that the communication to the German plenipotentiaries makes any promise along this line, but it is argued unofficially that it would be inconsistent to regard Germany as a conquered enemy after her entrance into the world organization to preserve peace.

With reference to Upper Silesia, a definite promise is held out that the people of that area will have an opportunity to vote as to whether they shall remain under German control or accept the political domination of the new Polish State. Should the plebiscite determine on annexation to Poland, Germany will be permitted to buy a supply of coal from the Silesian field commensurate with her industrial needs.

ered, and these would have had to be corrected before the document was signed. This was particularly the case because the text of the treaty is in both French and English, both versions being specified as "authentic" or binding.

The treaty may make some slight changes regarding the disposition of some of the contested districts on the Belgo-German frontier.

The financial clauses will be amended to give the Reparation Commission discretion to authorize Germany to raise working capital to restart her industries and enable her to pay her reparations. The original text established an absolute first charge upon German assets and revenues to meet reparation payments, which condition the Reparation Commission could not waive, even in instances where a waiver was advisable from the Entente point of view.

A new text is required to cover the changes in the Polish frontier and the plebiscite in Silesia. The intimation was made today for the first time that a revised draft on the Danish frontiers was expected, indicating that the conference leaders had decided to take into consideration the objections of both Germany and Denmark to a plebiscite in the southernmost section of Schleswig. Denmark has declined to receive this section, because it was predominantly German.

British Reparation Suggestions.

The British have made an eleventh-hour attempt to reopen the question of reparations. They have submitted proposals introducing into the functions of the Permanent Reparations Commission the principle of control of raw materials, &c., furnished Germany, enabling the commission to control Germany's economic development during the period it operates.

The British effort has not met with a sympathetic reception by the Reparations Commission, to which it was referred. It seems improbable that the proposals will be accepted.

The question of large amounts of British and French goods finding their way into Germany from the occupied regions has been raised in the Supreme Economic Council of the Peace Conference. The proposal has been made that some form of control be instituted to prevent one nation trading without the knowledge or consent of the others.

EBERT PARTY ASSAILS "UNHEARD-OF PEACE"

WEIMAR, June 12, (Associated Press.)—Resolutions expressing indignation at the "peace of violence," which was declared to make Germany's future "impossible," were adopted by the Majority Socialist Party at its convention here today.

The resolutions assert that the peace terms are not in conformity with President Wilson's fourteen points or built upon the basis set forth by the International Socialist Conferences at Berne and Amsterdam.

International Socialists are called upon by the party to protest against what is characterized as "the most unheard-of peace of modern history." It is demanded that the German Republic be admitted immediately to the League of Nations as a member with full rights.

Of its home Government the party demands that it make a relentless investigation of all who were responsible for the outbreak and conduct of the war.

BERLIN, June 12, (Associated Press.)—The position of the German Cabinet has been materially strengthened as a result of the speeches of Gustav Noske and Philipp Scheidemann at the Weimar convention of the Majority Socialist Party, according to the view of the non-Socialist press and opinion in various political circles in Berlin.

The proceedings of the convention thus far appear to have demonstrated that the opposition to the members of the Cabinet in their own party has been overcome, the lineup of the Majority Socialists seeming to reveal an unbroken front.

ZURICH, June 13.—Speaking at the Majority Socialist convention at Weimar, Philipp Scheidemann attacked the partisans of the "new revolution," whose object was to substitute Soviets for the present Government. He declared he would never make a compromise on a question like this, as it was a question of principle where all compromise was impossible.

Herr Scheidemann remarked that, while the political situation might be clearly defined, the economic situation of the country was very obscure.

FIX HUNGARIAN FRONTIERS.

Big Five Approve Those Suggested to the Southeast and Northwest.

PARIS, June 13.—The Council of Five has approved the propositions submitted by the Council of Foreign Ministers for fixing the Hungarian frontiers bordering on Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

DUTCH WON'T JOIN BLOCKADE.

Government, the Fifth to Take Such a Decision, Notifies the Conference.

PARIS, June 13, (Associated Press.) Holland has notified the Peace Conference that the Dutch Government will not participate in a blockade against Germany in the event of the refusal of Germany to sign the peace treaty.

ORLANDO GOES TO ITALY.

For Conferences with Political and Military Leaders—Diaz with Him.

PARIS, June 13.—Premier Orlando of Italy started for Rome last night, intending to confer with the Parliamentary leaders in secret relative to the work of the Peace Conference, and to settle certain urgent questions, notably those concerning military precautions contemplated on the Carinthian frontier. General Diaz, Commander in Chief of the Italian armies, accompanied Premier Orlando and will be in personal control on the frontier.

WILL HEAR TURKISH ENVOYS.

Council of Ten Will Receive Their Statement Tuesday.

PARIS, June 13, (Associated Press.)—The Council of Ten on Tuesday morning next will receive the Turkish delegation now at Vaucresson, a suburb of Paris, in the cloak room of the Quai d'Orsay and hear their statement concerning Turkey.

The drfating of the peace terms for Turkey will be postponed until after the delegation is heard.

TURKS ARE STILL IGNORED.

Peace Conference Has Had No Communication with Their Mission.

PARIS, June 13, (Associated Press.)—There has been no communication as yet between officials of the Peace Conference and the Turkish delegation which is at Vaucresson under French supervision. The restrictions thrown about the Turks are the same as those in force in the case of the Germans and Austrians.

The Turks, it is understood, stand firmly for the retention of the seat of the Ottoman Government in Constantinople. They are divided about equally as to whether France or Great Britain should have the mandate for Turkey. There has been no mention of the United States in this connection, it is understood.

WALSH AND DUNNE INSISTENT.

Ask Our Delegates What They Have Done to Get a Hearing for Ireland.

PARIS, June 13.—Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City and ex-Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois, representing the Irish societies in America, have written to the American Peace Delegation asking to be informed what action has been taken on their request for a conference to consider the question of Ireland.

The letter quotes the resolution passed by the United States Senate requesting the American Peace Commission to secure a hearing before the Peace Conference for Edward De Valera and his associates.

MUTINY STORY STIRS FRENCH DEPUTIES

CHAMBER EXPELS OFFICER

Young and Wounded, He Denounces Socialist Member Who Demands Recall of Troops.

PARIS, June 13, (Associated Press.)—A lively scene took place in the Chamber of Deputies today when debate on Russian affairs and the alleged mutiny of seamen of the French Black Sea fleet was resumed.

Marcel Cachin, a Socialist Deputy, declared that the French troops on the Dniester River should be recalled immediately, as they had neither the moral nor the physical strength to undertake an offensive against the Bolsheviki. The Deputy had begun to read a letter received from an officer in the Bessarabian Army, when a young officer, wearing the military medal and the war cross and his head bandaged as a result of wounds, stood up in the public gallery and shouted:

"You are an agitator. You are a band of agitators who send men to courts-martial."

An account of the mutiny on the French Black Sea Fleet at Odessa in April was told in the Chamber last night by Deputy Emile Goude, a Socialist.

"The signal to clear for action was given on the morning of April 19," the Deputy said. "The men gathered in crowds on the deck and refused to disperse when ordered. Then from the battleship France arose the strains of the international revolutionary hymn. The men gathered in groups on the ship and the Captain then intervened and tried to discuss the matter with the sailors, who appointed delegates to explain why the Internationale had been sung. One of the delegates said: "'The war we are being forced to make against the Russians is unconstitutional. The Minister has not the right to use us for a war parliament has not voted.'

"The Captain informed the Admiral in command, who was on board the battleship Jean Bart, of the situation. The men listened to the attempts of the Admiral to parley. They were respectful in their attitude, but refused to obey his orders and insisted they should be returned to France. The Internationale again was sung in the evening. Sailors on other ships took up the singing.

"The Red flag was run on on Easter morning beside the tricolor, which had been hoisted with customary honors. The work on the ships was carried out regularly and the officers had full liberty. There was one unfortunate incident for which the sailors were not responsible. When the men were going ashore on April 20 a young Ensign, fresh from the Naval Academy, seeing the sailors and French soldiers fraternizing with Russian men and women ordered a machine gun fired. A naval Lieutenant rushed up, placed himself in front of the men, and stopped the firing. However, some were killed and wounded.

"The movement continued without violence, insolence, disorder, or sabotage. The tricolor never was lowered. It was a true revolutionary movement in the highest and purest sense of the word. The sailors, sons of the great French revolution, remembered there are legal measures beyond which French soldiers and marines cannot be employed.

"After four days of negotiations the Admiral granted the demands of the delegates that the ships should return to France, and that no punishment should be exacted from the men after their return."

Deputy Goude asked M. Leygues, Minister of Marine, if he intended to respect the pledged word of the Admiral, but the Minister did not answer. The Deputy continued:

"The sailors will not abandon their delegates. Attempts are being made to make the delegates appear as leaders of the trouble. Four hundred sailors met at Toulon recently and told Admiral Lacaze that their comrades must not be touched or they would strike."

The account of the mutiny of the seamen on the French Black Sea Fleet, given by M. Goude in the French Chamber, rationally explains for the first time the extraordinary event which took place at Odessa on April 8, the day the city was evacuated by the Allies and by all the population who could get away.

Correspondents have described how the merchant vessels lying in the harbor were filled with refugees, and, while the army of the Allies was departing westward, the Bolsheviki, in full view of the French, British, Italian, and Greek warships could be seen man-hunting in the streets and forcing their way into buildings.

So far only one explanation has been given of the peaceful evacuation. This was by M. Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, who told the Chamber on April 10, that the Allies had found it impossible to feed the civilian population of 800,000.

The French Gen. d'Anselme was in command of the allied forces at Odessa, which consisted of four French regiments, three Greek regiments, and a Rumanian contingent. On March 20 he had issued a proclamation to the inhabitants of the city stating that he would in no circumstances evacuate it. On March 27, Gen. Franchet d'Esperey arrived, and, it is said that he reported to Paris his full approval of the defensive measures taken by Gen. d'Anselme and that there was no need to withdraw from the city as "strong naval forces are available to support him [d'Anselme] if required."

FIUME THANKS LODGE.

Paris Agent Says Jugoslav Petitions to Conference Are Spurious.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Charges that the Jugoslavs were presenting misleading petitions in an effort to force Fiume under Jugoslav rule were made in a cablegram received today by Senator Lodge, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. Andrea Cssoinack, representing Fiume in Paris, made the charge, and at the same time thanked Senator Lodge for presenting in the Senate recently a long message from him, declaring that the city desired to be placed under Italian control. The cablegram follows:

Paris, June 12.

Please accept in name of National Council and town of Fiume grateful thanks brought up matter of Fiume in Senate, thus making it known to all America, in whom Fiume has greatest faith, and is sure it will not allow that in its name injustice should be done. For your information: Jugoslavs, to mislead opinion of Peace Conference, have sent in petition signed by many persons not residing in Fiume, stating that they want Fiume to be under Jugoslavia. Whole petition valueless, because only citizens of Fiume are entitled to express wish on subject, and no people only temporarily residing there or outsiders. Would be the same if, say, 700,000 Italians in New York, without citizenship rights, were to speak in name of city. Please make this known to press. Thanking for your trouble.

ANDREA CSSOINACK,
Plenipotentiary for Fiume to Peace Conference.

ASKS MONROE DOCTRINE BE DEFINED IN LEAGUE

Honduranian Delegation Also Demands Kaiser Be Tried by His Own Countrymen.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Demand that the Monroe Doctrine be defined in the covenant of the League of Nations, since no nation of the world has ever expressly accepted the Doctrine, and that the former German Emperor be tried by his own countrymen is made in a memorandum submitted to the Peace Conference by General Policarpo Bonilla, head of the Honduranian delegation to the Paris conference.

"The Monroe Doctrine," the memorandum says, "directly affects the Latin-American republics. It has never been embodied in any international document nor has it been expressly accepted by any of the nations of the old or new world. It has furthermore been variously defined and applied by Presidents and other statesmen of the United States, and for these reasons it is indispensable that in the peace treaty about to be signed it shall be exactly defined so that it shall be written into international law."

The memorandum quotes from President Wilson's Mobile address and his address to the visiting Mexican editors and adds:

"In view of these facts the United States delegates should be ready to accept and make their own the addition which we propose to the American amendment, incorporating the Monroe Doctrine in the text of the covenant of the League of Nations. If this is done it will not be an obstacle to the union of the Latin-American countries to form a confederacy and thus realize the dream of Bolivar. Whenever the covenant is signed by Honduras it will contain the express reservation embodied in the Honduras constitution, permitting Honduras to join with one or any other republics to form the Republic of Central America."

Regarding the trial of the Kaiser the memorandum says: "The Honduranian delegation considers the trial of the Kaiser not according to legal principles, there being no international law or precedent for such a trial. The executive of any country is not responsible to any one except his own people. The only proper course would be to embody in the treaty an article to compel the German Government to try all German subjects guilty of acts punishable by law, demanding at the same time certain guarantees as to the justice of the sentence."

WANTS SPECIAL TRAIN WHEN TREATY IS READY

Brockdorff-Rantzau Wishes to Hasten with Terms for Consultation at Cologne.

PARIS, June 13.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, Chairman of the German peace delegation, has asked that a special train be placed at his disposal as soon as the reply of the Allied and Associated Powers to the German counterproposals is handed to him. The Count, it is said, intends to go to Cologne as soon as he receives the reply. He may continue his journey to Weimar, the seat of the German National Assembly.

VERSAILLES, June 13.—Herr von Winterstein, President of the Palatinate, arrived in Versailles today, accompanied by two of his fellow-officials. He conferred with French officers, and arrangements were made for trains so that Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, who is in Cologne, might return here in time to receive the allied reply to the German counterproposals.

SAYS BOURGEOIS PLAN A STRIKE IN BERLIN

BERLIN, June 12.—A secret session of the Citizens' Council of Greater Berlin, held on Wednesday, declared in favor of a citizens' strike, according to the Independent Socialist newspaper Die Freiheit. The attendance included leading manufacturers, merchants, and professional men, and Colonel Reinhardt, the Prussian Minister of War.

The chairman of the meeting is quoted as having declared that a strike was necessary because the present Government was incapable of redeeming Germany from chaos.

It was planned, according to the newspaper, to have airplanes distribute leaflets announcing when the strike would begin. All the food industries, including the bakeries, would cease work, according to the plan, this leading to civil war, which, it was held, would help the bourgeoisie to attain political power.

Some of the manufacturers and commercial interests, Die Freiheit declares, advocated the utmost severity "as the only means of overcoming the laboring classes." The citizens would be armed, and Colonel Reinhardt is reported to have said the troops would be entirely on their side.

SHOWS KAISER PROPAGANDA

Letter Discloses Sending Money to Influence Dutch Opinion.

BERLIN, June 12, (Associated Press.)—Letters exchanged between officials of the League for the Protection of William II., one of which refers to a remittance of 20,000 marks to Holland for the purpose of "cultivating" the Dutch press, are printed by the Socialist Vorwärts.

This sum, the newspaper remarks, is not a considerable one in view of the present state of valuations, but it fears that the league must spend considerably more than this on its propaganda "in view of the determination of the Entente to have the former Emperor surrendered."

Brazilian Press Assails France.

RIO JANEIRO, June 12.—All newspapers here made editorial attacks today upon France because of the receipt of reports indicating that France is opposing the keeping of former German steamers by Brazil. Newspapers which seldom comment editorially have long bitter articles on the subject. The gist of the comment is that France is being disclosed as a false friend, if reports are true.

France Decorates Moorish Chieftain.

CASABLANCA, Morocco, June 13, (French Wireless Service.)—General Lyautey, the French Governor General, went to the city of Morocco Thursday and conferred the decoration of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor on Hauden Thene Clauci Pasha in acknowledgment of the part he took in the military operations against the rebel tribes. Joseph E. Willard, the American Ambassador to Spain, was present at the ceremony.

500 WERE DROWNED BY THE BOLSHEVIKI

Their Rule Was Veritable Reign of Terror in Odessa, Says Returned American.

BOATLOADS OF VICTIMS

Doomed Men and Women, Weighted Down with Stones, Were Thrown Overboard from Harbor Ship.

Conditions in Russia are impossible to describe, according to August Danner, for thirty years representative in Russia of the International Harvester Co., who on his return to this country yesterday told how 500 men and women who either could not or would not pay tribute to the Bolsheviki were drowned with stones about their necks. Mr. Danner, who was accompanied by his wife, was a passenger on the army transport Englewood which docked in Brooklyn. He said that the only things he and Mrs. Danner brought away from Russia were the clothes they wore, everything else having been confiscated by agents of Lenin and Trotzky.

"When Odessa, where I was making my headquarters, fell into the hands of the Bolsheviki in March of last year, a blue list of prosperous citizens was prepared," said Mr. Danner. "I am informed the Bolsheviki then levied on them and obtained $11,000,000.

"Those who either would not or could not pay the tribute were taken aboard a yacht which once belonged to Czar Nicholas. A heavy stone was hung around the neck of each man or woman. When a boatload was obtained the yacht steamed out into the harbor and the victims were thrown overboard to drown. This procedure was kept up until 500 men and women had been drowned.

"This was not all of the program of Bolshevist outrages. Men, women and children were trampled in the streets of Odessa, stores and homes were raided, residents of the city were compelled to flee from their homes and live wherever they could find a hiding place. Foreigners as well as natives were subjected to indignities."

Mr. Danner said that for many months he was practically the only foreigner in Odessa, and that his home and office were frequently riddled with bullets by agents of the Government.

"Conditions," he said, "were horrible beyond description. There was not an hour when one was safe. I cannot tell you of the crimes they committed. It would be impossible to give an estimate of the number of men, women and children who were victims of these murderers. I personally saw the yacht loads of men and women being taken down the harbor and thrown overboard.

"Finally," said Mr. Danner, "the Germans came and drove the Bolsheviki out, but even under German rule conditions were not so bad as when the Lenin forces held the city. The Germans," he added, "did not loot or kill. Later, 50,000 French troops came into Odessa and drove out the Germans. Mr. Danner said, "In April the British took the city, and the inhabitants breathed sighs of relief.

"It was then that my wife and myself, without any possessions except the clothes on our backs, were able to leave Odessa and start for the United States. We made our way to Constantinople, and from there went to Gibraltar, where we obtained passage for home."

SAY PETLURA HAS RESIGNED.

One Report Has Ukrainian Commander Enlisting as a Private.

WARSAW, June 7, (Associated Press.)—General Simon Petlura, leader of the Ukrainian peasant army, has resigned his command owing to events on the Polish and Bolshevist fronts, according to a dispatch from Lemberg.

One report says that he has enlisted as a private soldier, while another asserts that he has gone to Switzerland.

SNOW BLOCKS ANDES TRAINS

Service Between Argentina and Chile by Mules Is Planned.

BUENOS AIRES, June 13.—Train communication between the east and west coast of South America, which has been interrupted for some time by heavy snowstorms in the Andes, has not yet been resumed, but the officials of the Trans-Andine Railway said today that they hoped to inaugurate in the near future a service by mule trains between Puente del Inca, Argentina, and a point in Chile where rail service is possible.

The railway management says that until warm weather it will be impossible to renew the train service, and it is unable to guarantee the success of the attempted mule service. The weather, the officials point out, may moderate in a month, or not until September.

A large party of North American business men who were held up by the snow storms in their effort to cross the Andes on the Trans-Andine Line, and who were forced to return to Buenos Aires last week, left on Tuesday for Bolivia. They intend to try to reach the west coast by this detour and catch homebound steamer there.

further developments relieve us of this responsibility."

Dr. Suedekum was asked what these developments would be.

"Who on earth can say?" he answered. "At any rate, they can not be worse than the consequences of signing the Versailles treaty."

"How do the troops regard the prospect of a change of Government?"

"I can only say that the volunteer army has pledged allegiance to the present Government and will certainly refuse obedience to any cabinet composed of Independents."

Dr. Suedekum would not discuss the subject further.

While the present Government may be unanimous regarding the question of signing the treaty or not signing it, some organs of the regular Socialists, such as the Hamburg Echo, have lately changed their view because they discovered that the reactionaries favor rejection. The Echo yesterday said editorially:

"Some reactionary obscurantists believe that the Government will please the war profiteers by refusing its signature. That would certainly end the armistice and the Entente troops would resume the invasion of Germany.

"This invasion is what the reactionaries secretly hope for, because against the capitalists and the Entente troops the German people would be defenseless, while resistance against our own reactionaries would always be powerful enough. Our reactionaries expect that foreign invasion will play the same part that the German Army played for the French bourgeoisie in 1871, and hope to kill the German revolution with the aid of Entente bayonets."

SERVED GERMAN ARMY WHILE U. S. CITIZEN

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COBLENZ, June 12.—The American military authorities here have asked Washington to cancel the citizenship papers of Karl Baer, a resident of Coblenz, who has just completed a sentence of thirty days in the army jail here.

Baer's record shows that he was born in Coblenz, he did military duty in the German Army in 1901 and 1902, and then went to America, where he settled in Jersey City and opened a photographer's shop. He remained there from 1903 until 1911, during which time he became naturalized.

It has been proved that every two years, while he was in America, he came to Germany and reported to his Corps Commander. He was all that time in the German Army, and every indication is that he was working for the Imperial German military machine. In 1911 he went to Argentina, where he opened a picture shop. From South America he reported twice to the German Army, drawing mileage pay for his trips.

When the war started, in 1914, he started from South America for Germany. He was taken from the ship by the British, but released on the strength of his American citizenship papers. He reached Holland, and from there went to Coblenz, where he rejoined his corps and went to serve on the Russian front. His papers show that in September, 1917, he joined the hospital service of the German Army, leaving his former command. There is every reason to believe that between April and September he was an active combatant.

After demobilization last Spring, he came to Coblenz. It was while posing as a member of the American Military Secret Service that he was arrested. On the ground that he had served in the German Army while Germany was at war with America, an effort was made to try him for treason, but it failed. He was, however, convicted for impersonating an army official, and received a thirty days' sentence. He has served this and is now in Coblenz running his store.

COMPLAINS ABOUT POLES.

Erzberger Talks of Stopping Transportation of Haller's Troops.

BERLIN, June 13, (Associated Press.)—Mathias Erzberger, head of the German Armistice Commission, has written General du Pont, chief of the French mission in Berlin, protesting against a Polish Army order declaring that Poland is in a state of war with Germany, and that Poland purposes to distribute two divisions of General Haller's army along the frontier.

Erzberger says this is opposed to the terms of the armistice, and he advises Marshal Foch that unless the order is rescinded Germany will be compelled to suspend the transport of General Haller's Polish army across Germany.

DESTROYER DOES 41.1 KNOTS

The Cole, on Test Trip, Is Said to Have Exceeded Former Record.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—The destroyer Cole, the twentieth of her class built at the Cramps shipyard here, covered a five-mile course in the Delaware River today at a speed of 41.1 knots an hour, said to be a world's record for a destroyer of her type.

The record for this type of vessel over the Rockland (Me.) course, is said to be 38.5 knots. Harry Mull, President of the Cramps Company, said that the record was made with an extemporized crew.

AFTER DESK-JOB OFFICERS.

House Military Committee Reports Resolution of Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The House Military Affairs Committee today favorably reported a resolution introduced by Representative Dyer, Republican, of Missouri, calling on the Secretary of War to "forthwith" furnish the House with "a list of officers on duty in the District of Columbia; how many of them are holding commission of a higher grade than that they are entitled to in the regular army, and what official work they are now performing."

Mr. Dyer said he had been informed that there were many officers on duty in Washington who as "pets" of higher officers had been assigned to "desk" jobs within the department in order that they might retain the high rank given them during the emergency, while the officers who served with the troops and "did the dirty work" were relegated to the grade in the army they would have attained in the regular run of promotions.

Would Give Red Cross Army Stocks.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Legislation authorizing the War Department to turn over to the American Red Cross a large amount of medical and other supplies for use in Poland, Hungary and other European countries was recommended to Congress today by Secretary Baker. While estimated to be worth slightly less than $100,000,000, Secretary Baker said the supplies would bring only a small proportion of that amount if placed on the market.

limits and conditions of these autonomous institutions will be settled separately as regards each.

To Submit Differences to League.

"Even in the case difficulties should arise in regard to the solution of these various institutions, the Government is ready to have recourse to the collaboration and good offices of the League of Nations with a view to arriving at a satisfactory settlement.

"5. The above principle, implying the satisfaction of the agreements by the Constituent Assembly, should obviously be applied to the question of Bessarabia.

"6. The Russian Government once more repeats its declaration of the 27th of November, 1910, by which it accepted the burden of the national debt of Russia.

"7. As regards the question of internal politics which can only interest the powers in so far as they reflect the political tendencies of the Russian Government, I make a point of repeating that there cannot be a return to the régime which existed in Russia before February, 1917. The provisional solution which my Government has adopted in regard to the agrarian questions aims at satisfying the interests of the great mass of the population and is inspired by the conviction that Russia can only be flourishing and strong when the millions of Russian peasants receive all guarantees for the possession of the land.

"Similarly as regards the régime to be applied to the liberated territories, the Government, far from placing obstacles in the way of the free election of local assemblies, municipalities, and Zemstvos, regards the activities of these bodies and also the development of the people in self-government as the necessary conditions for the reconstruction of the country, and is already actually giving them its support by all the means at its disposal.

"8. Having set ourselves the task of re-establishing order and justice and of insuring individual security to the population, which is tired of trials and exactions, the Government affirms the equality before the law of all citizens without any special privilege. (An omission here.) All shall receive, without distinction of origin or of religion, the protection of the State and of the law.

"The Government, whose head I am, is concentrating all the forces and all the resources at its disposal in order to accomplish the task which it has set itself; at this decisive hour I speak in the name of all national Russia. I am confident that Bolshevism, once crushed, satisfactory solutions will be found for all questions which equally concern all those populations whose existence is bound up with that of Russia.

Russian Committee and Georgian Envoy in Paris Appeal to Allies.

PARIS, June 13.—M. Tcheidse, head of the Georgian delegation in Paris, has protested to the Peace Conference against any action regarding Russia which will affect the status of the Georgian Republic.

In addition to this the Russian Committee in Paris has formally asked the Conference to take no political decisions regarding the boundaries of Russia, except as affecting Poland, until the voice of the Russian people can be heard.

SIBERIANS NEAR VIATKA.

OMSK, June 6, (Russian Telegraphic Agency.)—On the northern end of the front west of the Urals the Siberian troops have captured Glazov and are advancing toward Viatka, an official announcement says. On the southern front there is fighting near Sarapul and near Ufa. The statement from the Siberian General Staff reads:

> The Siberian army continues the offensive in the direction of Viatka. We have crossed the river (Tcheptsa) north of Glazov, which we captured, and are continuing our advance, taking prisoners and war material.
> A battle is being waged north of Sarapul. Detachments of the Red army tried to cross the River Bielaya near Ufa, but were repulsed.

Since this dispatch was sent the Moscow Soviet has announced the capture of Ufa by the Red forces.

REPORT WIRE STRIKE AS LOSING GROUND

DENIES PEACE OVERTURES

Postal Official Says No Negotiations with Union Have Been Proposed—Sees Strike at an End.

Reports received yesterday by the officials of the telegraph companies and messages said to have been received by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America agreed that the telegraphers' strike was becoming less serious in all parts of the country, notwithstanding the assurances of sympathy from the American Federation of Labor and other labor organizations. Both telegraph companies reported business practically normal in this city and throughout the country, although S. J. Konenkamp, President of the union, reported from Chicago that the number of men who had quit work had risen from 18,000 to 20,000.

It was denied here by Percy Thomas, Deputy International President of the union, that Konenkamp had sent out confidential messages to the officials of all the local unions expressing despair that the aims of the strike had failed because the union ranks were breaking. Thomas, who directs the strike here, although he remains at work under contract as the wire chief of the International News Service, declared that the most optimistic reports upon the progress of the strike had come from all parts of the country, and that there was every prospect of success in compelling the Western Union Telegraph Company to recognize the union. He admitted, however, the report that the Detroit local union to a man had pledged its members to return to work and remain there.

Officials of the telegraph companies here said they saw several indications that the union leaders were despairing. One that seemed to them to be outstanding was that Konenkamp announced in Chicago that terms of settlement with the Postal Company were being discussed, upon the suggestion of the Postal officials that terms should be made. Union officials here had no knowledge of these reported negotiations, and Edward Reynolds, Vice President and General Manager of the Postal Company, declared that no negotiations were in progress and that no negotiations whatever would be held.

"As far as our traffic is concerned, the strike is at an end," said Mr. Reynolds. "It is not necessary for us to negotiate with the union officials, as they have reported, and we will not negotiate, because the men themselves have admitted that they have no grievances against our company. There is nothing for us to discuss with the union officials. They attempted to call out our men in sympathy strike, and most of our men remained at their posts because they knew they had no grievance against us.

General Manager Reynolds last night sent this telegram to John C. Koons, the First Assistant Postmaster General:

"The story that we are dealing with the union with a view to adjusting our differences is an absolute untruth. We have had no dealings with them. Strike so far as Postal is concerned is virtually at an end."

Says Operators Are Returning.

"Our men are returning to work in offices throughout the country and, although we are not urging them to return if they do not wish to, we are not barring any of the men from resuming their work in the offices where they quit. No mark will be put on their records with us, and their absence for a few days will be entirely overlooked. We will not consider that the continuity of their service has been broken if they return within a reasonable time and all the privileges and benefits of the company will be extended to all of them just as if they had remained at work for the last few days. None of these men will lose any of their privileges under our plan for sick benefits."

Although Mr. Thomas had a message from Chicago assuring him that the operators in the Western Brokers' Division of the union would strike in sympathy and another promising the support of the Railway Train Dispatchers, no sympathetic strikes were called anywhere in the country. The Eastern Brokers' division will hold a meeting at 44 Broad Street at 2 o'clock this afternoon to decide whether they will cease work on brokers' leased wires, but some of their officials were inclined to believe yesterday that the men would not receive favorably any strike order from President Konenkamp. They have no grievances and many of them receive annual bonuses in addition to a scale of pay that is higher than that received by the company operators. Mr. Thomas declared that a strike order would take precedence over all other orders in the Brokers' Divisions.

Officials of the telegraph companies said yesterday that if the Order of Railway Telegraphers carried out its intention of accepting no commercial messages beginning today, telegraph traffic would not be affected materially, because the amount of business obtained is not more than one-tenth of the entire volume. Western Union officials said they had arranged to handle part of this business over the telephone wires if the railway operators rejected it. Others said that the loss of a part of the business, much of it not of great importance, would result in benefit to the companies by relieving congestion at centres where full complements of men were not on duty. Financial loss to the Western Union is not a problem, because of its contracts with the Government guaranteeing income.

Efforts of the union officials to induce the messenger boys here to quit work have failed, and at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, at 32 Union Square, it was said that there was little prospect of a sympathetic strike because the local has a contract with the telephone company that does not expire until Dec. 1. The members of the organization are the inside linemen and repairers.

Thomas Assails Burleson.

Declaring that the Post Office Department was supporting the telegraph companies in the strike, Deputy President Thomas last night attacked Postmaster General Burleson for his reported attitude. It was learned that the Postmaster General is receiving reports upon the movement of traffic and the effect upon it by strikers.

"Word has reached me from what I regard an authentic source that First Assistant Postmaster General John C. Koons has sent out a message to the officials of the telegraph companies," said Mr. Thomas, "assuring them that the Post Office Department and the Government were behind them in their fight against their employes. The position of Burleson justifies me in believing this, and confirms my assertion that the people's money was being used to defeat the people's purposes, so far as organized labor was concerned. The participation of Mr. Burleson and his assistants was to have been expected. Their attitude has always been hostile to the organized telegraph and telephone workers and to organized labor generally. Their messages are being used to prevent the spread of the strike and to dishearten the men who have quit work."

Hugh Frayne, General Organizer of the American Federation of Labor, addressed 200 operators yesterday at their daily meeting in the auditorium in the Pulitzer Building, assuring them that the American Federation was in sympathy with their strike. While he was talking three men were put out of the meeting because they tried to interject question. The officials of the Telegraphers' Union said that the men were "hired by the Western Union." Girls who are on strike, and who have been attending the daily meetings, applauded as the men went out. The Strike Committee furnished ice cream for the girls, but fewer were present than on other days.

The organizer declared that the attitude of President Carlton of the Western Union and of Postmaster General Burleson contributed largely to industrial unrest and to the success of Bolshevist propaganda. He asserted that the telegraphers had a just cause and ought to stay on strike until they achieved their aims. Wage scales for telegraphers had remained stationary, he said, while all other classes of labor were winning increases. Mr. Carlton had denied to the telegraphers, he said, the right to organize, after President Wilson had declared the right of labor to unite.

At the meeting yesterday it was decided to appeal to the Typographical Union to refuse to handle newspaper dispatches handled by men who were not members of the Telegraphers' Union or by members of the union who remained at work.

Deputy President Thomas said that 1,167 men were on strike in this city, but the Postal officials said that only thirty-five men out of 531 employes, were not at work. General Manager Reynolds said that it had been possible to send men from the main office here to Pennsylvania towns where a larger percentage had quit. He said most of the force at Atlanta had gone to work and were filling up the offices of nearby towns. Forces at Dallas, Houston, and other Texas cities, he said, were being recruited from Kansas City when help was needed.

Late last night it was announced that, even if the operators on the brokers leased wires decide to go out, they will remain at work three days in the hope that the strike will break in the meantime.

REPORTS ON DISCHARGES.

Union Telephone Employes Not Discriminated Against, Burleson Hears.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Postmaster General Burleson today received a telegraphic report from Inspector J. W. Cole, who conducted the investigation to determine whether the Southern Bell Telephone Company at Atlanta, Ga., in the dismissal of employes has violated the order of the Postmaster General forbidding discrimination against employes on account of affiliation with labor organizations.

In his report Mr. Cole stated that the investigation has been concluded; that the company had shown good and sufficient reasons for all dismissals or other changes in the force, and that the charge of discrimination was not sustained by evidence.

The telegram follows:

"Investigation of telephone case concluded today. The company has shown good and sufficient reasons for all dismissals or other changes in force, and after painstaking and exhaustive inquiry no evidence is found to support the charge that employes have been discharged or otherwise discriminated against on account of union membership or activity. Full report will go forward as soon as it can be prepared, and should reach Washington not later than Monday."

SAY 130,000 WILL STRIKE.

Telegraphers' Leaders Make Prediction as to Electrical Workers.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 13.—More than 130,000 electrical workers, it is predicted by the Telegraphers' Union, on Monday will join in the strike to gain the right of collective bargaining, recognition of the union, increased pay, and shorter hours.

President S. J. Konenkamp said 2,000 additional telegraphers had joined the strikers, and denied statements attributed to Edward Reynolds, General Manager of the Postal system in New York, that Postal operators in the ranks of the Telegraphers' Union are urging the leaders to call the strike off.

"Mr. Burleson did our strike good when he said that it was a failure," said Mr. Konenkamp. "Belated reports from all over the country are encouraging. Numerous telegraphers and girl multiplex operators in Chicago have joined us."

Efforts have been made by pickets to interest the girl telephone operators in the strike, but they are not responding.

E. W. Collins, Chicago manager for the Postal, said conditions in his offices were improving, while E. T. Jones chief operator for the Western Union, said business was continuing as usual.

Two hundred members of the Western brokers' division of the Telegraphers' Union decided tonight to take a referendum vote of their 1,500 membership as to a strike. The vote will be taken by mail and may require two or three days.

"The question of a sympathetic strike was thoroughly discussed," said President F. A. Davis, "and it was the consensus that no good could be accomplished by a sympathetic strike. The real issue is whether brokers' operators shall handle 'contraband matter' in the form of exchange news and quotations, furnished by the commercial companies, against which the strike has been called."

As the American Telephone and Telegraph Company handles a large part of the brokers' business, it is expected that if the brokers' operators vote to bar "contraband messages" they will tie up a large part of the brokers' telegraph business.

RAILROAD MEN NOW OUT IN WINNIPEG

UNIONS DEFY HIGH OFFICERS

Canadian Railway Shopmen Refuse Conference on Strike Called for Next Week.

WINNIPEG, June 13.—Settlement of the Winnipeg strike this week was intimated this afternoon by Mayor Gray. When he was asked if the latest conciliation movement was succeeding he said: "I may have big news for you within twenty-four hours."

This statement was made in the face of the announcement by officials of the Winnipeg Switchmen's and Trainmen's locals that they had voted to go on strike at 6 o'clock tonight. It is believed that the action of the trainmen will severely cripple freight service to and from Winnipeg and may handicap passenger transportation.

A formal statement, issued by executive officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Enginemen and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, declared that the action of the locals in voting to join the sympathetic strike "was absolutely unauthorized."

The statement was signed by George K. Wark, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and James Murdock, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Despite previous warnings that strike action without permission from the Brotherhoods would not be countenanced, the Winnipeg locals held meetings last night and voted to join the sympathetic strike, unless the city reinstated the police force which was dismissed on Monday.

For more than two weeks Winnipeg railroad men have been split into two factions, as a result of the local strike trouble. Some time ago the International Railroad Brotherhood officers issued a formal warning that any railroad local which took a strike vote without permission from the brotherhoods might be ousted from the brotherhoods. Last week two of the Winnipeg carmen's locals were removed from membership in the International Brotherhood.

Winnipeg's police force was dismissed because the policemen refused to sign, without arbitration, a pledge that they would not take part in sympathetic strikes.

Winnipeg was calm today. No attempt has been made to operate street cars, despite the fact that the city has been without transportation service since May 15.

MONTREAL, June 13.—Negotiations undertaken by the Canadian Railway War Board with the representatives here of Division No. 4 of the Railway Shopmen of America in an attempt to prevent 30,000 men from striking for higher wages next Wednesday have failed up to date. The union delegates declined to accede to a request of the Railway War Board to carry on negotiations between now and next Wednesday on the ground that it would be a waste of time to negotiate unless it was distinctly understood that the question of wages would be discussed, a question which the board has thus far declined to include.

MONCTON, N. B., June 13.—A strike of electrical workers and street railway employes here today caused an entire suspension of street traffic and repair work. The men are demanding increased wages and shorter hours.

LEWIS ASSAILS RADICALS.

Criticises "Loose-Tongued Sensationalists" in Reform Work.

In an address yesterday before the Trustees and officers of the Vineland (N. J.) Training School for Feeble-Minded at their thirty-first annual meeting, Burdette G. Lewis, Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies, assailed some of the radical speakers at the recent National Conference of Social Work for "rocking the boat at a time like this." Commissioner Lewis said: "Such institutions as this are experimental stations, safety valves of society against the kind of doctrine that is preached quite commonly and even at the National Conference, by a lot of radical, loose-tongued sensationalists who cloak themselves in the mantle of the social welfare worker, pretending to work for social reform, but who in fact are dangerous social revolutionists, and who are rocking the boat at this critical period."

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK IN FRENCH STRIKES

Early Settlement of Transportation and Other Troubles Is Now Expected.

CAR MEN SEE CLEMENCEAU

Labor Chiefs Accuse Socialist Party Leaders of Trying to Profit Politically by Strikes.

PARIS, June 13.—Prospects now are for an early solution of the transportation and other strikes which have been causing grave concern.

Premier Clemenceau received this morning a delegation of the Executive Committee of the Transportation Federation which was accompanied by M. Jouhaux, the Secretary of the General Labor Federation.

The delegates explained that the strike was due to the refusal of the companies to discuss matters in dispute with their employes. They protested against the companies being allowed to use troops and students of the State Engineering School to carry on their work.

M. Clemenceau replied that no soldiers had been ordered to work for the companies, and that the soldiers now at work were volunteers, or men on leave of absence. He asked the delegates to formulate their claims in writing, and said that he and the Minister of Labor would receive them again in the afternoon.

In accordance with this request the delegates called at the hour appointed and presented their demands in writing. M. Colliard, the Labor Minister, and General Gassouin, Director of Military Transportation, were with the Premier.

M. Clemenceau instructed M. Colliard and Albert Claveille, Minister of Public Works, to call a meeting of representatives of the companies interested. The Premier will receive the delegates of the Transportation Federation again tomorrow afternoon.

M. Raoul, Secretary of the Metropolitan Subway Employes' Union, has written asking for arbitration by the Municipal Council and the Committee of the Metropolitan Union.

The Main Tramway Company of Paris reported this afternoon that 125 of its 190 cars were running. The Omnibus Company said that it had received applications for work from striking metal workers, who were tired of being out of employment, but unwilling to apply for jobs at the factories where they were formerly employed.

The Miners' Union has written to M. Colliard, and Louis Locheur, Minister of Munitions, restating their case, and M. Colliard has replied agreeing to intervene once more in behalf of the miners' demands before the Chamber of Deputies.

When the vote was taken in the Chamber to reject the union's demands for an eight-hour day, there were, M. Colliard pointed out, only 27 deputies present, and he said he would do his utmost to bring about a settlement of differences which exist before the call for a general strike is effective on Monday.

The metal workers continue their negotiations at the Ministry of Labor, with hopes of an early settlement, although the problem to be solved is most difficult.

Another good sign is seen in action taken at a meeting of representatives of the General Labor Federation and the Socialist Party. Jean Longuet and Pierre Renaudel, Socialist leaders, were reproached by speakers for "trying to make political capital out of our strikes for their party," and a resolution was passed that the two organizations should pursue parallel courses of action, each retaining a maximum of autonomy and independence.

LONDON, June 13.—The British Labor Party will not be represented tomorrow at the conference in Paris, which is to discuss the Italian proposal for a twenty-four-hour strike in Italy, France, and England in protest against allied intervention in Russia and the peace terms.

It was explained in labor circles that there was not sufficient time to permit a ballot by the affiliated trade unions, which would be necessary before any decision could be reached concerning British laborites taking part in the conference.

PARIS FOOD PRICES SOAR.

High Cost of Living Causes Great Apprehnsion in Capital.

PARIS, June 13, (Associated Press.)—The cost of food in Paris continues to rise in an appalling manner, notwithstanding the attempts of the Government to keep prices down. The high cost of living is causing great apprehension because of the important part it plays in strikes and other demonstrations that are being made against the Government.

Foodstuffs of all kinds are much higher in price in Paris than in London, and the difference in the figures in the two countries is causing much comment in the Paris newspapers. While the extremely dry season is forcing many owners of livestock to sell their animals because of lack of pasture and wholesale prices of meat are supposed to be falling because of this state of affairs, there has been little change made in retail prices.

Meat products are selling in Paris as follows, per pound: Fresh pork, $1.14; beefsteak, $1.52; mutton chops, $1.28; veal, $1.33, and ham, $1.90. These prices must be computed by estimating the franc at 5 francs 25 centimes to the dollar, as French wages have not increased to meet the fall in the exchange rate.

Chickens are selling at from $4 to $5 each. Condensed milk is 40 cents a can and sugar costs from 16 to 18 cents per pound, when it is obtainable. Dealers are getting $1.15 a dozen for eggs. The price of cherries and strawberries ranges from 37 to 46 cents a pound, while dried beans are bringing 26 cents a pound and old potatoes 6 cents, and new potatoes 18 cents.

FOOD AND WAGE STRIKES SPORADIC IN ITALY

Pay Increase Demanded by 76,000 School Teachers—Two Killed in Riots.

ROME, June 12.—There have been sporadic strikes throughout Italy for several weeks past in which the demands have been for a decrease in the hours of labor and increases in wages, while others have been in protest against the high cost of living. The most serious of the strikes has been that of 76,000 school teachers demanding a minimum of $2 daily.

Up to the present time there have been no grave incidents except at Spezia, where a mob protesting against the cost of food sacked several shops. The mob was attacked by the police and troops and offered resistance. In the encounter two persons were killed and about thirty others wounded.

HARWOOD PAYS $50 FINE.

New Jersey Socialist Decides to Stay Out of Jail and Appeal.

Special to The New York Times.

RAHWAY, N. J., June 13.—Frederick J. Harwood, State Secretary of the Socialist Party, was fined $50 by Judge O. H. Dey in Police Court this afternoon on the charge of opposing and obstructing an officer in the discharge of his duty two weeks ago when police and firemen interfered when Socialists tried to hold street meetings in defiance of an order by Mayor David H. Trembly. Judge Dey said his intention to impose a jail sentence had been changed to a decision to let Harwood go on payment of a fine because of the plea of his counsel. Harwood paid the fine and gave notice that he would appeal.

Ex-City Commissioner James B. Furber, leader of Branch 12, of the Socialist Party here, was released in $500 bail by Judge Dey pending Grand Jury action on a charge of assault made by William Cook.

Justice of the Peace Gustav Theimer of Elizabeth, who had entertained a charge against Mayor Trembly, after firemen had dispersed the Socialist meeting by sprinkling the crowd with a fire hose, was released in similar bail pending Grand Jury action, on the charge that he had exercised improper legal procedure in his action as Justice of the Peace.

SECRETARY WILSON ASSAILS BOLSHEVIKI

TO ADMIT NEGRO UNIONS

Move Called by Gompers Most Important Labor Step in Years.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 13.—Addressing the convention of the American Federation of Labor to-day Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson made an attack on the I. W. W. and the Bolsheviki in the United States. The agitation of these two elements, he declared, did not exist to any great extent among the real wage workers of the community but existed principally among the "parlor coal diggers."

Mr. Wilson deprecated the movement which has for its object a general strike of all labor on behalf of Thomas Mooney, convicted in connection with the preparedness day explosions in San Francisco three years ago. A general strike, he said, would be a subversion of the American jury system. In passing he touched on the suggestion that labor enter politics as a separate party and asserted that conditions in this country were different from England. In expressing the appreciation of the delegates for his address, Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation, attacked the "enemies of organized labor in Congress who conspired to starve the Department of Labor."

Most of the day was spent in reading reports on resolutions referred to the Organization Committee. The delegates passed favorably on a resolution calling for the organization of the city policemen. Among the 211 resolutions which will come before the delegates for action the principal ones call for the 44-hour week, indorsement of the railway union's plan for Government ownership, the removal of Postmaster General Burleson, repeal of the Espionage act, sympathy with the aspirations of Ireland, the six-hour day, and withdrawal of American troops from Russia.

A committee consisting of C. L. Bain, E. H. McCarthy, and Martin F. Ryan will go to Washington tomorrow to take up with the Federal authorities the contemplated strike of telephone electrical workers scheduled for Monday.

The convention voted unanimously to permit the entrance of the 2,000,000 negro workers of the country into equal membership in the international unions. It was also decided that if any of the unions attempted to discriminate against negroes separate charters would be granted to negro organizations. In the opinion of many leaders in the convention the step was one of the most important that has been taken in many years by the federation.

John Lacy, a negro leader of Norfolk, made an appeal to the convention, not for social equality, but "for the opportunity to earn bread and butter on an equality with his white brother." It was after Lacy's speech that more than forty Presidents of international unions arose one after the other and declared that their unions would welcome negroes into their organizations.

The action removes every trace of class distinction in America, said Samuel Gompers after the meeting. He said that the action of the convention would mark a milestone in the history of the negroes' struggle for equal rights, as well as in the history of political and economic liberty of America. The discussion of the aspirations of the negroes in the labor movement came up when the Committee on Resolutions reported against the adoption of resolutions presented by the negro delegates asking for the right to organize international unions along color lines. The committee held that the economic interest of blacks and whites was one and that racial discrimination would doom the labor movement. It recommended the organization of negroes in international unions and the sending of organizers all over the country for this purpose. The report was adopted.

In his address Secretary Wilson declared that the philosophy which said that the worker was entitled to the full social value of his labor had its origin in socialism and was sound, but that the great difficulty was that no method has as yet been found to compute the social value of a person's labor. The poison of the I. W. W. scheme, he said, was in the belief that profits could be destroyed by the "strike on the job," by throwing sand into the machines. Closely allied to the I. W. W. in this country, he added, has been the Bolshevist agitation.

"I have no fear of a political revolution in the United States," he continued. "It may be possible that there are some parlorites who are misguided sufficiently to think in this way, but there is not one man in the ranks of labor, be he extreme radical or extreme conservative, who would stand for Bolshevism for a minute when he knows what Bolshevism stands for.

"They prate of the dictatorship of the proletariat," added the Secretary, "but we find that Marx by that phrase meant that the majority of the workers would impose their will on the balance of the people. But the workers of this country are not willing to bring that principle into play. They believe that every one who has to obey the laws of the country should have a voice in the determination of what the laws should be. The Bolsheviki do not even take that interpretation of the dictatorship of the proletariat. Lenin before the Moscow Soviet laid down the principle that the dictatorship of the proletariat meant the dictatorship of a self-selected advance guard, that the proletarian could not be trusted as he would waver. Therefore they resorted to obligatory labor. The military autocracy of Germany was built on the same idea.

"The American worker wants nothing of that kind of a dictatorship of the proletariat and nothing of the political and social conditions that existed and still exist in Russia. We are going to work out our own ideals, not by a self-selected advance guard, but by the workers themselves.

"The use of force to overthrow autocracy is the highest kind of patriotism, but the use of force to overthrow democracy is treason to the masses of the people. We have the ballot for the redress of grievances and those who cannot be depended on to vote right cannot be depended on to shoot straight."

Describing his work as a member of the President's commission to investigate the Mooney case, Secretary Wilson said that they could come to no other conclusion than that, as one of the principal witnesses had written to a friend in Illinois saying that he had seen the witness Oxman at a given point at a given time, and in view of the change in the evidence, the commission felt that Mooney ought to have a new trial so that his innocence or guilt might be established.

"At that time we had no fixed opinion as to his guilt or innocence," he continued. "With me it was only a question of securing a fair trial. Every effort of the Administration has been to get a new trial, and we are not through with it yet. There is a nation-wide agitation for a universal strike as a protest against the conviction of Mooney. Do you realize what this action means to the masses? Do you understand what struggles have taken place that trials may occur where the accused and the jurors and the accused and the witnesses meet face to face? That change in the establishment of the jury system was not brought about to protect men of great wealth. It was instituted to deal with poor devils like you and me. It may occasionally miscarry, but in the great bulk of cases justice is meted out and no one can undertake to try Mooney by the process of a strike. If he is to be tried, it should be by a jury that would digest the evidence bit by bit. None of us know very much about the case yet. It is proposed that every worker shall become a juror."

Mr. Wilson was received with enthusiasm.

Alfred Leavitt and Nathan Fine, of the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Protective Association, addressed the convention on behalf of discharged service men, asking that the Federation support their movement for $360 pay to discharged soldiers and sailors.

Publication of a resolution concerning recognition of Soviet Russia aroused intense interest among the delegates, and was more discussed than any other. Indications were that when it comes up for discussion on the floor it is likely to precipitate a bitter controversy.

UNITED AMERICA TO ASSIST EUROPE

the cotton organization, and so on. This cotton body would determine if the demand was normal and legitimate and would take security. This would bring about direct communication between consumer and producer.

"Europe no longer has false pride in asking credit; nothing will be concealed. The organizations mentioned should include everybody in the United States who wants to join.

"My suggestion is that debentures might be issued against the credits established in Europe, secured by everything given against the shipment. Every country would guarantee the debentures against it. The debentures would really be against the whole of Europe.

"Then the banking interests could place these debentures with the public, distributed as widely as possible. Complete agreement should exist with the Administration and with the Treasury Department, which, we know, will do everything reasonable for American trade.

"This is essentially an industrial movement for all, not a group of bankers. There is no estimate, as yet, regarding the amounts needed. A few months ago it looked overwhelming, but not now. The world has grown smaller. The man who thinks an economic Chinese wall can be built around America lacks knowledge."

NEED $3,000,000,000 TO FINANCE EUROPE

Federal Reserve Board Says That the Supply of Capital There Is at Low Ebb.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The Federal Reserve Board announces that a study of financial conditions in the principal European countries shows that the currency and banking situation on the European continent is one of unusual difficulty, and that it would appear that supplies of available capital have been reduced to a minimum basis.

Reparation to be made by the Central Powers will have a large effect on the situation, the board says, but considerably more than $3,000,000,000 must be raised here by private initiative if the export trade of the United States is to be kept at its present level.

"It does not seem probable that conditions in these foreign countries can be promptly restored to a normal footing without importing from abroad in very large measure the funds that are needed in the process of financial rehabilitation," the board says.

"In this connection the question is pertinently raised, What will be the effects of the reparation which is to be made by the Central Powers as a result of the peace settlement? This reparation will, of course, operate to create a one-sided balance of trade in goods, ships, and forms of capital, as well as of securities, between the Central Powers and the countries with which they transact business. It will tend, therefore, to place the recipients of reparations in possession of funds with which they may liquidate their obligations to their own citizens or to foreign countries. France, Belgium, and other Continental nations are heavily indebted to Great Britain as well as to the United States, while Great Britain likewise is a heavy debtor to this country.

Reparation Payments Coming Here.

"The reparation payments, while passed through the countries which are their recipients, may in the last analysis thus furnish the basis for payments to the United States designed to liquidate the advances made by this country to cover the cost of the war, save in so far as American investors may prefer to leave their funds actually abroad. In the latter case the effect of the reparation payment will be merely that of converting a Government obligation into private security or other evidence of indebtedness.

"Belgium's share of the reparation has already been used as security for the advance made by a group of American banks under the so-called Belgian industrial credit, and it may be expected that other loans or accommodations of similar kinds will take place in the near future.

"It will, however, be some time before the reparation thus paid will in fact amount to more than a fraction of the sums needed to re-establish industry abroad upon anything like its pre-war basis. The problem of importing capital into practically all of the European countries will thus be a continuing one, and a successful basis for such importation can be found only in the assurance to individual investors in this and in other countries which have a surplus of savings for current requirements that there is a better field for the use of such savings abroad than exists at home.

"It is a problem of continuous rather than of temporary financing, and has reference to the ability of foreign countries to produce income through investment rather than to produce immediately consumable goods for the purpose of re-establishing their merchandise balance.

"During the month of May the foreign exchange situation has continued to become more difficult than it appeared to be immediately after the period of 'pegging' which came to a close on April 8. An immediate indication of difficulty in this connection has been afforded by a sharp decline in quotations for the principal foreign currencies, sterling going as low as $4.63, francs to 6.77 per dollar, and lire to 8.75.

"The figures constitute record low quotations for francs and lire, and, while the quotation for sterling is not so low as those made after the close of the 'pegging,' it is lower than the rate which prevailed at the close of April. At present figures French currency is worth little more than three-quarters of its face value as expressed in terms of American dollars.

"The immediate causes of this condition of affairs are obvious. It is reasonably estimated that the trade balance of the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, will be about $3,000,000,000, or practically the sum that has been annually recorded for the last three years. The interest due and payable on our holdings of foreign securities is now not much below $500,000,000 annually. While it is impossible to say what are the total amounts payable to American citizens who are owners of foreign securities or who have advanced sums for use in foreign countries upon which they receive regular returns, they may be conservatively estimated at $100,000,000. Unofficial figures for the amount of foreign obligations maturing in the United States during the calendar year 1919 place that sum at possibly $600,000,000 to $750,000,000.

Need $3,600,000,000 Financing.

"If the figures thus given, partly for the calendar and partly for the fiscal year now drawing to a close, be regarded, as they reasonably may, as being applicable to conditions for the calendar year, it is apparent that means must be found during 1919 for the financing of about $3,000,000,000 of new obligations and for the renewal of perhaps $600,000,000 of old ones.

"This makes a gigantic, probably an unprecedented, financial problem. The Treasury's ability to advance sums to foreign countries has been limited by Congress to the sum of $10,000,000,000, of which about $9,500,000,000 has now been taken up. The department has therefore, at most, a sum of $500,000,000, (most of it allocated,) which can be used for this purpose, so that it would seem that probably much more than $3,000,000,000 of new funds must be provided by private initiative if we are to continue our export trade upon its present level.

"It should be recalled that Congress has provided an export credit of $1,000,000,000 which may be made available through the War Finance Corporation. The doubt whether our export trade can be continued upon its existing level without involving serious financial strain makes the question of our national policy in reference to such trade one of urgent concern for the whole community."

and 1,600 Villistas were concentrated at Villa Ahumada several days ago, but whether they have moved to the north I do not know today. There has been no fighting."

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Orders sending the 24th Infantry to El Paso from Columbus, N. M., were issued by Major Gen. de Rosey C. Cabell, commanding the Southern Department and also the Border Patrol, it was said today at the War Department. General Cabell has wide latitude in arranging his forces to meet border emergencies, it was pointed out, and it requires no authority from the Department for him to transfer regiments or other units to points of danger.

LAREDO, Texas, June 13.—Two hundred Government troops were killed or injured when the train on which they were traveling to Chihuahua was wrecked by the sinking of the track north of Aguascalientes, according to a Mexico City dispatch to the El Pervenor at Monterey and forwarded here today. The wreck is said to have occurred Wednesday. The troops were under General Benteria Luviano.

NOGALES, Ariz., June 13.—The following telegram was received today by Emiliano Tames, Mexican Consul here, from Andreas G. Garcia, Mexican Consul at El Paso, Texas:

"You may inform Gen. Calles that Juarez is quiet. Not a single shot has been fired. A band of bandits is about thirty miles away."

NEW OPPONENT FOR VILLA.

Gen. Diguez to Succeed Castro as Chief Commander.

MEXICO CITY, June 12.—General Jesus Agustin Castro has been named Under Secretary of War and Marine and is heading that department in the absence of the regular Secretary, according to a statement from official sources tonight. General Manuel M. Diguez, now operating in Northern Mexico with headquarters in Chihuahua City, will succeed General Castro as Chief of Military Operations against Villa, the statement says.

SEES MEXICO AS FRIENDLY.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Says Reports of Ill-Feeling Are False.

Richard C. Williamson, General Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association in Mexico City, and Dr. Enrique Aguirre, Physical Director of the Mexico City Y. M. C. A., delivered addresses on "Recent Developments in Mexico, Political, Economical, and Religious," at the Central Branch of the Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn, last night. Asserting that the principal need in Mexico today is the establishment of Y. M. C. A. houses in which to educate the men of Mexico in American ways, Mr. Williamson declared that the strain between America and Mexico is "grossly exaggerated."

"The situation is undoubtedly acute and tense with possibilities," Mr. Williamson added, "but matters can and will be satisfactorily settled without warfare. The trouble in Mexico is the need of hard cash. The American dollar is at a discount. This is due to the Mexican dollar having such a low value that it makes the American dollar suffer also.

"There may be dark days ahead, but to my mind there is a better relationship between the United States and Mexico today than there has been in several years, despite reports to the contrary."

Speaking of the oil situation in Tampico, Mr. Williamson said the great question there is, Who is to own the oil fields? The output, he declared, was 70,000,000 barrels a year, with unlimited possibilities.

There are now 1,500 members in the Mexico City Y. M. C. A., and it is hoped that fifteen new branches will be added in four Mexican cities in the next five years.

REPORTS VILLA REMARRIED.

Traveler Says He Saw Ceremony Performed Near Parral, Chihuahua.

MEXICO CITY, June 4, (Correspondence of Associated Press.—Francisco Villa, the bandit leader, has married again, according to a story told by a traveler to the newspaper Excelsior of this city. The traveler claims to have been present at the ceremony which he says was performed at Valle de Allende, near Parral, Chihuahua.

Villa is said to have appeared suddenly one day in the village and ordered all the inhabitants out for a fiesta. The marriage, according to the traveler, was performed by a former judge with two of the villagers as witnesses. Afterward there was a feast and a dance, at which Villa introduced his bride, a girl of 20 years, and delivered a speech.

Villa was said to have been accompanied by Felipe Angeles and several favorite Lieutenants.

Mrs. Juanita Torres Villa, who lived for a time in Los Angeles, has claimed to be the only lawful wife of Francisco Villa.

SOVIET AMBASSADOR LATELY A GERMAN

REPORTS RAID TO MOSCOW

Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the unrecognised Bolshevist "envoy" to the United States, whose "embassy" offices on the third floor of the World Tower Building, at 110 West Fortieth Street, were raided by members of the State Police late Thursday afternoon, registered as a German subject and as an alien enemy in England in 1914, and it was while so registered that the British authorities permitted Martens to leave that country and come to the United States, where he has since remained. That fact was admitted yesterday by Santeri Nuorteva, who is the Secretary of the Bolshevist diplomatic organization in this country. Nuorteva also said that Martens had served two years in the German Army. He added that Martens is and always has been a Russian citizen, and that his registration as a German subject, and therefore as an enemy subject, was a "technical" proceeding due in large part to the fact that Martens's father was a native-born subject of the Hohenzollerns.

The "embassy" was again in possession of the World Tower offices yesterday, and it was announced that lawyers, who have been retained by the Bolshevist Government of Russia, will immediately take steps for the recovery of the great mass of documents taken in the raid on Thursday afternoon. Practically all of the records and files were taken, and it was said by a State official that these documents were now the subject of investigation by the proper authorities, and that financial books were being examined by accountants.

"They will not find one word that is illegal or inflammatory in the papers taken from these offices," said Nuorteva, "and we do not fear any investigation." He said he had cabled a full account of the raid to George Tchitcherin, the Bolshevist Foreign Minister, at Moscow. "I informed the Foreign Office that it appeared that the Federal Government was in no wise concerned in this affair. We have also made formal protest in the name of our Government to the State Department in Washington."

Among the lawyers retained by the Bolshevist Bureau are Dudley Field Malone, Gilbert Roe, and Charles Recht. Morris Hillquit was announced some time ago as general counsel for the "embassy," but he is ill in the Adirondacks. O'Gorman, Battle & Vandiver also have been retained to represent A. A. Heller, the commercial attaché of Martens's embassy staff.

Martens Registered as German.

When Martens, Nuorteva, and Gregory Weinstain, the former editor of Novy Mir and the close personal friend of Trotzky, arrived at their offices yesterday morning the State troopers on guard made no objection to their entering. Martens and Nuorteva, after a tour through the dismantled offices, said that they intended to have the rooms photographed for use as evidence should it ever be needed.

"Is it true," Nuorteva was asked, "that in 1914 Martens, who was then in England, registered as a German subject and therefore an enemy of the Allies?"

"Yes, he did register, and I will tell you all about it," replied Nuorteva. "Mr. Martens's father was born in Germany and emigrated to Russia in 1850, where his children, including L. A. Martens, were born. Under old conditions in Germany the Kaiser did not recognize foreign citizenship on the part of his former subjects, and in that policy is to be found the answer to your question. Mr. Martens was educated at the Technological University in Petrograd, and after his graduation, in 1896, he became an ardent revolutionists and was arrested and imprisoned by the forces of the Czar. He was kept in prison for a time and was then taken to the German border and put over the line into German territory. This was in 1899, and shortly thereafter Martens was forced into the German Army and served two years.

"After serving his time in the German Army, Martens went to England, and he was in that country when the war started. Being technically an enemy alien and also technically a German subject, he registered as such in accordance with the British regulations. He was never interned and was readily granted permission, when he sought it, to come to the United States. When the revolutionists gained control in Russia the matter of his citizenship was straightened out and since that time he has been a bona-fide, in every sense of the word, Russian citizen."

"Did Martens register as an enemy alien in this country after the United States entered the war" Nuorteva was asked.

"No, he did not, for he did not consider himself an enemy subject. As a matter of fact he has never admitted German citizenship."

Calls Raid Brutal.

Nuorteva reverting to the raid said that representatives of Attorney General Newton had called at the "embassy" yesterday morning and had conferred with certain members of the staff. What took place at that conference was not disclosed, but the "embassy" issued an official statement, in which the raid is described as "brutal," and it is said that the "bureau has never interfered in American affairs and all silly stories to the contrary are only the product of hysteria and malice."

The statement adds that Chairman Lusk of the Investigation Committee, is quoted as saying that Mr. Martens and Mr. Heller under examination admitted that their organization was circulating propaganda advocating the Soviet form of government as it has been established in Russia. "If Mr. Lusk wants to imply anything else," the statement says, "than that we admit the advocating of the establishment of economic relations with the Soviet government of Russia he speaks against his better knowledge."

The statement also protests against "the star chamber methods used by the Lusk committee while examining members of our office. Representatives of the press were not allowed to be present and members of our staff were denied even the aid of attorneys. Such procedure can do no good to the people of the United States, and we feel sure that every friend of justice will resent it."

Admits Some Discourtesy.

"You are quoted in this morning's Times to the effect that the Bolshevist Government treated with the greatest courtesy and consideration the diplomatic and other representatives of the United States while they were in Russia. Do you think that statement is entirely correct?" Nuorteva was asked.

"Yes, it is correct."

"What about Roger Simmons, the former Commercial Attache' of the American Embassy in Russia?"

"Yes, what about him?"

"Well, he was arrested and thrown into jail; as a matter of fact, was confined in several jails, treated as an ordinary criminal, and, according to Ambassador Francis, actually sentenced to death, although, as far as is known, no charge was ever made against him."

"That is the first I have heard of that case."

"Well, Ambassador Francis so testified before the Senate Committee. Mr. Simmons also narrated the story of his imprisonment to that committee."

"Well, it is all news to me."

"Well, then, how about Mr. Treadwell, who was the American Consul General in Petrograd. Was he accorded great courtesy and consideration?"

"I forgot about that case. Mr. Treadwell was arrested and was in prison one night. After that he was detained for some time, his detention being due to the fact that he was found to be associating with persons who were planning to overthrow the Soviet Government."

Mr. Treadwell was recently released by Lenin in exchange for a Bolshevist agitator the British had under arrest in India. It was an ordinary "exchange of prisoners" proceeding.

Nuorteva made reference to the action of Great Britain, France, the United States, and Japan in extending practical recognition to the Omsk Government, of which Admiral Kolchak is the head, in the course of which he said that despite this the Bolshevist Government "will continue to advocate in this country the recognition of the Soviet Government by the Government of the United States."

Late yesterday afternoon Nuorteva gave out what he said was a correct report, in question and answer form, of the examination of Commercial Attaché Heller before the Lusk committee. It follows:

Q.—What is your name? A.—A. A. Heller. * * * Senator, I want to call up my attorney. * * *

Q.—Where and when born, when came to this country, business? A.—(Accordingly.)

Q.—How long have you known Mr. Martens? A.—Three months.

Q.—Did you know Mr. Martens in Germany? A.—I met him three months ago; he was representing the Dimidof Works here.

Q.—Have you anything against the American form of Government? A.—What do you mean?

Q.—Do you subscribe to everything in the Constitution of the United States? A.—I am a member of the Socialist Party and that is the only party that subscribes to the Constitution of the United States.

Nuorteva explained that the Dr. Huebsch referred to in the Heller testimony is the cashier of the "embassy" and is an American citizen.

One of the men who participated in the raid on the Martens offices Thursday afternoon declared yesterday that some very interesting information will be shortly given out as a result of the seizure of certain documents. He said that among the papers was a printed letter addressed to the workingmen of Europe and America. This letter is signed by Lenin. In the course of this letter, which appears to have been written last January, Lenin says:

Lenin to Workers.

Now no conscious workingman, and no sincere Socialist, can fail to see what shameful treason against Socialism was perpetrated by those who in line with the Mensheviks and "Social Revolutionists" of Russia, with the Scheidemanns and Suedekums of Germany, with the Renaudels of France, and Vanderveldes of Belgium, with the Hendersons and Webbs in England, and with Gompers & Co. in America, supported "their" bourgeoisie in the war of 1914-18. This war has completely revealed itself as an imperialistic and reactionary war of brigandage on the part of Germany, as well as on the part of the English, French, Italian, and American capitalists. They now begin to quarrel between themselves about the division of the captured spoils, about the division of Turkey, Russia, of the African and Polynesian Colonies, of the Balkans, &c. The hypocrisy of phrases about democracy and the "League of Nations" is being rapidly exposed when we see that the left bank of the Rhine is being taken by the French bourgeoisie, when we see that Turkey and parts of Russia, (Siberia, Archangel, Baku, Krasnovodsk, Aschabad, &c.,) are being captured by French, British and American capitalists, when we see that the division of the spoils of brigandage makes for increased hostility between Italy and France, between France and England, between England and America, between America and Japan.

It was announced at the World Tower headquarters that Martens and Nuorteva would appear as witnesses before the Lusk committee next Wednesday morning.

Senator Lusk, after a forenoon spent examining the letters and documents seized in Thursday's raid, and Attorney General Charles D. Newton, left at noon for their homes up-State and will not return until after the extraordinary session of the Legislature. The next hearing of the committee has been fixed for Wednesday, but may be postponed if the Legislature should be engaged in important business on that day.

WANTS MARTENS DEPORTED.

Senator Says Government Enemies Should be Driven from Land.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Deportation of L. C. A. K. Martens and other representatives of the Russian Soviet Bureau in New York, was requested in letters sent today by Senator King of Utah to Attorney General Palmer and Secretary Wilson.

"It is time," Senator King wrote, "that these disturbers of our peace and enemies of our country and civilization should be driven from this land whose hospitality they have so grievously abused.

"There are thousands of Russian aliens in the United States who are enemies to our Government and give support to the Bolshevist autocracy. They are intriguing in every way possible against this Government and seek its overthrow. Certainly the representatives of Lenin and Trotzky who come here avowing their connection with the Bolshevist organization should be deported from the United States. As a matter of fact, if the officials of our Government haev done their duty, they would not, in my opinion, have been admitted to our shores."

SAYS WAR'S ISSUE IS NOT DECIDED

OUR OBLIGATION IS CLEAR

America Forced to Stay in World Welter, and Will Play No Selfish Coward's Part.

SARATOGA, June 13.—At the anniversary reunion dinner tonight of the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute Alumni Association John A. Stewart, ex-President of the association and Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Sulgrave Institution, gave the following conclusions on the international situation formed as the result of observations made during a recent three months' sojourn in Europe:

"That the most conspicuous feature of the personnel of the Peace Conference is the absence from the council of Taft, Hughes, Parker, Lodge, Root, Lane, Eliot, or any member of the United States Senate, whose presence would add needed strength to a partisan American delegation.

"That Bolshevism is the inevitable reaction to a long-standing intolerable condition; and as natural law cannot lie, or run untrue to its inevitable course—action and reaction being equal and opposite—then it follows as irrefutable that the rule which preceded the Bolshevist outbreak was as gross a travesty on orderly and just Government as is the Government of Lenin and Trotzky—the one being only the natural and sure consequence of the other, and both unmitigated evil.

"The first stage of the reaction is passing swiftly; the second stage, covering a period of several years, will develop a congeries of governments out of the uncertain tenure of which will finally come that inevitable compromise with natural circumstances which all conflicting groups in Russia will be obliged to make and which will mark the weakening of reaction and the inauguration of a new government dominating the whole of Russia and absorbing the various divisions now struggling to set up independent States.

"This new government will be in full swing within the next decade, and the danger to the world of this new but limited autocracy, the only kind of government which for many generations can rule all Russia, lies in its probable sympathy with its neighbor State—Germany.

America's Part in the War.

"That the great issue of this war was not fought to a final conclusion; that America was never really in the depths of the war; that we as a people have realized little of its awful meaning; that we went into the war, not to save the world for democracy, but, instinct with race consciousness, to save America, and that the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic idea and the Hun-Tartar idea still oppose each other and will still continue to war against each other till one or the other dominates the world.

"That clearly and unmistakably there emerges out of the present diplomatic conflict in Paris irrefragable proof that race consciousness still absolutely dominates human nature, and there is disclosed at Paris the futility of any expectation that we shall be able to suspend natural laws and preserve the peace of the world by means at odds with every instinct of self-preservation and growth—that is, by means other than overwhelming force.

"That neither Great Britain nor America can escape from their obligation jointly to act to preserve and prolong present peace and bear their share of humanity's burden.

"That America, for economic and spiritual reasons, is in the world welter, and that there she will remain whether she will or no, and play no selfish coward's part.

Want War Made Difficult.

"That the soldiers of the Allies plus the entire allied people, as well as a majority of the American people, want something done in a constructive way, even by way of experiment, that will make war harder to wage and the penalties of unprovoked war-waging severe enough to give an arrogant nation pause, but with this thought there does not seem to be on the part of many people any notion that, either through a League of Nations or by any other means, can war be wholly prevented.

"As regards President Wilson, he is not so weak with the American people as his bitterest enemies seem to believe, nor is he so strong as his sycophants vainly imagine.

"As regards his concept of a League of Nations, I should say that the stronger opinion of both Europe and America is for a League of Nations with a very proper and decided difference in view as to how such a league is to be constituted.

"That Leonard Wood, Judge Gary, and Charles M. Schwab are three of the few men in America who seem to be keeping their head.

"That most of the world seems to have forgotten that, after all, mundane men and things exist under the operation of certain natural laws; that the operation of these laws is inevitable and that among these laws is that of action and reaction, which are equal and opposite; growth and decay, slow growth being sure growth; and cause and effects being not produced without cause.

"That the present unsettled state of the American mind and the hysteria which prevails will not continue long, but that it will take another six months or so before American opinion begins to crystalize and before the sober, second thought of America shall reveal itself with reference of all these great outstanding questions.

"At present a few men are thinking sanely and trying to act wisely. The great mass of us are milling like a stampeded herd of cattle. In the midst of this ruction, of plot and counterplot, of conspiracy to destroy and scheme to upbuild, of demagogic intrigues, of ambitious men reaching out for themselves without regard for others, and the machinations of great social forces striving to accomplish unattainable ends, there stands out as the essential policy of American interest for the good of the world one line of action, which is more important for us and for the world than any other, and that is that the people of the American Republic and the people of the British Commonwealth shall be linked together by bonds of friendship.

"Mighty reactionary forces are subtly at work in Paris, bent upon preventing friendship between them. The dearest wish of these, our bitter, atavistic and uncompromising enemies, is that America and Great Britain may emerge from the Peace Council divided by jealousies and racked by baseless suspicion. If they can encompass this, their machinations will take on a new lease of life and there will be hope for them that some day they can dominate the world.

"Whatever form the League of Nations may take, if there is to be a League of Nations, this can be said of it: That as a practical instrumentality for good to the world it will amount only to that which American-British unity, associated with France and other nations of good-will, make it mean, and not one bit besides. This, to my mind, is the lesson which the great war has taught, and the hope of British-American friendship is the message which our friends in Europe send to America."

PATCH UP THE WALDERSEE.

Naval Experts Believe the Rammed Transport May Be Floated.

Temporary repairs were completed yesterday on the Graf Waldersee, which was grounded on Thursday off Long Beach, L. I., and naval experts had hopes of getting her off the sandbar during the night. Captain E. G. Dennison of the tug Resolute and wreckers of the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking Company did not share the optimism of the naval experts and believed it would be several days before the transport could be floated.

The task of patching the hole torn in the side of the vessel when she was rammed by the cargo steamer Redondo was carried on all Thursday night and completed during the early hours yesterday morning. Divers repaired the rent with several layers of tarpaulin reinforced on the outside with planks. The transport, firmly imbedded in the sandbar, was resting easily in thirty feet of water.

Lieutenant C. R. Gildert, one of the nine passengers on the Waldersee, paid a tribute yesterday to the manner in which Captain Kerrick handled the accident. He said the Captain was the calmest person on the boat immediately after the collision, when for a time it seemed as if the transport would sink. The sight of the commander serenely smoking a cigarette on the bridge as he gave his orders did much to allay the fears of those who ran to the deck after the crash, he said.

It was learned yesterday that a court of inquiry to determine the cause of the accident and fix the responsibility for it would be instituted as soon as the Graf Waldersee reached port.

FIRE AT DU PONT WORKS.

Watchman Burned Giving Alarm—Three Buildings Destroyed.

Special to The New York Times.

ARLINGTON, N. J., June 13.—Fire this afternoon at the local plant of the du Pont powder works here completely destroyed three of the buildings and burned a watchman, James Dougherty, so badly that he had to be taken to a hospital. Officials of the company said that they could not give any estimate of the damage.

Du Pont's Arlington plant chiefly manufactures pyralin, a component of celluloid, and it was in one of the sheds where the material is stored that the blaze was first discovered. Dougherty, who first saw the flames, ran into the burning building to turn in an alarm. He was overcome by the terrific heat of the fire and was with difficulty rescued by workmen.

When the apparatus arrived from the town the fire was burning fiercely, and such great heat was given out by the blazing pyralin that big sheets of iron were hastily erected as a protection to the firemen. The flames spread to three buildings before they were checked. The plant employs about 8,000 persons.

SHOE WORKERS' SHORT TIME

Vote to "Adopt" 44-Hour Week with Present Wages.

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 13.—Fifteen hundred shoe cutters, members of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union, voted today to "adopt" a 44-hour week, with the $36 pay which they now receive for the 48-hour week granted them a month ago. Union officers said the men would put the schedule into effect at once by remaining away from the factories until Monday.

The action followed a meeting at which Directors of the Haverhill Shoe Manufacturers' Association told the men they could not further reduce the working hours and successfully meet competition in the shoe trade.

The cutters demand a schedule of four 9-hour days and one 8-hour day. They are employed in more than fifty factories.

FIND NINE GRENADES IN CHICAGO COAL CAR

SITUATION WELL IN HAND

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13.—Within a few hours after the announcement from Washington that Chicago was the headquarters of a band of terrorists planning bomb explosions in twenty of the principal cities of the country on July 4, nine hand grenades, heavily charged with explosives, were found in a coal car in the yard of the Douglas Coal Company.

Chief of Police Garrity, who handed the grenades over to the Army Intelligence Bureau, said they might be part of the Fourth of July demonstration of radicals.

Philip J. Barry, Acting Superintendent of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, did not regard the situation with such gravity. He declared his bureau had the "Reds" intimidated and that they were quitting Chicago.

"A new concentration," he said, "is in progress in the East. I do not believe the attempted terrorism, if it develops, will extend west of Cleveland. In any event, it is impossible for the radicals to make a move without this department becoming aware of it."

It was learned, however, that the Army Intelligence Bureau is working independently to thwart the threatened violence.

The percussion caps of the grenades found today had been removed and replaced by wooden pegs, held in position by sealing wax. To explode them by striking them against another substance would have been difficult, said Detective Sergeant Thomas Egan, explosive specialist of the Police Department, but subjected to heat they would have detonated with great force.

Joseph Sorello of 3,325 Wellington Street, formerly a member of the 129th United States Infantry, saw the grenades through a hole in the side of the car. He bore one to J. C. Barenek, President of the coal company, who notified the police. Investigation disclosed that all the grenades lay in a pile where they might have been placed through the hole.

They are similar in type to those of the United States Army. Each is capable of killing within a wide radius and could do as much damage as the larger bombs usually used by terrorists.

The coal was sold by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company and shipped from its mine at Coxton, Penn., arriving at the Douglas Company's yards Thursday. There the seal was discovered to have been broken and five tons of coal removed. The grenades lay in the corner of the car from which the coal had been taken.

"Dynamite is often found in coal," said Chief Garrity, "because it is used in mining and sometimes carelessly shoveled into the railroad cars. But there appears no question that the grenades were 'planted' deliberately."

The Chief did not believe, however, that a conspiracy to create terrorism existed in Chicago, though news dispatches from New York and Washington warned that this city was the pivot in the contemplated July 4 demonstration.

An anonymous letter warning the Chief that Chicago shortly will be in the throes of a terrorist movement also left him undisturbed.

ARRAIGN PHILADELPHIA REDS.

Two Suspects Are Held Pending Investigation by Police.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—Paul Olsen and John Wintol, bomb suspects, each 27 years old, were held without bail today.

Detective Mahoney of the "Bomb Squad" presented as evidence a bag containing 125 steel-jacketed dum-dum cartridges, maps and street guides of Philadelphia, Camden, New York, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, in which bombs were exploded recently, a quantity of radical literature, and two phials of suspicious liquid.

It is the intention of the "Bomb Squad" to trace the movements of the men preceding the explosions in this city. Both are aliens.

MORE CLUES IN BOMB PLOT.

Chief Flynn, Back from Washington, Expects Results Soon.

William J. Flynn, Chief of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, returned from Washington last night and announced that "the public may rest assured that we now have something most tangible to work on" in connection with the efforts made two weeks ago to assassinate Attorney General Palmer and other prominent citizens by exploding bombs in their homes. Chief Flynn left here last Wednesday night.

"All that I can say now," said Chief Flynn, "is that we have clues of far greater importance than the shoes or the hat or anything else in the way of clothing worn by the man who tried to bomb the home of Attorney General Palmer and who was himself killed. I cannot now state where these clues lead, nor can I forecast when any arrests may be expected."

Chief Flynn expects to remain in the city several days. Today he will confer with Captain Offley, head of the local bureau of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, the heads of the New York branch of the United States Secret Service, and the local police authorities.

Captain Offley, who directed the work here in the absence of Chief Flynn, said yesterday that the Government had suffered no setbacks in its investigation. It was also said yesterday that the authorities now have evidence which may prove that the mail-bomb conspiracy of the latter part of April and the subsequent effort were not connected. Two distinct investigations, it is known, are under way, one having to do with the solution of the mail bomb plot and the other with the crime committed two weeks ago.

The precautions taken by the Police Department Thursday night to guard the churches of the city by placing uniformed policemen in front of all religious edifices were continued yesterday. It is reported, but not officially verified, that the police received information indicating that there was a plot to destroy or damage some of the principal church buildings in the city.

It was also reported last night that all of the police reserves in the city have received instructions to hold themselves in readiness for emergency service at any time, day or night. The night force of reserves, held in the various stations, are said to have been increased since the latest bomb outrage, and it is understood that the increased force will be continued until the bomb menace is eliminated.

The authorities, Federal as well as State and City, are continuing their work of listing all alien agitators, and the records of all these persons are being carefully gone over and it is probable that within a few weeks the Government may take action leading to the deportation of the worst of these trouble-makers. Several are now on Ellis Island, where they are held pending the outcome of deportation proceedings instituted by the Federal authorities.

DEATH FOR BOMBERS.

Congress Bills Also Provide for Deportation of Alien Slackers.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Bills designed to bring to an end the activities in this country of radical agitators have been introduced by Representative Aswell, Democrat, of Louisiana. One would provide that any person not a citizen of the United States who should attempt to destroy life or property by use of an infernal machine or other means should be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction sentenced to be executed.

Deportation of aliens who withdrew their declarations of intention to become citizens of the United States to escape military service during the war, or who advocate disrespect of the American flag, is provided in other bills.

ORDERLY AT RED'S FUNERAL

Attempts at Demonstrations Over Rosa Luxemburg's Body Fail.

BERLIN, June 13, (Associated Press.)—The funeral of Rosa Luxemburg, the Radical Socialist leader who was killed with Dr. Karl Liebknecht by a mob in Berlin early in the year, was conducted today without disorder.

Numerous Communist deputations, wearing red arm bands, marched in the procession, and the funeral speeches were delivered by Independent Socialist leaders.

The attempt of the greater Berlin Soviet to force a strike for the occasion was unsuccessful.

WANTS 100,000 FARMHANDS.

Kansas Lacks Labor to Harvest Her 200,000,000 Bushels of Wheat.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Clarence Ousley, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, reported to the department today from Kansas City that Kansas needs 100,000 laborers to help harvest the record-breaking wheat crop in that State.

Whether Kansas will save her 200,000,000 bushels—about one-fourth of the country's Winter wheat crop—depends on her ability to get adequate labor within the next few days, Mr. Ousley said.

Synagogue Continues Drive.

The Institutional Synagogue has extended its campaign for $300,000 for another week and by that time it is expected that 2,000 workers will carry it through. The synagogue has raised, to date, about $67,000, which is far short of the large sum necessary to take over its new building at 37 to 43 West 116th Street. One hundred workers will invade the Bronx Exposition and Amusement Park for funds tomorrow. The park officials have promised co-operation.

PRISON FORGERY PLOT WIDESPREAD

Twenty-eight Arrests Have Been Made Thus Far in Various Parts of the Country.

CHICAGO MEN CONFER

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 13.—That some army officers assigned to the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth were involved in the counterfeiting and forgery plot was intimated today by Peter B. Trautzberg, of the local Secret Service office, following the arrest of five men in this city said to be implicated.

The forgery, from which perhaps $100,000 has been realized by the use of names of prominence, involved the printing of 1,000 Sub-Treasury checks, calling for $100 each, as well as checks on private concerns, such as the United Fruit Company. The printing of these was done in the prison printing office at Fort Leavenworth. To get paper on which to print the checks the prisoners had to obtain the best paper. So they wrote to leading supply houses of the country.

On a large number of the checks the name "C. Skelton Williams" was written. These checks passed more readily than any, it being assumed by the recipient that it was drawn at the instance of John Skelton Williams of the United States Treasury.

Twenty-eight arrests have been made thus far, including five in Chicago and one in Mississippi. Eight soldiers are under arrest at the barracks.

"The soldiers themselves," said Drautzburg, "could never have secured these samples. This is where the officers came in, several being of high rank. The prisoners, many of them sent up for minor offences, were merely the tools of the officers and prison authorities. They could not have printed all this paper within the prison walls without the connivance of men higher up. There will be a sensation when the real culprits are trapped."

To get the paper in circulation letter heads were forged. One read: "John Smith, Grocer, Waco, Tex." On this letters were written, purporting to be from a father to his son in the army, stating that he had received the enclosed check from the Government and hoped that it would come in handy. With such letters of "identification" it was not difficult to get the checks cashed.

The men arrested in or near Chicago are Robert Jones and Charles F. Maas of 168 West Hill Street, Arthur Matheson, O. E. Wilson, and Alphonzo Jones, a negro. Maas was a printer at the barracks and set up the forms from which the Government checks were struck off.

Maas confessed today that he served the alleged forgers under threats of death.

The investigation began three months ago, when two prisoners who escaped from Leavenworth were arrested. In their possession the army intelligence men found letters of recommendation printed on the prison press with forged signatures. Drautzburg later arrested Robert Kones, who had escaped from the barracks, and from him obtained the story.

DEFENSE CONTINUES IN FORD LIBEL SUIT

Pro-German Charges Against The Tribune to be Taken Up Next.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., June 13.—Next week, the sixth of the trial of the $1,000,000 libel suit of Henry Ford against The Chicago Daily Tribune, will present a new phase of the defense. This week's testimony for The Tribune presented a picture of anarchy along the Mexican border with intent to show that in opposing the use of United States troops to restore order Mr. Ford justly earned the designation of "anarchist."

The evidence next week will be devoted largely to refuting the Ford contention that The Tribune was pro-German, and to testimony of witnesses said to have personal knowledge of Mr. Ford's views opposing all wars.

The witnesses today were Arthur Ravel, Columbus, N. M.; Mrs. Maura T. Ritchie and Mrs. Susan A. Moore, whose husbands were murdered in the Columbus raid; Thomas B. Holmes, a mining engineer who alone escaped massacre at Santa Ysabel where eighteen of his companions were slain; Dr. Isaac S. Gellbert of Detroit, who identified the dead in the Santa Ysabel outrage; John H. Moore, El Paso cattle dealer; R. P. Johnson of Columbus, and Floyd Gibbons, Director of The Tribune's foreign service at Paris, who was a correspondent along the border in 1915 and 1916.

At adjournment Mr. Gibbons was still on the stand. He will complete his testimony Monday.

To Take Up Ford-Newberry Case.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Chairman Dillingham today called a meeting of the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee for Tuesday, at which time the question of investigating the Ford-Newberry election contest will be considered. A resolution introduced by Senator Pomerene, Democrat, of Ohio for such an investigation is pending before the committee.

supposed to be connected with the crime. Detective Sergeant Thomas Donohue and three other detectives arrested four men at Sixty-sixth Street and Amsterdam Avenue. One of the men drew a revolver, but was quickly overpowered by Donohue and his men. It was reported that these men were being questioned regarding the hold-up, but at the station it was asserted that the men had been arrested in an entirely different case.

Detectives were sent out in all parts of the city with the descriptions of the hold-up men obtained from Ryan and witnesses of the hold-up and flight, but close silence was generally maintained by the police regarding their work.

After questioning the men arrested by Detective Donohue and others, Police Captain Walsh at the Sixty-eighth Street Station said that two of the men had confessed to being implicated in eight robberies within a radius of five miles of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station. He refused to say whether they had made any admissions regarding the Colonial Bank robbery and said that it would not be decided until later whether they would charge the men with complicity in that hold-up. One of the men, according to Captain Walsh, fired his revolver in the struggle with Donohue, narrowly missing him. The two men alleged to have made confessions gave the names of William Johnson and Dennis McGowan.

CLOTHES FOR MEN

"Made in Our Own Shops"

AN EVER widening circle of friends, made not so much by newspaper advertising as by word of mouth praise, is the result of the high standard which we have set for ourselves in making men's clothing.

Such clothing is the peer of any custom tailoring made--indeed it is custom tailoring except in name. The same fine imported and domestic fabrics (the Best & Co. all-wool color tests taken for granted), the same fine draping, the same fine finish, produce that soft custom tailored "feel" that makes men who like to be comfortably unconscious of their clothes and who like comfort, recognize the caste of these at once.

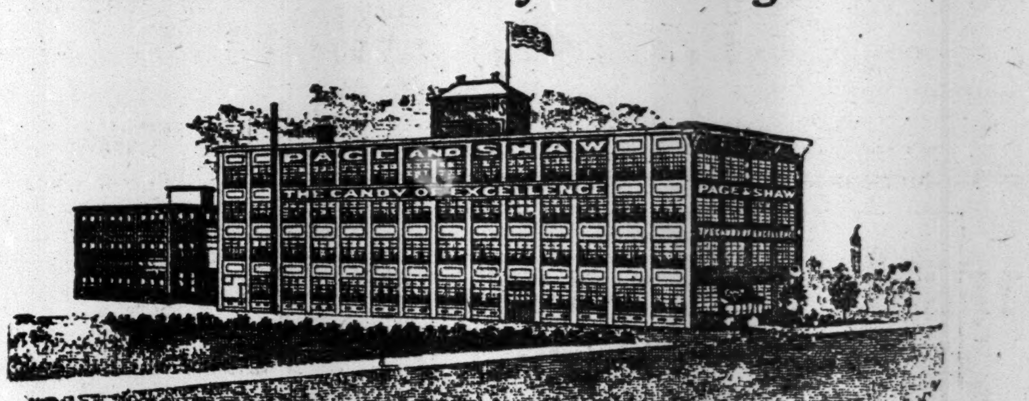
New Chocolate Factory for Page & Shaw



A League of Nations recognizes Page & Shaw's as THE Candy of Excellence. Page & Shaw, Inc., is the only concern operating its own retail stores in four countries, and is the largest retailer of high-grade candy in the world. And the candy was made in America first.

Pure selected chocolate—plus the best of fruits, nuts, honey, cream, etc.—equals progress and expansion. That's the success equation of the great international candy makers, Page & Shaw.

Page & Shaw business is increasing daily. A new company has been incorporated under the Massachusetts laws, called Page & Shaw Chocolate Co., with a capital of $1,000,000, one half common and one half 7% preferred. The confectionery company will retain all of the common stock in the Page & Shaw Chocolate Co., but the preferred stock has been privately subscribed.

A new five-story factory is in the process of erection near the big candy plant of Page & Shaw in Cambridge. At this factory chocolate coating, cocoa and chocolate bars, exclusively for Page & Shaw, Inc., will be manufactured. To such a great extent has the candy business grown, that Page & Shaw is using $1,000,000 worth of chocolate coating a year.

The world-famous confectionery manufacturers will use only a grade of fine selected cholocate beans, which will be exclusive to Page & Shaw, and produce only one grade of chocolate coating and the best and purest chocolate.

The chocolate factory will be the only one in this country making but one quality of coating.

Page & Shaw are most conservative. Every piece of candy must be the best, and the limit of production is that of craftsmanship, and not sales. In over forty years they never have been able to supply the demand.

One of the soldier boys just back from France told a newspaperman that Page & Shaw's was as precious as gold over there. He was 17 months at the front, and once in awhile some of the fellows in his regiment received Page & Shaw's candy from home. "The news always spread like wildfire, believe me," said the lad, "and you never saw anything disappear so fast in your life as that candy."

"When the boys got leave to go to Paris, they nearly all got a box of Page & Shaw's if they could get the coin together and find a box of the precious stuff in the city," the big husky soldier continued.

Since the armistice was signed Page & Shaw, Inc., has secured long term leases of stores in finest locations in Paris and London. Since that time, in response to increasing business it has opened new retail stores in Rochester, New York, and an additional store at 189 Broadway, New York City, making seven in that city alone.

Page & Shaw (Canada), Ltd., the Canadian branch, has expanded also. On May 1 it took possession of a large, new factory in Montreal, to manufacture candy to meet the demands of Canadian and European business and enable the firm to take care of its greatly increased business in Canada. The New Page & Shaw store recently established at 68 Picadilly, corner of Dover street, London, is in the immediate vicinity of St. James Palace, the town residence of the Prince of Wales, also the residence of the Duke of Devonshire, Buckingham Palace, and Marlborough House, the residence of the Dowager Queen Alexandra. The Paris store is opposite the Continental Hotel, and in the tourist and shopping centre of the city.

The outlook for this firm abroad is for unparalleled success, such as it has won in this country. And their high grade candy product is recognized as the standard of quality—Advertisement.

HOUSE RUSHES WORK ON APPROPRIATIONS

ONLY CIVIL BILL REMAINS

Leaders Fear a Second Jam if the Democrats Conduct a Filibuster on Knox Resolution.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—By agreement the House today omitted general debate and began consideration of the Naval Appropriation bill by sections, with the expectation of passing it tomorrow.

The utmost speed will be employed by the House and standing committees to rush through the remaining appropriation bills, which were defeated in the Senate filibuster in the last session. After the naval bill is disposed of the only supply measure of importance before the House will be the sundry civil bill. Less than three weeks remain for the supply bills for the next fiscal year to be enacted by Congress. Fear was expressed today by House leaders that some of the bills defeated in the Senate filibuster in March might be caught in a similar jam if the Democrats in the Senate conduct a filibuster against the Knox resolution.

Great progress was made on the Naval bill today. An unsuccessful attempt was made to increase the appropriation for aviation. The bill carries $15,000,000 for aviation in the navy, which is a reduction of $20,000,000 from the final recommendations by Secretary Daniels. In debate it became apparent that the committee was determined to hold the appropriation down to this amount until some comprehensive aviation program had been agreed upon which would place aviation under one directing head for the army and navy.

Representative La Guardia of New York defended the aviation item, asserting that the Navy Department would not be crippled in its plans, as there would be sufficient money for experimental purposes. Representative Hicks of New York, Chairman of the subcommittee which considered aviation, asserted that sufficient money would be given when definite plans were worked out, and that the smaller amount had been recommended because of the lack of a concentrated aviation policy.

"There should be some concentration in our activities in aviation," said Representative Hicks. "Especially should we wait, before we make large appropriations for aviation, until the time comes when the Secretary of the Navy may present to this Congress some definite plan and a statement of what supplies and equipment are on hand and a definite policy of what they propose to do.

"The appropriation of $15,000,000 in this bill for aviation is small. There are some men on this committee who honestly feel that it is too small, and we respect their judgment. I can only say to my friends in the House that our object in making this appropriation small is not because we lack sympathy with aviation, not because we do not have faith in its future, yet we feel at the present time, with the country staggering under the burdens of the war, that there should be retrenchment in Governmental expenditures.

"We look upon this appropriation only as a 'carrying over' appropriation, only to such time as the Committee on Naval Affairs has had opportunity to make an investigation, and time to outline a broad policy on various aviation activities."

In his denial that army aviation would suffer from reductions in the Appropriation bill, Representative La Guardia said:

"Both the army and navy have failed as yet to get together on a comprehensive constructing program. There is considerable overlapping and work conducted by both departments at double expense where single activities would be more economical. There is too much waste at this time.

"It is pitiful to hear the army say they have no modern machines on hand after spending nearly a billion dollars. The trouble with aviation in this country is that too much money has been put into the hands of incompetent officials.

"Congress is deeply interested in the development of aviation in this country, and with this is proceeding cautiously, limiting expenditures for the next few months, studying the situation and defining the policy to be pursued, and then sufficient funds will be furnished. It is untrue to say that estimates have been slashed to the extent of crippling the progress of aviation."

ACCEPTS SMITH'S OFFER.

J. J. McGrath Will Be Superintendent of Buildings.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 13.—John J. McGrath of Phoenicia, told Governor Smith tonight that he would accept the position of Superintendent of Public Buildings and tomorrow he will take the oath of office.

He succeeds Thomas H. McDonough of Troy. A decision has been postponed until the question of a deputy was cleared up. It is understood that Mr. McGrath is to have his own choice of assistants.

CAMP SITES RIDER PUT ON ARMY BILL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—After a spirited debate the House of Representatives today passed the Army Appropriation bill with the "rider" barring the War Department from spending any money authorized in the bill or appropriated previously for real estate. Objection to this legislative rider was raised by some members from the South, where a large army camp is under construction and on which work will be stopped should the "rider" become law. The bill was finally passed without a roll call.

The bill as passed carries appropriations amounting to $718,000,000, as against $810,000,000 as reported by the committee.

In the fight against the real estate rider today three amendments, seeking to limit the operation of the prohibition to construction upon which the Government is not obligated, were defeated by party votes. The clause was strengthened slightly by a motion offered by Chairman Kahn, which provides that the prohibition shall apply also to further construction of cantonments.

Representatives Garrett of Tennessee, Lever of South Carolina, and Bankhead of Alabama, appealed to the House to refuse to adopt the section which would prevent the fulfillment of obligations entered into by the War Department.

Representatives Kahn of California, McKenzie of Illinois, and Mondell of Wyoming, insisted that the War Department exceeded its authority in buying land during the war and that the time had come when no department of the Government should buy land without specific act of Congress.

VIMY POSTPONES START UNTIL TODAY

Adverse Local Wind and Minor Repairs Cause Change in Plans.

HANDLEY-PAGE IN AIR AGAIN

Alcock and Brown Determined to Start Today—Rivals Apparently Are Undecided.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 13.—A stiff cross wind, sweeping over the rope walk airdrome, prevented the Vickers-Vimy bomber from starting on the transatlantic flight today. Twice during the day Captain John Alcock, the pilot, and Lieutenant Arthur W. Brown, the navigator, decided to go and twice P. M. Muller, the manager of the Vickers expedition, persuaded them to wait. It was feared that the biplane, with a full transatlantic load, would crash if the attempt were made.

Alcock was so fearful that the Handley-Page might get away first at Harbor Grace that he was inclined to chance it. Then, early in the afternoon, the Handley-Page went up on an endurance trial flight and came over St. John's an hour after it was off the ground. This satisfied the Vimy crew that their rival could not start the journey today so they abandoned their own attempt.

Only a sudden weather change, such as today's late report gives no reason to expect, appears as a possible reason for not starting tomorrow, however, and it is as near a certainty as anything connected with this transatlantic venture can be, that Alcock and Brown will be away before another twenty-four hours have elapsed.

Whether they are to fly alone or whether the Handley-Page will race them across is at this hour uncertain. If the big machine behaves perfectly on the trial flight and no last minute jobs develop, there is a bare possibility that it, too, may get away tomorrow. Unless it is tempted away by the Vimy's earlier departure, however, the experts here believe it will not go before Sunday.

Had Alcock gotten off today he would have been forced to start hours later than he wished. At the last minute this morning, after Lieutenant Brown had gone to the flying field in the uniform in which he intends to cross and Alcock had appeared in the best garments he brought with him and both had announced their intention to depart, F. Platford, the Rolls-Royce engineer, decided his twin pets needed a bit more tinkering and so the cowling was pulled off the engines. He spent several hours working at them, and meantime Alcock and Muller decided that the axle shaft in the right chassis, which was bent slightly in landing with a full load during a trial flight in England, might be too weak to stand the strain of starting in an unfavorable wind.

So scaffolding was built under the fuselage and the wings and wheels removed and the axle replaced. Then Brown discovered that the tiny shocks he received in using the wireless during yesterday's trial flight were due to insulation in the apparatus having rotted. That meant he had to go through a two hours' job of replacing this.

Tonight, however, all these odd jobs are successfully attended to and except for putting in a full fuel load, there remains nothing to be done—unless something more is found tomorrow. Alcock and Brown are hoping to retire early tonight in order to get the first full night's sleep they have had in a week, and both are dead set upon going tomorrow. Not only do they realize that another single day's delay probably will rob them of the advantage they feel they still have over the Handley-Page, but they are mindful of the weeks of weather delay which Hawker and Raynham underwent. So both feel that to let the present opportunity slip would amount almost to a calamity for them.

Right now the wind is with them almost all the way across and there appears to be little likelihood that this condition will change within twenty-four hours. The local wind, on the other hand, is likely to shift at any moment, so that they hope that by starting time tomorrow the conditions will be ideal.

The Handley-Page crew at Harbor Grace are exceedingly reluctant about committing themselves as to their own get-away. They rather suggest the intention of not going before Sunday, as Platford fully expects to go there tomorrow for a last look over the engines, which he thinks will require several hours. As this is written, however, the Handley-Page men are unaware that Alcock is so determined to hop off tomorrow, and it may well be that once the word is flashed to them that he is away, they will abandon whatever plans they may have for a final tuning and testing, and fly off after him. On the other hand, realizing that the Vimy is the faster, they may refuse to be stampeded, and decide that their wisest course is to make absolutely ready and choose their own flying time, regardless of what their rivals do.

Late this afternoon transatlantic mail was brought to the Vimy airdrome, all ready for loading tomorrow.

BEATS RUTH LAW'S RECORD.

Baroness de la Roche Flies to an Altitude of 15,700 Feet.

PARIS, June 12.—Announcement is made that the Baroness de la Roche, a widely known French aviator, driving the small biplane in which the late Jules Vedrines landed on the roof of a department store here in January, has reached an altitude of 15,700 feet.

Reports of her flight have been checked by a commission appointed by the French Aero Club, and she now holds the official record for height attained by women fliers. The level she reached is more than 1,000 feet higher than the best record made by Ruth Law, who has heretofore held the altitude title for women.

Aero Club Asks Read to Dinner.

The Aero Club of America yesterday cabled an invitation to Commander A. C. Read, commander of the transatlantic flier NC-4, to be the guest of the club at a dinner to be held on his return to America. At this dinner, Commander Read will receive the gold medal awarded by the Aero Club for especial achievements in aeronautics. Medals of honor will also be presented to the crew of the NC-4. Invitations have also been extended by cable to Commanders John H. Tower and Lieut. Commander P. N. L. Bellinger of the NC-3 and NC-1 to attend the dinner.

PLAN WAR MEMORIAL.

Roslyn Will Raise Fund for Building to Honor Its Fallen Sons.

A memorial in the form of a new community building in honor of the two hundred youths of Roslyn, L. I., and the vicinity who served their country in the world war, seven of whom met death, has been proposed by the people of that village. The site selected for the new building is directly opposite the present Neighborhood House on property owned by the Roslyn Neighborhood Association. It is intended that the memorial building contain an auditorium, gymnasium and bowling alleys.

A War Memorial Building Campaign Committee has been organized and is preparing for the drive which will take place June 22 to 28. Clarence Mackay is Chairman of the General Committee, composed of two hundred representative people of Roslyn. No definite plans will be adopted until the conclusion of the drive, as the character and size of the building will depend entirely upon the manner in which the people of Roslyn respond during the campaign for funds.

CLOSE HEARINGS ON COURTS-MARTIAL

SUGGESTIONS ARE DIVERSE

But All the Witnesses Agree That Trained Law Officers Should Represent Accused.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Court-martial theories based on experiences ranging from that of the private in France to the city prosecutor of Manila, P. I., were heard today at the last open session of the committee which is investigating military justice and courts-martial procedure for the American Bar Association. The suggestions were as varied as the experiences of the witnesses, except that all seemed agreed that trained law officers should be available as counsel for the accused men.

After the hearings closed, the committee, through its Chairman, S. S. Gregory of Chicago, announced that there would be several executive sessions while he and his associates were preparing their report. This report, he said, would be made to the Executive Committee of the Bar Association, but he personally hoped that all the evidence collected by the committee here and in the East would be made available for Congressional use by being printed as a public document.

Major Orville J. Taylor, Jr., who was Assistant Judge Advocate of the 86th Division at Camp Grant and abroad, and who later held the same post for the district of Paris, started the day's proceedings by unqualified indorsement of the present system. He said his experience with regular army officers had convinced him that trained line officers were superior to legally minded men as dispensers of military justice, inasmuch as they understood the men better.

Edward H. White, a Chicago lawyer who served as a Captain in the Spanish war, the Philippine insurrection and whose commanding officers in the Islands were Maj. Gen. (then Lieut. Col.) Crowder, and Capt. (now Brig. Gen.) Edward A. Krueger, did not agree with Major Taylor nor with his former commanders. White said the courts inclined toward harshness and that a Judge Advocate should have power to pass finally upon the legal sufficiency of charges. He maintained that this would not impair discipline, but would rather aid it in that it would save commanders many mistakes and thus increase the morale of units. The system of appointing counsel for the defense is all right in theory, he said, but as carried out is a joke. Competent counsel should be available for defendants at all times, he asserted, and if enlisted men could not afford to pay for civilian counsel the Government should undertake the expense.

The last witness was Joseph Wheless of St. Louis, who, as Judge Advocate for the Central Department, held the rank of Major. He gave a severe indictment of the sentences imposed by courts, and said he had personally reviewed some 600 "examples of the striking incompetency of courts martial to weigh evidence." He argued for permanent presiding officers, terming military courts "ephemeral and haphazard."

DEFENDS COURTS-MARTIAL.

Gen. Scott Says A. E. F. Officers Are Practically Unanimous Against Change.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 13.—Major General Hugh L. Scott, until recently commander of Camp Dix, defended the present court-martial system of the United States Army in an address tonight before the New Jersey Bar Association.

"I have been told by officers returning from France that our officers there and in Germany," General Scott said, "have heard with dismay of the agitation for a change of system. They are practically unanimous that it is not necessary, and is most unfortunate at this time, when even our most sacred and settled institutions are under fire."

CALLS MAN 'MEANEST THIEF'

The title of "the meanest thief in town" was bestowed yesterday by Magistrate Frederick Groehl in the Harlem Court upon Rudolph Vozmick, 40 years old, a milk wagon driver of 169 East Ninety-seventh Street, after he had been arraigned for the theft of a twenty-five-pound chunk of ice from the baby health station at 313 East 112th Street. He was held in $1,000 bail to answer to a charge of petit larceny in the Court of Special Sessions.

For several weeks ice has been disappearing from the boxes at the station, with the result that the milk that has been distributed among the babies has not been up to the standard because of high temperature. Patrolman Kuntz of the Health Squad concealed himself in the station yesterday. When Vozmick called there to deliver milk the policeman said he saw him take the ice from one of the boxes, and followed him to a nearby grocery store, where he offered to sell it. His arrest and arraignment before the Magistrate followed.

Why the bombs were placed on June 2d and what is the reason for this series of outrages making Democratic America resemble the Russia of the Czars and a career on the American bench as hazardous as a Muscovite Grand Duke, is the question which the American press has set itself to answer in earnest. These attempted assassinations may be "the work of a little group of desperate criminals," as the New York Globe has it, or "of a few individuals obsessed with Bolshevistic radical designs who do not recognize the utter absurdity of a reign of terror in this country," as the Philadelphia Record concludes. They may indicate, as Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer says, "nothing but the lawless attempt of an anarchistic element of the popuation to terrorize the country and thus stay the hand of government," which "they have utterly failed to do."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for June 14th, the leading article takes up this latest attempt to disturb the forces of law and order, and by quotation from newspapers and individuals of widely divergent opinions, presents the subject in all its phases.

Men's Suits That Have The Right Style Swing

NO MATTER how fine the materials, how good the workmanship, if the modeling is wrong the suit is a flat failure. No one wants to wear a suit that is conspicuous because of its glaring style-faults.

It's an art, not a mechanical process. Good designers are scarce. That's why apparel that has the right style swing is received so cordially by men who know.

Everything goes by comparison.

Compare our Suits with those made by the exclusive tailor—fit, material and style. Of course, you'll find a wide difference, but the difference will be in the price; but no one will object to a substantial saving.

Men's Spring Suits $35 to $65

Designed and tailored to meet the exacting demands of New York's most particular and careful dressers. Single and double breasted models; quarter, half or skeleton lined. Materials represented include cheviots, tweeds, flannels, unfinished worsteds in many colorings and patterns. All sizes to fit the different builds; regulars, longs, shorts and stouts.

COPELAND DEFENDS HIS WAR ON DRUGS

PHYSICIANS CALL MEETING

Statement Made Opposing Treatment of All Addicts as of One Class.

On the petition of nearly a hundred physicians, members of the New York County Medical Society, a special meeting of the society has been called for the evening of June 23 in the Academy of Medicine, at 17 West Forty-third Street, to discuss the problem of drug consumption in this city. Announcement of the meeting was made yesterday by Dr. D. S. Dougherty of 156 West Seventy-third Street, Secretary of the society.

According to a statement given out yesterday by the Bureau of Narcotic Research, representing in its membership a number of philanthropists and medical men interested in the drug problem, among the latter being several who signed the petition, the question that is interesting the doctors is how far the municipal and State authorities are seeking to interfere with the private practitioner's efforts in curing drug addicts. Any amendments to the sanitary code as have been proposed that will aim to treat as a single class the thousands of persons addicted to the use of narcotics will be vigorously resisted by the doctors, says the bureau's statement.

It also states that, according to figures compiled by the Police Department, there are at present some 250,000 addicts in New York. Of this number only about 15 per cent. are of the criminal or underworld classes, it says, and 212,500 of the total are making every effort to be cured. Commissioner Copeland, says the statement, has so far directed his activities mainly toward the underworld addict and a few dishonest doctors.

A letter was sent to the city's Health Commissioner, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, by Dr. Charles H. Peck, President of the County Medical Society, asking the Commissioner to outline for the Society the changes proposed in the sanitary code with reference to the identification and registration of drug addicts. In his reply, made public yesterday, Commissioner Copeland declared that no such amendments had yet been prepared, and then he went on to warn the Society lest its members place themselves in the position of seeming to oppose the fight against narcotics.

His letter says in part:

"I have noted the much advertised petition of 'more than fifty members of the County Medical Society,' requesting that a special meeting be called at an early date to discuss the narcotic drug laws and the proposed changes in the sanitary code. It is a matter of sincere regret that at this writing I cannot comply with your request. Such amendments to the sanitary code will not be prepared or considered by the Board of Health until the Commission for Narcotic Drug Control has promulgated its rules and regulations—as required by the laws of the State of New York.

"Had the authors of your petition more closely followed the progress of events they would know that the proposed changes to the sanitary code were presented to the Corporation Counsel for his legal opinion at a time when it seemed to be the policy of the State Commission to leave to the Board of Health the problem of controlling the narcotic evil in this city.

"Some of the members of your society who have openly boasted of what they 'will do to Commissioner Copeland' may well review the facts and the sources of authority in the matter of narcotic control. It so happens that the matter under discussion is the law of the land, directly stated in the statute, and, fortunately for the success of the war against this public menace, dependence need not be placed in any amendment to the sanitary code which later might be found to be beyond the powers of the public health authorities to enact.

"Your society can ill afford to shield a practice that was born in the underworld and is the twin brother of every crime in the great catalogue of violence. When you have your special meeting do not forget that the consumption of opium in this country is ten times as great per capita as in any European State. Let it not be said that the New York County Medical Society indorses such prescribing or seeks to embarrass the lawful authorities in protecting the public health against the attacks of charlatans, medical profiteers, or the denizens of the underworld."

AETNA EXPLOSIVES COMPANY, Inc.

To the Bondholders and Preferred Stockholders of Aetna Explosives Company, Inc.:

Hon. Julius M. Mayer, Judge of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, having appointed a Committee to formulate the settlement suggested by him of the conflicting claims of the various classes of security holders of the Company, has approved the Terms of Settlement submitted by said Committee. In furtherance thereof the undersigned, as Readjustment Managers under the Plan and Agreement of Readjustment of Aetna Explosives Company, Inc., dated March 14, 1918, applied to Judge Mayer for his approval of an amendment of said Plan and Agreement so that the same would conform to the provisions of the Terms of Settlement and authorize the undersigned as Readjustment Managers to carry out the provisions thereof with respect to the Preferred Stock and Bonds of the Company deposited with them. Said approval by Judge Mayer was given June 10, 1919, after hearing, on five days' notice thereof and pursuant to Article VIII of said Plan and clauses Third and Eighth of said Agreement of Readjustment of March 14, 1918.

The Amended Plan of Readjustment contemplates that:

(1) The depositing Bondholders, will be entitled, at their option, either to receive for each $1,000. bond and unmatured coupons $850 and accrued interest in cash; or, to exchange their present bonds, par for par, for Series A Six Per Cent. Bonds of Aetna Explosives Company, Inc., maturing January 1, 1931; one-twelfth of the total issue of such Series A bonds to be retired each year commencing with the year ending July 1, 1920; and

(2) Depositing holders of Preferred Stock will receive for each share of preferred stock $20.75 in cash and $75. par value in a Six Per Cent. Series B bond of Aetna Explosives Company. Inc. maturing January 1, 1941; one-twenty-fifth of the total issue of Series B bonds to be retired each year commencing with the year ending July 1, 1920. Series B bonds will be secured in like manner but will be junior in lien to Series A bonds.

Hon. George C. Holt and Hon. B. B. Odell, as Receivers of the Company, have agreed, pursuant to an order of Court, that when there shall have been deposited Preferred Stock and Bonds to an amount approved by the Court, and the necessary votes of the stockholders shall have been secured to authorize the Company to issue said Series A and Series B bonds, and to make the exchange provided for, the Receivers will pay to the depositaries the cash payments above provided. At such time the Company is to deliver to said depositaries the Series A and Series B bonds as above provided. The payments of cash and the delivery of the new securities to the depositors by the depositaries, above provided, will be carried out under the direction of the Readjustment Managers, subject to the order of the Court

The time within which holders of preferred stock and bonds can participate in the Amended Plan of Readjustment is limited, and it is important that deposits of Bonds and Preferred Stock be made at the earliest date possible. When the readjustment shall have been carried out, the Receivers are to be discharged, and the Company can proceed with the development of its business.

All deposits of Preferred Stock and Bonds under the Amended Plan of Readjustment should be made to the depositaries on or before July 1, 1919. We urge all Bondholders and Preferred Stockholders who have not already deposited their Bonds and Preferred Stock with the depositaries, under the Plan of March 14, 1918, to deposit their bonds immediately with BANKERS TRUST COMPANY, 16 Wall Street, New York, N. Y., depositary for the Bonds under the Amended Plan and Agreement, and to deposit their Preferred Stock with COLUMBIA TRUST COMPANY, 60 Broadway, New York, N. Passaic Principal Charges That Children Come to School Under Their Influence.

TRACES EVIL TO HOMES

PASSAIC, N. J., June 13.—As a result of a protest that school children in Passaic were sold a drug and came to school under its influence, the Passaic Board of Health today, on motion of Dr. Joseph Rubacky, one of its members, passed a resolution calling upon the State Board of Health to prohibit the sale of the drug except by prescription.

The matter was brought to the attention of the board by a protest of Miss Alma Smith, principal of the Passaic schools, who charges that children came to school under the influence of what was thought to be intoxicating liquors. An investigation disclosed that poor mothers of the east side of the city were in the habit of using certain "drops" to stimulate them while they worked in the factories at night and did their work at home by day. The investigation showed that the children appropriated the "drops" to themselves.

James Donnelly, Overseer of the Poor, declared today that he had conducted an investigation as to the use of the "drops" and discovered that the fault for the use of the intoxicant lay with the husbands of the wives addicted to the use of the "drops," many of whom were "lazy" and would not work. Small quantities of the "drops," he said, could be obtained at drug stores for 10 cents. Analysis showed that the "drops" contained seven parts ether and three parts alcohol.

City Commissioner Abram Prieskel and Judge Thomas P. Costello, after a conference today, made the following statement: "If the drug is as harmful as it seems we are going to take steps to have the State control its sale, so that it can only be dispensed by prescription."

Counsel for Charities Association Opposes Plea for Stay.

When the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court heard yesterday the application by Mr. and Mrs. John Feinbloom for stay in the proceedings instituted by the Nursery and Childs' Hospital for the return of Bobby Ashe, the foundling whom the Feinblooms wished to adopt, but were directed to return to the institution, counsel for the State Charities Aid Association, which opposes the adoption, made known the reason for its opposition.

Albert de Roode, the counsel, said that Mrs. Feinbloom had failed to furnish satisfactory evidence that she had been divorced by her first husband, De Royce Patrick, and that she had been legally married to Feinbloom. The Appellate Division reserved decision in the case.

SAYS CRIME WAS FORCED.

Michael Cassalino, who is on trial for the murder of Mrs. Helen Holbach at South Ozone Park on Jan. 20 of this year, said in a confession which was read to the jury before which he is being tried in Justice Callaghan's court in Brooklyn, that he was compelled to commit the crime by an Italian known as "Little Joe," who was alleged to have compelled unwilling acquaintances to commit crimes whenever he needed money.

Cassalino said that he had a wife and family, was employed and living quietly, shortly before the murder, when "Little Joe" told him that he must raise $100. He said that the revenge of the little man, when his commands were disobeyed, were so terrible that he did not dare refuse. Cassalino said that he made inquiries to find out where a hold-up might be carried out successfully, and recommended the robbery of Joseph Holbach's hotel and bar at South Ozone Park.

In company with "Little Joe" and several others, he said that he went to the place and stayed till closing time when they drew revolvers on the proprietor, who, instead of holding up his hands, started to fight. Holbach was shot and his wife, who came running to help him, was shot and killed by Cassalino.

Before he died Holbach said that he had recognized a man named Ricci in the crowd, and urged the police to look for him and his associates. Ricci had disappeared, but an acquaintance of his told of seeing Cassalino with him, and a search resulted in the latter's arrest at Fairport, N. Y., by Detective Sergeant Michael Fiaschetti. Cassalino testified yesterday that originally he only meant to ask Holbach for a loan of $100 for his friend, "Little Joe," but the expedition developed differently from what he expected.

"You went there with all these men to get the loan, did you?" asked Justice Callaghan.

"Yes," replied Cassalino. Counsel in the case will sum up this morning and the case will probably go to the jury in the afternoon.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 13.—Two more prisoners escaped from the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth today, making eighteen that have slipped away this week. The latest two had on uniforms. They engaged Harry Schmidt, a taxicab driver, to take them to Atchison. They hit Schmidt later, threw him out of the car and started on alone. Many of the prisoners have been members of the disciplinary battalion, an honor organization, run in connection with the military prison. Many of them were sent from France under long sentences and are dissatisfied because they are held, while conscientious objectors are released.

YANKS DEFEATED BY PASSED BALL

RUSSELL TWICE FANS COBB

Huggins's Men Gain an Early Lead, but Loose Pitching Enables Tigers to Overtake Them.

The Detroit Tigers managed to coax a ball game away from the Yanks up at the Polo Grounds yesterday, which gave them one out of the series of four. To win the wrangle at 6 to 5, the Michiganders had to wallop a large party of Huggins's pitching staff. They slammed Shore, Russell, Mogridge, and Quinn during the long matinee and then didn't get out in front until the ninth. The winning ru was scored by Harry Heilman on a passed ball.

It was one of those ball games where nobody knew where they were at. The Yanks gobbled up four runs in the first inning and this should have been enough to win any ball game. Russell was pitching in the seventh when Detroit tied the score. When he wasn't wild he was easy to hit and between these two faults Russell was batted out of the game, when the Tigers had made the count 5 all.

The Yanks had Willie Dauss on the gallop in the first inning and it looked as if they could have scored a basketful of runs. With the bases overflowing with runners anxious to score, Manager Huggins of the Yanks ordered the squeeze play a couple of times. Just whether this was the time to resort to the squeeze play is a question, but it will probably be settled by the Peace Conference just as soon as they can get to it. Some of the grandstand managers ventured the opinion that more runs could have been culled without the squeeze.

Yankees Start Well.

Johnny Loftus, the jockey, saw the game, and he thinks that Huggins gave the Yanks a poor ride. After the barrier went up and the Yanks got away flying, Loftus thought that Huggins should have given the Yanks their heads and let 'em gallop. At it was he held them in check. Johnny says that if the Yanks had not been under a pull in the first quarter they would have romped home.

Some of the fans tried to blame the defeat onto the fact that yesterday was Friday, the thirteenth. If there was any jinxing, the Yanks did it themselves. Dauss has always given the Yankees more or less trouble, but he was no mystery yesterday. After Vick died at first in the opening skirmish, Peck singled to centre and went down on Baker's single to left. Lewis whacked a double to left and sent Peck home and Baker to third.

Dauss walked Pipp intentionally and filled the bases. It was at this auspicious moment that Huggins wig-wagged the signal for the squeeze. Pratt tapped the ball to Dauss, who quickly tossed it home for a force-out, but Stanage muffed the ball and Baker was safe at the plate. Bodie sent a Texas Leaguer over back of first close to the foul line and Lewis scored. Again Huggins called for the squeeze. Hannah tapped a bunt to first and was out to Heilman, unassisted, while Pipp scored. Shore fanned for the third out.

The Tigers got their first tally in the second. Heilman singled to left and Flagstead beat out a bunt. Jones walked and filled the bases. Stanage shot a hard grounder through short which Peck was only able to knock down, Heilman scoring on the play. Flagstead overran third base and was out before he could get back. After Ellison singled off Shore in the third, Russell took his place on the mound. Russell made himself solid with the populace at once by striking out Ty Cobb. He also fanned Heilman.

Pratt Starts a Rally.

In their half of the third the Yanks gathered another run. With two out, Pratt was safe on Heilman's muff and he scored on a two-bagger to left centre by Bodie. On an attempted double steal Bodie was out by a city block. The Yanks all rushed at Umpire Dineen and all at one time called his attention to the fact that Dauss had made a balk. Dineen sent them back to the bench to cool off.

Russell fanned Cobb again in the fifth, but in the sixth Detroit began to show signs of life. Veach got a hit to short and Heilman walked. Flagstead singled to centre, scoring Veach. Heilman was nipped at third and Jones fanned. Stanage died at first for the third out.

In the seventh Chic Shorten batted for Dauss and got a hit to second. Young fouled to Hannah and Ellison died at first. Russell lost control and walked Cobb and Veach, filling the bases. Heilman singled to centre, scoring Shorten and Cobb. Flagstead got another hit, and when Jones singled back of second, Veach scored with the tieing run. Mogridge succeeded Russell and Stanage went out at first, ending the inning.

Veach singled in the ninth and was forced by Heilman. Flagstead doubled to left, sending Heilman to third. Quinn then came to the rescue, and with Cunningham at the bat, Hannah missed one of Quinn's out-shoots and Heilman came home on the passed ball with the winning run.

DODGERS DROP ANOTHER.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, June 13.—The Robins lost their ninth straight contest here this afternoon, when the Pirates trimmed them by a score of 3 to 0. The game was called at the end of the eighth to allow the visitors to catch a train.

Larry Cheney opposed Cooper on the mound. The Pirates started scoring early, getting a run in the first inning. It was the result of Terry's single and steal of second and Stengel's hit to centre field. After that Cheney settled down and not until the third frame did the Pirates threaten to add to their total.

In the third Cheney walked Southworth and Cutshaw sacrificed, Saier drew a pass, but the Pirates' chances to score were spoiled when the double steal failed, Southworth being caught going into third.

The Pirates came through in the sixth frame and scored again. Stengel and Boeckel each made singles, and while Southworth was hitting into a double play Stengel reached third and scored on Cutshaw's single over second. In the seventh inning Bigbee, after two were out, drew a pass and scored when Terry hit to deep left for two bases.

REDS BUNCH HITS AND BEAT GIANTS

Cincinnati Batsmen Reach Causey in Fifth and Down New York by 3 to 2 Score.

CINCINNATI, June 13.—Friday, June 13, proved to be an unlucky day for the Giants, and particularly for Cecil Causey, the sensational young pitcher of the New York Club. The Giants lost to the Reds by a score of 3 to 2, and Causey tasted defeat for the first time this season, after winning eight straight games.

Causey was not hit hard at any time, but the Reds bunched three of their blows in the fifth inning, and these, with an error by Heinie Zimmerman, who only yesterday had saved the Giants with his remarkable fielding, cost Causey and the Giants the contest. These hits and the error netted Cincinnati three runs, enough to win.

Kopf opened the inning with a single to centre. Bressler attempted to sacrifice and bunted the ball toward Zimmerman. The Bronx athlete raced in for the ball and, turning to make a force play at second, hurled the ball to centre field. Kopf raced on to third and Bressler was safe at first on the play.

Wingo then raised a sacrifice fly to Burns, and Kopf scored. Sallee sacrificed, and Rath followed with a slashing double to right which sent Bressler home. Daubert singled to centre, scoring Rath with the run that won the game.

Up to that time Causey had pitched with his usual effectiveness. He had kept the hits well scattered, and at no time had been seriously in danger of being scored on. As it was, but for the error by Zimmerman he would have escaped, for Zim had plenty of time to throw out Bressler at first, and with a man out and a run saved Daubert would not have come to bat and made the hit which scored Rath.

Opposed to Causey was Slim Sallee, one-time Giant. The Giants scored their first run in the fifth, when Kauff opened with a two-base smash and continued right on to the home plate when Neale made a wild heave of the ball. McCarty singled, after two were out in this inning, but was forced by Causey.

In the seventh, after two were out, Zimmerman singled and Fletcher followed with a safe hit to centre. McCarty singled to centre, scoring Zim. King batted for Causey in this inning and Rube Benton went to the box in the next frame.

PETER PIPER TAKES RICHMOND HANDICAP

The Greentree Stable, a formidable contender in cross-country events, scored one of its rare victories on the flat at Jamaica yesterday when the fleet Peter Piper ran a field of crack sprinters dizzy and captured the Richmond Handicap at five and a half furlongs that was the feature of the card. Mrs. Payne Whitney, the owner of Peter Piper, who has been active in Red Cross work, spared the time to see the son of Peter Pan towrope the field, but apparently the big charity had been taking up her attention earlier in the day, for she was attired in the uniform of the Red Cross.

Peter Piper ran the distance in 1:05 1-5, and missed by only a fifth of a second equaling the track record established by Lucullite at the Spring meeting. S. C. Hildreth's Out The Way, another son of Peter Pan, was favorite for the Richmond, which attracted a field of nine, but Lyke on Out The Way was not nearly as alert at the start as was Knapp, and had to make a stern chase of it all the way.

Even Peter Piper was outrun at the start by the outsider My Friend, but at the end of the back stretch he had taken command and stepped along so lively that he ran the first half mile in 46 4-5 seconds. Lyke hustled Out The Way along so that he was in second place on the turn for home and only a length behind the leader. Peter Piper had plenty of reserve, however, and at the eighth pole he shot away to win easily by three lengths, with Out The Way two lengths in front of Ima Frank. The Greentree Stable victories are always popular and an ovation awaited Peter Piper when he returned to the stand.

Loftus did not have a mount yesterday and Lyke usurped the riding honors when, by a vigorous finish, he landed the Beach Stable's Pastoral Swain winner by a neck from Crystal Ford in the second race, at a mile and seventy yards. It was a hot duel all the way, with Crystal Ford holding the inside position and saving ground. Even after Pastoral Swain had drawn up on even terms in the stretch, Crystal Ford forged to the front again, but Lyke outgeneraled Johnson in the last fifty yards and was just able to gain the verdict with Pastoral Swain.

Only two favorites were successful, the greatest upset coming in the closing number, for two-year-old fillies, in which there was a great plunge on Mrs. E. M. Brown's Gloria France. Walter J. Salmon's Betty J. rushed to the front from the inside position and the public choice never could get near her, being beaten by three lengths. The Cuban owner, A. H. Diaz, had his colors carried for the first time this season by Just Fancy, the filly that the Cuban bought for the benefit of the Red Cross Fund. Just Fancy proved herself a shifty miss and finished third, half a length behind Gloria France.

GREAT CARD FOR JUMPERS.

United Hunts Races at Belmont Terminal This Afternoon.

Local racegoers who prefer steeplechases and long distance races to plain speed tests are likely to be found at Belmont Park Terminal this afternoon instead of Jamaica. The United Hunts Racing Association has arranged a fine card for decision over the stiff obstacles at the terminal, with the Double Event Steeplechase Handicap at two miles the feature.

There are eight nominators for this event, and each owner will be allowed to start only one of the two he has named. The Brook is at the head of the list, with 170 pounds to carry, and nearly every other really good jumper in training is included in the entries.

Horses well known on the regular tracks have entered the flat races, and good sport is assured both over the obstacles and over the smooth turf.

GOLF TITLE IS WON BY MARION HOLLINS

PLAY THREE EXTRA HOLES

In the most protracted final round match in the history of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, Miss Marion Hollins of Westbrook defeated Mrs. W. A. Gavin of South Shore, 1 up, after three extra holes, at the Arcola Country Club yesterday. It was one of those matches which kept the gallery in a state of suspense, first one contestant and then the other apparently having victory within her grasp.

If an early advantage counts for anything, Miss Hollins should have been returned a handy winner. She captured three out of the first four holes, thereby becoming 3 up, a lead which she also had at the turn. On the homeward journey the English player began to slowly but surely reduce the gap. She won the tenth in a par 4 and the fifteenth in 3, a stroke under par. A 15-foot putt tells the story there.

At the next hole Mrs. Gavin had to call upon all her resourcefulness to save a half. Both had fallen short of the green on their seconds, but Mrs. Gavin then overapproached to trouble. The ball came to rest on the side of a trap to an awkward hanging lie and she did exceedingly well to lay the rubber core to within ten feet of the cup. Miss Hollins had laid her fourth dead, so it was a trying moment for Mrs. Gavin, but she holed the putt for a 5.

Both Players in Trouble.

They had sort of sympathetic golf at the seventeenth, playing the hole in much the same way. For instance, both pulled their drives to the rough, and their seconds from the long grass left them short of the green. They pitched on with their thirds and halved in 5.

To the home hole both blundered, Miss Hollins's friends letting up a groan when the Westbrook girl sliced her drive out of bounds. On the other hand, Mrs. Gavin, after a good drive, topped her second shot, so that both had to play short of the bunker on their thirds. Miss Hollins then loomed as a likely winner by reaching the green nicely on her fourth, whereas her opponent's stopped a few feet short of the green. All Miss Hollins needed then was two gentle putts to win the match, as Mrs. Gavin failed to get dead on her short chip.

Miss Hollins, however, apparently was too anxious, for after standing over her ball for half a minute or so, never gave it a chance when she did hit it. It stopped several feet short of the cup, and she missed the next. Mrs. Gavin got her putt down, thereby winning the hole in 6 to 7 and squaring the match.

To the first extra hole Miss Hollins had the better drive, and a long cleek shot left her ball only a few yards short of the green. Mrs. Gavin was much further from the green after her second, and she barely reached the putting circle in 3. She got a half in 6, however, as her opponent again took three putts after being nicely home in 3.

Miss Hollins Tops Drive.

It looked all over when Miss Hollins topped her drive from the next tee, while the other got away a good ball. Mrs. Gavin, however, had a poor second shot so that she was no better off than her opponent, who made a fine recovery from the rough. Miss Hollins also brought off a beautiful third shot, the ball stopping on the green about twenty feet to the right of the pin. On the like, Mrs. Gavin was a trifle short, but laid her approach putt stone dead and they halved in 5.

To the third extra hole Mrs. Gavin made a complete hash of things. She pulled her tee shot to the long grass, and instead of pitching the next nicely on the green as many expected she would, the Englishwoman failed to get hold of the ball cleanly and it only went a few yards. From there she half topped her third, the ball stopping at the edge of the green. In the meantime Miss Hollins, who had fallen fifty yards short of the green on her tee shot, laid the next to within eight feet of the cup, so that after Mrs. Gavin missed her long try for a 4, she conceded the hole and the match.

The summary:

RICKARD DECIDES ON 20-FOOT RING

Willard and Dempsey Agree to Proposal to Save Space for Press Seats.

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 13.—Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will meet in their world's heavyweight championship contest on July 4 in a twenty-foot ring instead of in the regulation twenty-four-foot inclosure. This announcement was made by Tex Rickard, promoter of the contest, tonight after he had obtained the consent of both men. Rickard said that reducing the size of the ring will enable him to save space at the ringside to install additional press seats, the demand for which has exceeded all expectations.

"You can make it fifteen feet square for all I care," was Dempsey's reply to Rickard's proposal.

When Willard heard of the challenger's remarks he said:

"It doesn't make any difference to me what size you make the ring. The smaller it is the harder it will be for Dempsey to get away from me."

Willard did his boxing for the first time today attired in fighting trunks Instead, a list of referees who in the worn heretofore, and there was a murmur of admiration from the crowd of 1,500 persons when he climbed through the ropes.

When Willard started tugging at the weights, the crowd surged toward the ring to carefully inspect his waistline, which has been concealed from the public eye for three years. There was a slight roll of fat just above the kidneys, but Willard explained that he can easily remove this poundage in the remaining three weeks of his training period. Willard scaled 252 pounds after the workout, and said he expected to enter the ring weighing about 245 pounds.

Dempsey did not don the gloves today, but went through his paces before a big crowd. His damaged eye may be sufficiently healed to permit boxing Sunday.

BOARD FAILS TO NAME REFEREE

Several Candidates Are Considered at Meeting Here.

The Board of Boxing Control did not name a referee for the Willard-Dempsey bout at its meeting here yesterday. Instead a list of referees who in the opinion of the board possess the requisite qualifications was prepared and will be submitted to the principals of the July Fourth bout.

A selection will be made from the men who are agreeable to the pugilists. Considerable mystery was thrown about the conference, the secretary of the board refusing to divulge the place of meeting, members present, or the names of prospective referees considered.

FISHER TO COACH HARVARD.

Captain of 1911 Football Team Named to Succeed Haughton.

BOSTON, June 13.—Robert T. Fisher, Captain of the Harvard football team of 1911, will coach the Crimson eleven next Fall. Fisher, who is in business here, said today that he hoped the return of Harvard undergraduates from service would make available good material for Harvard's post-war team.

Fisher succeeds as coach Percy D. Haughton, who has directed Harvard gridiron activities for the past decade. Haughton refused to consider returning as coach because of the pressure of business interests. Leo Leary, Haughton's principal assistant, was not available for a similar reason, and the athletic board turned to more recent graduates to find coaching material. Fisher's team of 1911 played a scoreless tie with Yale.

The new coach said it was probable that the so-called "Haughton system" would be continued under his regime and he hoped to have the assistance of several of the men who were part of the Haughton coaching corps.

RICE AND MORSE VICTORS.

Beat Bassford and Pianisani for New England Tennis Title.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 13.—L. B. Rice and J. B. Morse of Yale won the New England lawn tennis championship in doubles here late this afternoon, when they defeated H. H. Bassford and F. Pianisani, both of the New York Tennis Club, at the Hartford Golf Club. The score was 6—2, 8—6, 4—6, 6—2.

Rice and Morse qualified for the finals by defeating H. H. Hyde and L. H. Wiley of Hartford in the semi-final round earlier in the day. Pianisani and Bassford qualified yesterday.

MISS BJURSTEDT DEFEATED.

Loses in Doubles with Mrs. Weaver as Partner.

The defeat of the women's national champion, Miss Molla Bjurstedt, in partnership with Mrs. S. Fullerton Weaver, by Miss Florence Ballin and Mrs. De Forest Candee was the feature of the invitation tennis tournament at the Ardsley Club yesterday. The upset came in the semi-final round and puts the winners in the final bracket today against Mrs. L. G. Morris and Miss Helen Gilleaudeau, who yesterday eliminated Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. Nathalie Farlee in straight sets, 6—2, 12—10. The finalists in the singles are Miss Clare Cassel and Miss Nathalie Browning, the former, winning from Miss Helene Pollak yesterday at 8—6, 6—0, while the latter upset the strong driving game of Miss Florence Ballin in three sets, 6—1, 3—6, 6—1.

Coming back from this defeat without visible signs of weariness, Miss Ballin became the heroine of the big doubles match of the day, and played the game of her life in achieving the significant victory over the champion and her partner. Taking long chance, and fighting hard for every point, Mrs. Candee and Miss Ballin took the lead by landing the first set, 6—4. It required the most brilliant playing on the part of Miss Bjurstedt and her partner to square the match at 7—5. But instead of taking the situation seriously, the champion seemed inclined to make light of the rubber, and she quickly paid the penalty for her carelessness. Playing on with even more dash than in the first set, Miss Ballin and Mrs. Candee duplicated the score of 6—4 and captured the match in a sensational finish.

FAST AUTOS ARE READY.

Twelve Noted Drivers to Pilot Cars at Sheepshead Bay Today.

The International Sweepstakes at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway this afternoon will bring together twelve of the most daring drivers and the speediest machines of two continents. In the four events that make up the afternoon's program, for which Manager James J. Johnston is offering a purse of $35,000, America and Europe will renew the automobile speed controversy that was started at the recent sensational 500-mile race in Indianapolis.

The sweepstakes will be decided at ten, twenty, thirty, and fifty miles. Ralph De Palma, holder of all world's marks up to twenty miles, made last February when his ponderous machine flew over the Florida course at a rate of 149 miles an hour, rules a slight favorite over the competing field. But it is considered likely that when the brilliant Italian-American goes to the post this afternoon he will be an even money favorite with Resta, Ira Vail, Tommy Milton, and Ralph Mulford.

De Palma always drives his best in sprints, but the other drivers have speeded up their cars during the last three weeks, and in the elimination tests every entrant passed the required speed of 106 miles an hour. Some of them touched the 116-mile an hour mark. De Palma yesterday breezed around the course at a rate of 116 miles an hour and didn't seem to be doing his best.

The following are the entries for the International Sweepstakes:

Driver.	Car.	Nationality.
R. De Palma	Packard	Italian-Amer.
D. Resta	Special	Italian.
T. Milton	Deusenberg	American.
Ira Vail	Hudson Spec.	American.
R. Mulford	Frontenac	American.
L. Chevrolet	Frontenac	French.
Joe Thomas	Mercer	American.
Ray Howard	Peugeot	American.
J. M. Reynolds	Frontenac	American.
Dave Lewis	Meteor	American.
D. Hickey	Stockle	American.

NEW YORK NET TEAM LOSES TO QUAKERS

Wright and Alexander Defeated in Singles and Doubles Matches for Church Cup.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 13.—New York's lawn tennis team, holders of the Church Cup for intercity matches, was eliminated from this year's play by Philadelphia on the Longwood Cricket Club courts this afternoon. The Philadelphia team won four of the six matches in singles and took the odd in three doubles for a final 6 to 3 score, and tomorrow will meet the Boston team in the final round. New York had the most experienced team, and its defeat was a genuine surprise.

Beals Wright and Fred Alexander, Davis Cup contestants a number of years ago, were beaten as a doubles team, and each also dropped a match in singles. Stanley Pearson defeated Wright, 6—3 and 6—2, while Craig Biddle made a great finish in a three-set match against Alexander. The latter won the first set, 10—8, and Pearson the second at 7—5. In the third Alexander got away splendidly and led at 4—2 on games. Pearson then came through with a rush for four straight games, the set and the match.

Alexander and Wright also played three sets in their doubles match against Wallace Johnson and Biddle, winning the first, 6—3, but were outplayed in the next two sets, which resulted 6—2 and 6—1 for the Philadelphia opponents.

A. D. Thayer played some brilliant tennis to defeat Theodore R. Pell after losing the first set, 6—1. Howard Voshell and Alrick Man were New York's winners in singles, while Voshell, paired with Merrill Hall, counted against Tilden and Hawk in doubles.

The Boston team tomorrow will be R. Norris Williams, Nat Niles, Harry Johnson, G. C. Caner, Dick Harte, and R. C. Seaver. G. P. Gardner will replace Seaver in the doubles.

The summary:

Singles.—W. T. Tilden, 2d, Philadelphia, defeated W. Merrill Hall, New York, 6—1, 6—4; Howard Voshell, New York, defeated Wallace Johnson, Philadelphia, 8—6, 6—3; Craig Biddle, Philadelphia, defeated Frederick B. Alexander, New York, 8—10, 7—5, 6—4; Stanley Pearson, Philadelphia, defeated Beals C. Wright, New York, 6—3, 6—2; Alrick Man, New York, defeated P. B. Hawks, Philadelphia, 6—0, 6—3; A. N. Thayer, Philadelphia, defeated Theodore R. Pell, New York, 1—6, 6—3, 7—5.

Doubles.—Wallace Johnson and Craig Biddle, Philadelphia, defeated Beals C. Wright and Frederick B. Alexander, New York, 3—6, 6—2, 6—1; W. Merrill Hall and Howard Voshell, New York, defeated W. T. Tilden 2d, and P. B. Hawks, Philadelphia, 7—5, 6—2; Stanley Pearson and A. D. Thayer, Jr., Philadelphia, defeated Alrick Man and Frank B. Anderson, New York, 6—2, 6—3.

BINZEN IN SEMI-FINAL.

Defeats Manchester in Metropolitan Net Tourney.

Elliott H. Binzen became the fourth semi-finalist in the Metropolitan-Bronx County championship at the New York Tennis Club yesterday afternoon, defeating Herbert H. Manchester of the University Heights Club in straight sets, 6—4, 6—3. The winner was never in real danger, although he had to fight hard for the points against the superior court tactics of his experienced opponent.

Doubles and the annual husbands' and wives' event held the courts most of the afternoon. In the former two teams advanced to the semi-final round, Dr. William Rosenbaum and Fred C. Baggs, the present Metropolitan champions, and H. W. Forster and A. Von Bernuth of Columbia University. The titleholders ran into unexpected trouble in winning from Sigmund Spaeth and Harry Sachs at 6—4, 6—4. The losers led at 4—2 in the opening set and eventually lost on errors after having all the better of the argument. Trailing at 3—5 on the second, with Dr. Rosenbaum's service in command at 40—love, they rallied and pulled out the game, but again errors were their undoing, and the champions closed out the match in the nick of time.

Forster and Von Bernuth won their bracket by the more one-sided scores of 6—3, 6—1, although facing the strong West Side combination of R. J. Gatcomb and Dr. E. W. Davenport.

POLO MATCH GOES TO SANTA BARBARA

Carrying out a smashing attack in which the principal part was played by William Tevis, Jr., the Santa Barbara polo four yesterday trounced the Cooperstown quartet in the deciding game of the Meadow Brook Club's tournament for the Wreatley Cups at Westbury, L. I. The score was 10 goals to 3.

This victory gave the Santa Barbara players the tournament. Each member of the team will receive a cup.

Tevis, playing at No. 3 position, was the biggest factor in the success of the Santa Barbara team. He showed the way to his teammates on the offense and with expert horsemanship and excellent use of the mallet drove home five of his team's goals. On the defense, too, Tevis was effective, for he turned back many well planned attempts at goal by the Cooperstown players.

The Cooperstown quartet was completely outclassed. In only two periods did its defense hold. These periods were the second and fifth, when there was no scoring for either side. The Cooperstown total at the finish included two goals which the team had been conceded by handicap. J. A. Stahl and F. H. Post, playing Nos. 1 and 2 positions, respectively, registered goals for the defeated quartet, but one of the markers was nullified through penalties inflicted for fouls by D. S. Iglehart, who played back.

Tevis started his team off in the lead with a brace of goals in the opening period. These tallies evened up for the handicap they had conceded their rivals. Before the period ended G. A. Galen, at No. 2, added another goal, placing Santa Barbara in front. Thereafter the issue was never in doubt.

The Cooperstown defense tightened in the second period and many attempts at goal by the Santa Barbara players were frustrated through excellent use of the stick. This defense kept the Cooperstown team so busy, however, that there was little opportunity for a productive offensive.

SANTA BARBARA, 10.	COOPERSTOWN, 3.
No. 1—George Moore.	No. 1—J. A. Stahl.

Handicaps—Santa Barbara, 9; Cooperstown, 7. Goals—Moore, Galen, (3,) Tevis, (5,) Boeseke, (2,) Stahl, Post. Penalties—Galen, ½ off for foul; Tevis, ½ off for foul; Iglehart, 1 off for two fouls. Referee—Devereux Milburn. Timekeeper and scorer—J. Eugene Geer. Time of periods—Seven of 7½ minutes each.

STRIKING FOR THE ENEMY.

The Germans have been beaten, but Germany still exists; her leaders are striving to get off as easily as possible; some of them hope that the international situation will presently enable them to recover what they have lost in this war, and perhaps to win some of the things for which they began the war. These things ought to be obvious to anybody, yet in France and in America there are men who behave as if Germany did not exist.

On Monday the French mine workers are going out on strike. The entire coal production of France will be suspended; but this is only a beginning. There is the threat of a general strike behind it, and today French labor leaders will meet with colleagues from England, Belgium, and Italy to discuss the calling of a general strike in all the allied countries. And the Germans are still at Versailles.

The French General Federation of Labor, a body which had the substance of Bolshevism long before the name was known in Western Europe, says that only "the catastrophic economic and industrial policy" of the Government is responsible. The French Government is having difficulties, most of them due directly to the terrible burden of the war; but none of its policies could be anywhere near so catastrophic as the calling of a general strike while the Germans are deliberating whether to sign the treaty. Already Brockdorff-Rantzau is encouraged. He has made good progress in his campaign for the spoliation of Poland, for keeping in Germany territory which so distinguished a German Socialist as Eduard Bernstein has just admitted is genuinely Polish in population. Brockdorff found help in unexpected quarters in this campaign; and the succor brought him by French labor has now inspired him to demand concessions in the west also. Frenchmen are threatening to strike, and Germans are hesitating over giving back Alsace-Lorraine.

French officials say, and with considerable reason, that the "catastrophic" policy of the Government has little to do with it; that the strike has for its purpose nothing less than the overthrow of the French Republic and the setting up of a communist State. Such a State would naturally make far easier terms for Germany; of course the Germans are encouraged, of course they will put off signing the treaty so long as possible. This brotherly feeling of French proletarian leaders for the recent invader might be understood if Liebknecht's revolution had succeeded; if Kurt Eisner had been made President of Germany instead of being murdered; if Hugo Haase were at the head of the German Government. It is quite unintelligible in the presence of a German Government which seems to be dominated by the volunteer armies that owe allegiance to Noske and the men behind him. The French Federation of Labor is giving aid and comfort to Bernstorff, Lettow-Vorbeck, Brockdorff-Rantzau; these men are class-conscious enough, but they are not proletarians.

A few days ago it seemed certain that the Germans would sign the treaty. Now they are being encouraged not to sign. The United States Senate is preparing to discuss Mr. Knox's resolution for tearing up the Peace Treaty by taking out of it an essential element of its machinery,—a resolution which will set before the Conference another six months' work. Here is reason enough for German refusal; and in the meantime French, British, Belgian, and Italian labor leaders are doing what they can to overthrow the Governments which defeated Germany. As if this were not enough, the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, by striking out the fifth section of the Knox resolution, has served notice on the Germans that anything that may happen in Europe in future is no concern of ours. If Brockdorff can delay for a few days more, the French Federation of Labor and the majority of the United States Senate may win the peace for him.

THE STATE INCOME TAX LAW.

The output of primers, rules, interpretations, and outright amendments of the New York income tax law is proceeding as merrily as under the Federal law when it was in a like stage of immaturity. They little know either law who know only the law. New Jersey makes merry over the summary manner in which the interpretation makes the law constitutional by amending out of it the discrimination against dwellers in foreign lands across the Hudson. The law provides for withholding at the source 2 per cent. of sums due to non-residents, but only 1 per cent. of those due to residents. It might be inconvenient if such discrimination were contested in the courts, so the Controller decides that the discrimination is an inadvertence due to the process of amendment, and the amounts withheld are made the same for residents and non-residents.

New Jerseyites are still unhappy because the tax is to be collected for a full year, although it was not passed until the year was nearly half gone. But it is the fashion set by Congress to make income taxes retroactive, and the precedents will give commuters little relief. The Controller has substituted one word for another whenever he thought it would improve the law, and has reason with him. For that, too, there are Federal precedents, even though the old way was to enforce laws as they were signed. But that was before laws were passed by the hundred and vetoed by the score.

THE MERCHANT MARINE.

The United States Shipping Board's recommendations for the development of an American merchant marine have the merit of direct and vigorous statement, but it is evident that the way is only blazed to the duty which Congress must discharge. We have the ships, we can manufacture four times the quantity of goods needed for the domestic market, and an American merchant marine must be established on broad lines and maintained profitably. The problem cannot be worked out in a hurry—haste would make waste and loss; therefore, the House of Representatives will follow the example of the Senate and hold hearings, with the Shipping Board's report as a guide, to determine how the growing fleet shall be operated. It will be necessary to consider whether the navigation laws should be amended, whether there should be subsidies in some form, and how an American marine insurance should be instituted. The inquiry need not take a long time if Congress will listen to the specialists and follow the lead of those members of the Senate and House who have some familiarity with the general subject.

In urging private ownership and operation the Shipping Board advises the withdrawal of the Government "from commercial shipbuilding, ship-"owning, and ship-operating activi-"ties at the earliest date which may "be convenient and practical." It is proposed that Government-owned steel ships be sold for 25 per cent. of the purchase price down, the remainder to be paid in installments extending over ten years. This would be a liberal arrangement, although there would be difficulty in making a sale price. Not all the ships built are desirable—the construction of some of them has been criticised; and it is suggested that "such coal-burning "steel ships as may be redundant or "otherwise undesirable in the Ameri-"can merchant marine" might be sold to foreigners, the receipts to go into a fund "to build the vessels the "United States needs to balance its "merchant marine as planned." The Shipping Board is unduly optimistic if it thinks, as it appears to do, that the foreigners would pay "prices not "less than those charged American "citizens." As Great Britain would also be in the market, the United States might have to set up a bargain counter for "redundant" ships.

Vessels remaining on the hands of the Government might be used, suggests the board, to open new routes for American commerce, on a plan of chartering these vessels to operators, the terms to be such as would not remove the incentive to buy. Of course there would be an incentive to buy if business were good in the zones developed, but would it not be difficult to avoid interference with the interests of private owners who elected to send their ships into those zones? However, it must be the concern of the Government to discover new opportunities for the American merchant, so long as it has any control over shipping.

Vice Chairman Stevens has made a minority report taking issue with a proposal of the Shipping Board that a development fund comprising 1 per cent. per annum on all unpaid installments of purchase money, profits of Government insurance, and all operating surplus shall be administered by the President for "subsidy" purposes to sustain the merchant marine. Mr. Stevens objects to lodging such a power in the President, and argues, with sound reason, that "if "there is to be a subsidy, it must be "administered for definite purposes "and under specific regulations prescribed by Congress." To turn over the responsibility to the President would be to beg the question of aiding the merchant marine with contributions from a development fund. This is an issue that Congress will have to labor over earnestly. The Shipping Board wisely urges the discarding of mail subventions on the bonus principle and recommends adequate pay to "all American vessels" only for the carrying of postal matter.

A RUSSIAN POLICY AT LAST.

In form it is not strictly a recognition of the Omsk Government which has been announced by the Allies; the Powers will merely assist Admiral Kolchak and his associates to become the Government of all Russia; they do not yet in terms recognize them as this Government. But the form is of minor importance; the Governments of the allied Powers will furnish food, munitions, and supplies to the Kolchak group, which in effect puts the Bolsheviki in a position of rebellion against a lawful Government.

The reservation was perhaps wise, since no one wants to see reactionary elements become too strong in the Omsk Ministry; but there is plentiful reason to believe that the strength of such elements has been enormously overestimated by the Bolsheviki and their friends. The majority of the Omsk leaders are moderate democrats, as much interested in Russia's welfare and as likely to promote it as any who could be found. Kolchak's reply to the allied message of May 26 reserved decision on the request for the recognition of Finnish independence, as on that for the admission of self-determination for the border peoples of the old Russian Empire, on the ground that these were matters for the Constituent Assembly. When that body is convened a satisfactory settlement which shall take care of the Finns, Lithuanians, and the rest should be easily attainable.

Kolchak has promised to call new elections, when he obtains control of Russia, for a Constituent Assembly which shall be a sovereign body, intrusted with the task of formulating the political and economic future of the country. He refused the alternative suggestion of recalling the old Assembly dispersed by the Bolsheviki in 1917. Much has been made out of this refusal by those who are opposed to any Russian policy, or to any but a pro-Bolshevist policy. But the fact is that of the anti-Bolshevist members of that Assembly—the Social Revolutionaries had a majority—many have been killed off and many others driven into exile. What remains is a rump Assembly, and a rump largely Bolshevist. It is a strange constitutional theory that would give sovereign rights to the minority after it has massacred the majority.

Kolchak's Government is not perfect; neither is any other Government; it offers, however, a great deal more hope for the people of Russia, and for a world of which Russia will continue to be a large part, than does the Government of Lenin and Trotzky. Its enemies are its best recommendation. For months Western statesmen have lent a too ready ear to the Bullitts and Steffenses and have refused to recognize the strongest democratic group in Russia out of consideration for a party which was not bound by any such scruples. While we have hesitated on the question of opposing the Bolsheviki, the Bolsheviki have been fighting us, and in America as well as in Europe. From now on we may hope there will be two sides to the fight.

ACQUITTED IN ADVANCE.

The best possible argument for trial by allied tribunals of the Kaiser, and of Germans guilty of outrages in the war, is furnished by the decision of the German Government to set up a special court to try war offenders in the name of "Germany's desire to "withhold nothing from the rest of "the world, and not to spare the "guilty." The court will find out "who is guilty for the war, why it "was not ended earlier, and whether "the baleful result could not have "been wholly or partially avoided"—or, as a news dispatch summarizes it, those who began, prolonged, and lost the war.

There is no mention here, of course, of persons guilty of atrocities. The Germans say they committed no atrocities; and the decision of the court of inquiry into the execution of Captain Fryatt virtually set down that Germans had the right to do as seemed good to them in carrying on the war. If justice is to come to the men who reintroduced the methods of the sixteenth century into twentieth century Europe, it will have to be done by the Allies.

"Who is guilty for the war?"—why do the Germans have to set up a special court to decide that? They have told us for the last four years and more that, whoever was guilty, all Germans were specklessly innocent; the war was started by Serbia, or Russia, or Belgium, or England, but never by anybody in Germany. The Germans are so sure of their own rectitude that they will not allow anybody to look at the Government archives which might throw some light on the subject; so sure that they induced the Socialist Conference at Berne to drop inquiry into the matter.

The second question can be answered as easily. "Why was the war not ended earlier?" All through 1915 and 1916 and 1917 we were told by almost every public man in Germany, and by a great many open-minded liberals in the United States, that French blood-lust, English will to annihilation, the greed of American capitalists were responsible for prolonging the war when Germany had been telling her enemies that they could have peace at any time on her terms. And everybody in Germany knows "whether the baleful result "could not have been wholly or partly "avoided." Everybody in Germany is convinced that there was no "baleful result," from the military point of view; that the German armies were never beaten; that the Germans, out of their own humanity and mildness, offered peace to the world and were betrayed by their enemies after they laid down their arms. The German sense of decency will be outraged if any German is even put on trial before this court; still, in their view, there is in any case no danger of conviction.

CHEAP LUXURIES AND DEAR NECESSARIES.

There is less inconsistency than at first appears in the payment of tariff duties of a million dollars in a single day on imports of luxuries at a time when there is such complaint of the dearness of the necessaries of daily life. There is always a market for everything at a price, and foreign countries find here the best market for what they are compelled to sell because they can no longer afford to use it. A third of the million was paid in customs on diamonds. The sellers can get more here for diamonds than in their home markets, more depressed than our own, and the dollars the diamonds bring will buy here more of whatever is wanted than anywhere else.

The result is a contribution toward correcting the balance of trade which is now running so strongly against foreign buyers as to stimulate their sales here. Put in another way, the imports of luxuries while we find food so dear proves that foreigners want food more than diamonds, and that the complaints of the cost of living here are not universal is shown by the fact that there are buyers for luxuries when they are made sufficiently attractive. Depression here is more psychological than real when diamonds are imported to a total of $15,000,000, against $8,000,000 last year. French notions such as perfumery, textiles of dazzling beauty, laces, silks, and so on are still favored, and their importation is welcome proof of reviving trade among those who need to buy here with the proceeds of what they can sell. We can send back iron, coal, and factory products which we can produce endlessly, and food which is abundant only here, and which nobody can grow anywhere else for another crop year. It is a pity that food is so dear, but more are buying luxury goods than ever and at bargain prices, of which we shall hear more as the correction of the exchanges and the averaging of the products and prosperity on the opposite shores of the ocean proceed.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

It Sounds Highly Capitalistic.

Among the many interesting statements made by Hugh Frayne while detailing to the Lusk Committee what he had learned from the study of "Red" newspapers and pamphlets, while performing his duties of General Organizer for the American Federation of Labor, was one relating to a plan which textile workers belonging to the I. W. W. have formed, or think they have formed, to insure successful operation of the mills after taking them away from their present owners.

More intelligent than their Russian exemplars, or having learned something from Russian failures, these American Bolsheviki claim to be giving some of their number a technical training that will render them competent to fill managerial and supervisory positions. More than that, they declare that they have devised a scheme by which, using the present machinery, they can increase production by 40 per cent. And Mr. Frayne said that in his opinion both of these statements were true.

Whether true or not, they make two important revelations. The first is that these particular "Reds" have abandoned the fundamental Bolshevist principle, which is that only those who work with their hands are workers at all, and that only they are entitled to share in the products of labor. But if that principle is unsound, its one possible alternative is that so long followed by the capitalistic class, and it is hard to see in what the proletarian régime will differ from its predecessor. For the old division of work into manual and mental will be revived, and with it inevitably will return the hateful division of workers into those highly paid and those—well, who are paid less. And there you will have the "bourgeoisie" all over again!

"Efficiency" Seemingly Is Proposed.

Even more startling in its variance from orthodox proletarian doctrine is the announced purpose of these textile I. W. W.'s to increase their output. The opposite policy, at least as regards the individual worker, has always been their favorite, and workers infected with Bolshevist ideas have not been the only ones, unfortunately, who have shown a determined hostility to what have come to be called "efficiency" methods—methods, that is, by which higher productivity in a given time can be achieved. That has been denounced, on the one hand, as decreasing the number of "jobs," and so leading to unemployment, and, on the other, as increasing the employer's profits by lessening his expenses, than which nothing could be more obnoxious. But the radicals whose "literature" Mr. Frayne has been reading calmly contemplate the running of their machines faster or better in the new era!

One might almost imagine that they have come to see that the solution of the world's economic and social problems, and especially the adequate feeding, clothing, and housing of its inhabitants at their direction, comes down not to a question of wages or hours, but to one of adequate production. The most successful makers of more and better jobs are the machines so inaccurately called "labor saving." Each of them "makes work" for at least twice as many as those whose former work it enables one man to do, and it has a like effect when the individual worker increases his output and so decreases its cost.

"Honest" Is Just the Word.

A letter recently received from a French boy, formerly resident here but now in France, attempts, not very successfully, to refute the charge that the tradesman class over there is extortionate in its dealings with the American soldiers. To do this he tells of having seen one of our men in a Paris shop looking for something to send home as a "souvenir." The soldier had $20 and seemed quite indifferent to whether he paid all or a part of that sum for the thing he finally selected, and, more than that, he said so. It was worth, or its cost to a Frenchman would have been, about $2, but the soldier's announcement resulted in his paying for his gift several times that amount.

That was natural enough, and it proves no special rapacity on the part of the French shopkeeper as distinguished from shopkeepers pretty well the world over when they are dealing with a foreign customer whom they never expect to see again. But the too lenient observer of the little episode made unintentionally a large admission when he wrote, "The Americans should not say that the French tradesmen are robbers, for when an American treats 100 francs as if they were 5 sous, and says he doesn't care what the price is, then the tradesman has to be honest indeed not to charge more than the regular price."

That is true, but while honesty carried to that point may be rare in any country, it is not unimaginable in any or unknown in several.

Incidentally, it is fair to doubt if there are many men in the American Army with as little common sense as was possessed by the man described. The majority of our soldiers must care a good deal about the prices they pay, else the complaints of "robbers" in France would not come so frequently.

They Will Rest Well in France.

With almost no debate—and the little was enough—the Senate has passed a bill appropriating $500,000 for the establishment and maintenance of a cemetery in France for the American soldiers who died there. This bill should become a law, and if more money for a purpose so good is needed—as probably will prove to be the case—it should be provided.

Some parents will insist, or greatly prefer, that the bodies of their dead sons be brought back to America. Their desires should be heeded, and the Government will do so. Others, and by far the greater number, will be content with the alternative plan. And its advantages are many—certainly numerous enough and great enough to justify its adoption as a general policy.

A Union of Engineers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Gertrude Atherton's article in this morning's Times, disclosing how the so-called middle-class professionals are underpaid, is extremely timely, in view of the fact that the engineers of the Public Service Commission have recently organized the Rapid Transit Engineers' Association. Much agitation is being carried on to have the association affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, and it is illuminating to have Mrs. Atherton, from her vast experience, advocate affiliation.

Subways costing $350,000,000 have been built by the city under the supervision of these men, which include four river tunnels, where the men worked under compressed air. Yet the salaries of most of the men have remained stationary in spite of the phenomenal rise in the cost of living. Due to some technicality, they did not even receive the State or city bonus given during the war. To one who is intimately acquainted with the conditions that exist, it is remarkable that the calibre of the work is such as it has been, but that is wholly due to the pride which they take in their profession. However, the rate at which these men are resigning, in most cases leaving the profession entirely, is a matter that should be of interest to the public.

Having taken the matter up, Mrs. Atherton would do well to expose the extent to which our professionals are underpaid. Unless something is done soon, the professions will degenerate, for carpenters, stevedores, and cloakmakers are being far better paid. Why should a young man devote ten years of his life to study a profession when the prospect in store is that he will have difficulty in making both ends meet?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The name "blimp" is a piece of English naval slang and would have been described by Dr. Johnson as a "cant word without etymology."

At the same time one may speculate as to the underlying mental process which produced it, and it may be an undesigned compound of "blot" and "pimple," both of which may be suggested by the appearance in the sky of these little airships.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

"Blimp" is an old English word meaning "blister." I think it must be of local origin, for I cannot find it mentioned in Webster. But a large blister has been called a blimp from time immemorial. Doubtless airmen saw some fancied resemblance to a blister, and with their fancy for original nomenclature christened the fantastic shapes of observation balloons "blimps."

"WHO TOUCHED ME?"

Sometimes I am deeply stirred,
And I stand very still on my way.
No one has spoken a word,
Yet my soul feels a sudden stay,
As if some one (I know not who)
Had bound me a deed to do!

Something of utmost need
That I on the moment should serve;
Something that seems to plead
That out of my path I swerve
Till I find the stricken thing
To which I must comfort bring.

Much as though some one caught
At my garments in going past;
And I cannot wrest my thought
From the burden upon it cast.
It seems I should stop—should stand—
Should bend to an unseen hand.

Sometimes the call seems afar,
From outermost parts of the earth,
Where the desert spaces are
And the lost ones die from dearth;
And sometimes quite close to me
The call and the hand-reach be.

I look, and no face I meet;
I listen, and no voice I hear;
I can feel my own heart beat—
It beats between love and fear,
Love—that no need would fail,
Fear—for my powers are but frail!

I am troubled, I lose my peace,
Yet no one has good thereby.
Then I hear my soul release
An ancient and sacred cry,
Who touched me?—But I am too blind;
Who touched me I cannot find.

SCHOOLS FOR PORTO RICO.

A Plea for the Proposed $2,000,000 Appropriation.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I, as a Porto Rican and as a believer in American ideals, principles, and government, express to you my sincere appreciation of your editorial article of last Sunday in support of a question of the greatest importance to the future welfare of my country?

It is seldom that our appeals, whether political, economical, educational, or otherwise, find echo in the American press, or that our many just aspirations under the flag are brought through their columns before the Administration and the American public at large for a clear and just understanding. In the present case the appeal comes from our school children, who ask Congress to appropriate $2,000,000 annually for the purpose of giving instruction to 250,000 boys and girls who have been left out of the schools of the country because of insufficient number of buildings and teachers, although, as stated in your article, the Porto Rican Government has reached to the bottom of its purse in its efforts to provide instruction for all. It is to all intents and purposes a manifestation of the desire and the will that animates all young Porto Ricans to come into closer political and commercial relations with this country, and the United States should be as anxious to help us in gaining this end as we are anxious of bettering ourselves for the proper discharge of our duties under the flag.

There is a statement in your article attributed to us and, dealing with the citizenship question which is not entirely correct, and in justice to the American Congress needs explaining. It has reference to the many years that elapsed since the American occupation before we were made citizens of this country, and how bitterly we resented this delay. In fact, if Congress waited so many years to grant us the citizenship, it was due more to the attitude of our Tammany Hall than to anything else. On more than one occasion our Legislature passed resolutions declaring the people unwilling to accept the citizenship privileges. They even went so far as to say that the whole country would take up arms if this country did not grant them independence. Now that I have brought out this point, can you blame Congress for taking its time? Of course, in justice also to a great number of Porto Ricans, it is well to state here that these activities were confined to one of the two principal political parties on the island, whose mentors, garbed as apostles of Porto Rican rights and freedom and posing as martyrs of American domination and tyranny, did nothing else than exploit the ignorance of our voters for their own personal gain, and have gone into history as the greatest political fakers of all time. In justice also to the man and to my own convictions, let me say that I do not consider Mr. Rivera, who was a leader of the party in question and for many years a Representative in Congress, as among this class.

Is it surprising, then, that after our many sad experiences and misunderstandings with this country, brought about entirely by the ignorance of our masses, that our school children, the men of tomorrow, should ask Congress to help the country in its efforts to strike out illiteracy from the island? And is there anything that Congress could do that would rival in altruism and final accomplishments that which they now ask?

E. M.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In regard to your article on Porto Rico in The Times of June 8, 1919, I wish to express my approval.

By all means she should receive $2,000,000 yearly for education. That is but a very small fraction of the wealth wrung from her soil each year to be spent in the United States and, in peace times, in Europe. She is a good example of a land exploited by foreigners, by interests whose only care is for what they can get out of her. She is just recently getting a little ahead in the matter of wages for her sweating, starving peons, and she has to resort to strikes to do that.

A short time ago men were being arrested and given terms of from six months to two years at hard labor for daring to ask for more pay. A worker started to address a group in the public plaza in regard to better working conditions. He was given six months for speaking without a permit. He was not attracting the attention of a crowd either. Senator Santiago Iglesias himself has been cast into jail on one pretext or another, all charges false, except the one the capitalists refused to utter out loud, "He was too fond of the peons."

With a just system of taxation, so that the island would get its share of the fortunes made there, Porto Rico would not have to ask for money from the United States, but since things are as they are and education is most necessary it is better to have the United States make a small return to the children of the island for what certain interests, many of them American, have taken away from Porto Rico since 1918.

Mexican-American Co-operation.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

To give Mexico the benefit of the doubt in regard to its possibilities of reconstruction before recommending intervention to the leaders of American policies seems to The Times commendable, differing in this line of thought from the ideas advanced by Speaker Gillett at a meeting of the Pan American Union.

The Times has not been mistaken in this reasoning. There are today forces in Mexico at work not only for a sensible understanding between the two countries, but mainly for the adoption of a system of Mexican-American co-operation.

El Heraldo de Mexico is undertaking this work of friendly propaganda and publishes a full page in English devoted to Americans and Britishers. The spirit and purpose of this are fully explained in the editorial notes that are printed in the English section, and careful observers will promptly find in this endeavor, together with the evident desire of the vast majority of the Mexican population for peaceful elections, that Mexico indeed deserves the benefit of the doubt as suggested by The Times. Carranza will retire and none of the apparent candidates will be an obstacle to peace and reconstruction.

There is always a peril in the feverish opinions of those who, openly or otherwise, advocate intervention.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There seems to be a good deal of cloudy reasoning abroad, a remark inspired by the letter on your editorial page from Mrs. Atherton. This writer points out that, owing to the unionization of manual labor, the laborers now ride in automobiles, whereas the nonunionized brain workers ride in street cars, and she would have brain workers get themselves automobiles by the method of unionization.

Class organization is a weapon, a weapon to be used to extract from society at large more good things than could otherwise be extracted. And the question is, when all of us get organized and each class is getting rich by the simple process of raising its prices all around, Where is the extra stuff we're all getting going to come from? For the splitting up of society into class-conscious layers, each scrambling for good things, in no way increases the sum total of the good things available to be scrambled for.

FOR NEW FEDERAL BUILDING.

If the Federal judges, the lawyers of the city and the Board of Estimate can co-operate and get Congress to pass a bill authorizing the construction of a new Federal Building, either on a part of the site selected for a new County Court House, or on some other site, the old Post Office building at the south end of City Hall Park will be removed and the site will revert to the city.

That was the substance of a resolution offered at yesterday's meeting of the Estimate Board by Controller Craig, which was unanimously adopted. His resolution pointed out that the Board of Estimate had been advised that the old Federal Building was regarded as "inadequate and unsuitable for present purposes," and it requested that the Board's Committee on Court House Site, comprising Borough President Frank L. Dowling of Manhattan, Controller Craig, and Robert L. Moran, President of the Board of Aldermen, be authorized to start negotiations with the Federal Government. The resolution also provides for consideration of another site in addition to the Court House property behind the Municipal Building if that plan is not acceptable to the Federal authorities.

Controller Craig believes that the new Federal Court House might be built as a twin of the proposed new County Court House, which is to be constructed at some time on the city owned property in the rear of the Municipal Building. This site was acquired by the city several years ago, but construction was postponed on account of the war and a bill which passed the recent Legislature gave the Board of Estimate the power to dispose of the land in any way it saw fit. In the present case the city is willing to exchange a part of the County Court House site for the present Federal Building site, which the United States Government bought from the city in 1860 for $500,000. Its present assessed valuation is about $10,000,000. If the plan is carried out the site will again become a part of City Hall Park, which it was before the present building was constructed.

The Board adopted a resolution denying the application for the establishment of a public park on the site of the old Grand Union Hotel, at Forty-second Street and Park Avenue. General George W. Wingate asked the Board to lay the matter over until September, as he had just got started on his plan for a Victory Memorial Hall on the site. He was told that the resolution denying the application for the park would not interfere with his plans for a Victory Hall, providing the city decided to adopt his suggestion.

General Wingate said that the plans for the memorial building had been submitted to Rodman Wanamaker, chairman of the Mayor's Memorial Committee, and that Mr. Wanamaker had said he would give a decision regarding them within a few days.

BANKERS' CONVENTION ENDS

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 13.—Bankers of the State in the closing session of the twenty-ninth annual convention today adopted resolutions favoring the early return of the railroads to private control, with compensation from Federal funds to place the properties in normal physical condition.

Communities or cities were urged in another resolution to amend present laws and regulations to enable traction lines to increase fares. The association declined to protest against the action of three Albany banks in increasing the interest rate on savings accounts.

D. Irving Mead of Brooklyn was elected President, S. G. H. Turner of Elmira Vice President, and Charles H. Bissikummer of Albany Treasurer.

R. H. Treman of New York, Deputy Governor of Federal Reserve Banks, in telling of the business outlook, said the prices of many commodities would remain high for many months and some might increase, as the banks were called on to continue the financing of Government activities.

Elliott McDougal of Buffalo urged that the State finance law be amended so as to allow the use of the United States bonds as securities.

During the afternoon bankers were received by Governor and Mrs. Smith at the Executive Mansion. The session closed with a banquet tonight at which Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan was the principal speaker. He discussed "Military Training." Other speakers included former Governor Martin H. Glynn and the Rev. C. Wallace Petty of New York.

SEEKS PRATT'S REMOVAL.

H. K. Billings Charges Conservation Commissioner Is Unfit.

ALBANY, June 13.—Charges aimed at the removal from office of George D. Pratt, State Conservation Commissioner, were filed with Governor Smith today by Herbert K. Billings, a game protector of La Salle, Niagara County. Billings, on Wednesday, had a hearing before Commissioner Pratt on charges of falsifying accounts. No decision has yet been rendered in this case.

In his charges, Billings alleges that Pratt is unfit for office because he required the subordinate game protectors to pay for uniforms of inferior quality, and also because he retains in office F. W. Hamilton of Buffalo as division Inspector. He charges that Hamilton coerced people to settle with the Conservation Commission instead of standing trial for alleged game law violations.

Hamilton was recently the subject of an inquiry on another matter. In that case Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara, in a resolution adopted by the Senate, requested an investigation of charges made in 1913 that Hamilton had improperly disposed of mink skins. These charges were dismissed.

Governor Smith turned over the Billings charges to Commissioner Pratt with the request that he make an explanation.

Senator Gore Urges It in Addressing Western Farmers.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 13.—The 2,500 delegates from farmers' organizations in Washington, Oregon, and Idaho in session today subscribed $20,000 toward a fund for building a Temple of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. In an address on the need of co-operation among farmers, United States Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma referred to the League of Nations.

"I am not going to discuss the League of Nations," he said. "We want to be careful that in trying to keep out of more wars, we don't get into more than we keep out of. I want to give the mothers of the boys who are to fight our future wars the right to vote on the necessity of the war before the Government plunges into it."

CITY TO MARK FLAG DAY.

The one hundred and forty-second anniversary of Flag Day will be celebrated today in every part of the city. Patriotic organizations have arranged exercises to impress the day's significance upon every one. The Sons of the Revolution will march from their headquarters at Fraunces's Tavern to the Sub-Treasury building, where appropriate ceremonies will be conducted.

At the Elks' Lodge, at 108 West Forty-third Street, in the evening there will be an elaborate program in the nature of a victory celebration. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, will be the principal speaker. Other exercises are scheduled to be held at Soldiers and Sailors' Monument and at Mount Morris Park.

FEARS GULICK PLAN TO ADMIT JAPANESE

WOULD BAR PICTURE BRIDES

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Representative Albert Johnson of Washington, Chairman of the House Immigration Committee, which is now considering immigration legislation, today succeeded in having placed in the record of the hearings now being conducted by the committee a letter from V. S. McLatchy, editor of The Sacramento Bee, in opposition to the so-called Gulick plan for dealing with the immigration problem on a percentage basis.

The letter denounced the Gulick plan for restriction of immigration on a percentage basis as an attempt to obtain for the Japanese what the League of Nations had refused them. The Gulick plan was submitted to the committee yesterday by Sidney L. Gulick of New York, a returned missionary from Japan, formerly of Ohio, who is now Secretary of the National Association for Constructing Immigration Legislation, which has formed a committee of 1,000 to advocate the percentage method of dealing with the immigration problem.

"Admission of Japanese to this country under such conditions as would permit their increase means ultimate surrender of the country to them, as Hawaii has already surrendered, as California will be, unless protective measures are at once adopted," wrote Mr. McLatchy to Chairman Johnson. "It would be only a question of time before tillable sections of the United States, one after another, are peopled by Japanese.

"The cleverness and industry with which the Japanese have organized propaganda in this country is only second to German activities along similar lines and the the aid which has been received by well-known Americans is quite as general.

"It seems to me evident that Mr. Gulick's enterprise is, in effect, an attempt to outline a general plan for immigration restriction which will commend itself on casual examination to the American public and to saddle it with clever riders not evident to the general reader, which will insure under our laws to Japan what she could not secure after constant and determined efforts from the League of Nations."

Concluding his letter, Mr. McLatchy made these recommendations:

"1. Stop at once further importation of picture brides. They are used literally for breeding purposes and to produce Japanese eligible under our laws to hold land.

"2. Hawaii apparently cannot be saved from Japanese domination. Prevent, if possible, the importation of all Japanese from that territory to our continental ports. It may not be feasible to apply this prohibition to Japanese born in Hawaii under our flag, but it should be done if possible in protection of the nation.

"3. Cancel at once the 'gentlemen's' agreement and prohibit absolutely all Japanese immigration into the territory of the United States.

"4. Permit and encourage the States to pass aliens land laws which will forbid the sale, and even the lease of lands to aliens ineligible to citizenship.

"5. Make the Japanese as well as other undesirable nationals forever ineligible to citizenship."

Representative Baker of California today began an examination of Mr. Gulick to determine the sources of income of the organization of which he is secretary. Mr. Baker said that it was necessary in order to determine the motives of any movement to find out who the contributors were and what they stood for in American life. Mr. Gulick said that he would be glad to furnish the committee with a list of contributors.

ROME HONORS RED CROSS.

ROME, June 12.—Adolfo Apolloni, the newly elected Mayor of Rome, at a ceremony in the Capitol today, presented to the American Red Cross a gold medal of the municipality of Rome in recognition of the services of the Red Cross rendered in Italy. Mayor Apolloni, who is a sculptor, in his address said:

"Despite the unexpected and painful incidents, the feelings of Italians toward the United States do not change, as we know the sentiments of fairness and justice which animate the American people."

Colonel Edward Bartlett of Providence, R. I., who received the medal in the name of the Red Cross, said he hoped the Red Cross had shown the gratitude of the United States to Italy for having entered the war three years before America.

Ambassador Page said that the Red Cross was "the advance guard of America, which came to Italy to help her in the most trying moment in the history of Italy, which means the history of the world." The Ambassador predicted that the spirit of liberty common to both Italy and America would be the greatest tie uniting them. He extolled the friendship between America and Italy and ended by shouting: "Evviva l'Italia!" Those present responded with "Evviva l'America!"

OPPOSES VETERAN MEASURE

Civil Service Forum Secretary Calls Referendum Discriminatory.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 13.—At today's session of the convention of National Civil Service Commissions, William R. Bradley, Secretary of the New York Civil Service Society, Incorporated, and representing the Civil Service Forum, composed of 150,000 civil service employes in New York State, opposed in behalf of the societies he represented the absolute preference measures for war veterans. He said:

"The proposed constitutional amendment passed at the last session of the State Legislature will benefit only a portion of the people, namely, the war veterans, and discriminates almost brutally against the rank and file of civil service employes who have made the public service their work. It destroys the merit system and departs from the principle which is the oldest axiom of the civil service system—that the best shall serve the State."

KING FELICITATES PAGE.

ROME, June 12, (Associated Press.)—Thomas Nelson Page, the American Ambassador, will leave here the end of this month to spend a leave of absence in the United States. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Page.

The Ambassador was received yesterday by King Victor Emmanuel, who warmly congratulated him on his decision to remain as Ambassador to Italy.

PINCHOT DEMANDS FALL OF OLD GUARD

Millions Are Ready to Spurn Nomination of Harding or Watson, He Asserts.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 13.—Gifford Pinchot, in a speech to the Cambridge Republican Presidential Club this evening, said that the party was in grave danger of defeat at the Presidential elections next year unless a Roosevelt Republican were nominated to lead the fight, and expressed alarm at the effect of the Old Guard's control of Congress on the party's prospects.

"The Republican Party," he said, "is in danger of getting fatally out of touch with the times. The Old Guard leaders, in a nation whose birthright is progress, whose condition is change, and whose movement was never more rapidly forward than now, have undertaken to turn back the clock and return to the conditions which obtained before the war. These conditions were bad for the many and good for the few, and the many do not want to return to them.

"The same men who wrecked the Republican Party before are doing their best to wreck it again. The reactionary Republican group has the same spirit, is made up largely of the same individuals, and works under the same sinister and cynical leadership today as it did eight years ago. In 1911 and the early part of 1912 they laid their heads together and decided that the progressive movement was dying and could safely be disregarded. Vice President Sherman even went upon a scouting expedition of his own through the Central West, and upon his return reported that the progressive movement was down and out.

"Thereupon the reactionaries proceeded to do what they are preparing to repeat today. They disregarded the wishes of the voters, even when formally expressed at the primaries, and destroyed the unity and success of the party in the effort to force their orders upon the mass of Republican voters.

Sees Defeat Threatened Again.

"The inevitable result at that time differed in only one respect from the inevitable result in 1920, if the Old Guard persists in repeating its folly. Then it led to justified revolt against the effort of the minority to control the majority, followed by the splitting of the party, defeat, eight years of Democratic control, and the blight of Wilson upon the country. Now it threatens defeat with no split preceding it.

"Even after the obstinate blindness of this little clique had produced its predestined result in 1912, these men could not bring themselves to look the facts in the face. After the progressives had withdrawn from the Republican National Convention and had nominated Theodore Roosevelt, one of the reactionary leaders said to me: 'Why, you don't mean to say that you are going to carry this thing through,' and plainly disbelieved my assertion that we were. They were blind then, they have learned nothing since, and they see no better now.

"How far these men have misread the signs of the times is almost incredible. For example, during the sessions of the Republican National Committee in Chicago last March, the man most discussed as a candidate for the Presidency was Jim Watson of Indiana, a candidate who would be little more acceptable to the average Republican voter than John D. Rockefeller or Penrose himself. I was there, and I know.

"It would be unfair to charge Will H. Hays, the Republican National Chairman, with responsibility for the reactionary plan for minority rule. Mr. Hays made his reputation in politics by recognizing the progressive group in Indiana. There is every reason to suppose he is still of the same mind. But a Chairman is not a dictator, and he alone does not control the situation.

"The reactionaries cannot look ahead—otherwise they would not be reactionaries. The man who looks only at the road behind cannot see the road ahead, and goes wrong as a matter of course. Such men are not fit to guide a party already under suspicion of reaction, whose success depends on its power to win the confidence of progressive voters. To let a reactionary candidate lead the party in 1920 is the sure and certain way to lose.

Soldiers Against "Boss System."

"The reactionaries have never represented more than an insignificant fraction of the Republican voters. Organization, not numbers, has always been the source of their strength. The great unorganized body of Republicans have never believed in them, even when they voted for the policies which kept the Old Guard in power. The overwhelming majority is against them today. In particular the soldiers, who have returned after destroying the boss system in Germany, are in no humor to submit to it at home, as the straw vote on the Antigone so clearly points out.

"The Reactionaries are enemies of the people, for they are owned and controlled by the special interests which keep the cost of living high and continually drive it higher. Crane, Harding, Watson, and their like, and Penrose, the flower of the flock, are the little brothers of the profiteers. They believe in money first and human welfare, if at all, long afterward.

"Without such men as these the great monopolies could never have been formed. Monopoly handled by Big Business is the fundamental reason for the exorbitant cost of living. To make the cost of living higher is the reason, and the purpose of monopoly and the reactionaries in Congress and in the Legislature of every State are the tools Big Business uses to that end. No wonder the people are against them.

"If the reactionaries are to control the party this year, they must persuade the voters that two pieces of obvious fiction are true. The first is that a united front is impossible except under reactionary control. As to that, progressive Republicans vote their convictions—machine Republicans vote the ticket anyhow. The Republican Party can be united in support of a progressive. It cannot be united in support of a reactionary. The West will not vote for one, even though a majority in the East should do so, and this is the time to realize it.

"The second fiction is that the Republican Party can nominate a yellow dog and still win out. As to that, whether Wilson is a candidate himself, as seems probable, or whether he runs in the person of a proxy, Wilson will not be easy to beat. A war won, a peace made, and a League of Nations contrived, (good, bad or indifferent—most probably the last) all this does not make a negligible platform to run on, even when handicapped by the colossal blunders of the Democrats in the war. Moreover, whatever else may be said of him, Wilson is clever, and the greatest living master in making the worse appear the better reason.

Says Millions Will Switch.

"It is difficult or impossible for me to imagine any combination of circumstances that could induce me even to consider voting for the autocratic and secretive Wilson—about whom the only sure thing is that he will not do what he says or tell what he does. I regard him as the most dangerous enemy of true democracy now alive. But there are millions of Republican men, and millions of Republican women among the 14,000,000 women voters at the next election, who do not feel about Wilson as strongly as I do, and who would vote for him rather than for such a man as Harding or Watson. But if Harding, and Watson, and every other reactionary is turned down, no one because of that will vote for Wilson, nor for any proxy whom Wilson might select.

"The hope of the Democrats lies in the Republican Old Guard. Already they are openly rejoicing in Penrose's election to the chairmanship of the Finance Committee. They will not let the country forget, as I pointed out last December, that the Republican majority in both House and Senate is under reactionary control. There is but one way to meet and beat the Democratic argument—one road to Republican victory. That is to nominate as the Republican candidate for President a man who embodies to the country the Roosevelt Progressive Republican policies.

"Throughout the coming campaign the Democrats are going to charge that the Republican party is dominated by a small and selfish, but highly organized minority, subservient to the special interests that raise the cost of living, and deeply distrusted and disliked by the great mass of Republican voters. If the Republican nominee is an open reactionary, or a near-reactionary camouflaged as a progressive, there will be no answer to this Democratic charge, and the Democrats will owe still another victory to the rule or ruin policy of the Old Guard.

"But if the Republican nominee is a Roosevelt Republican, known to the nation as such beyond cavil or dispute, openly chosen by the free Republican majority and not forced upon the convention by an organized minority, boss picked, boss owned, and boss led, then this Democratic charge will be ridiculous, and will fall of its own weight. Then the Republican party will win. Then also the Republican Old Guard will lose; which will be killing two good birds with one good stone."

SEES TRUANT SCHOOL NEED

Teachers' Council Favors Special Magistrate to Hear Cases.

The Teachers' Council met yesterday at the Board of Education Hall. A report on truancy and delinquency was submitted by Sara L. Rhodes, Chairman of the committee appointed to study the question.

It called for the establishment of more probationary schools. More truant officers should be provided, and more fines should be imposed by the Court. The committee recommended the appointment of specially sitting magistrates, whose entire time should be given to cases of truancy in the Children's Court, in order that he would be aware of the return of an offender, and have an opportunity to observe and estimate the value of imposing penalties.

A truant school for girls is also greatly needed, the committee said. While the number of truant girls is small compared with boys, their detention in a truant home would be one of the most effective preventive methods against real delinquency among the girls of the schools. A probationary school for girl delinquents should also be established, the committee declared, and efforts to obtain it ought certainly to enlist the assistance of welfare workers and associations.

HAYS SAYS TREATY IS AMERICAN ISSUE

Declares That Fervent Patriotism Will Guide Republicans in Peace Legislation.

OUTLINES PARTY POLICY

Special to The New York Times.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 13.—Fresh from a conference in Chicago with party leaders regarding the program for next year's Presidential campaign, Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, came here today to make a "keynote" speech for the Republican Party. Mr. Hays rejected the challenge of Homer S. Cummings, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that the Republicans make a partisan issue of the League of Nations.

"The conclusion of the treaty of peace, including all its provisions—when we know what they are—is in no sense a partisan question," he said, "it is an American question. In the same spirit in which Republicans during the recent war measured their every act by how they could contribute most to effective action, so now they are determined to meet this new phase of the war problem in a revived spirit of fervent Americanism, moving with a full appreciation of this country's duty as a responsible factor in the world and with the earnest determination to do all that can possibly be done toward the maintenance of peace without sacrificing our own supreme nationalism, the preservation of which in its integrity is the greatest safeguard for the future, not only for the citizens of this country, but for all peoples everywhere."

Speaking for his party, which now controls both branches of Congress, Mr. Hays declared, "We shall bring this Government back to the limitations of the Constitution in times of peace."

Referring to the recent outrages by organized radicals, Mr. Hays said:

"We will not forget that while we fight to make certain the rights of free Government in the world we have a Republic to preserve in this country, that we are a representative Government, not a Bolshevist syncopation, that criminals organized or unorganized, called I. W. W. or anything else, that go about this country seeking whom they can destroy are traitors to this country, nothing else, and should be treated as such.

"Shame on us for tolerating in our body politic an undigested mass making for nothing but internal disorder. If a man is loyal to any other flag—foreign, red or black—he is disloyal to the Stars and Stripes. Either these men are Americans or they are traitors. If they are traitors they should be interned, deported or shot.

Plans Action to Curb Socialism.

"With all our power we will strike to prevent the further spread of socialism.

"We have promised a forward stepping as well as a forward looking program for labor, for business, and for the farmer, and these promises we will keep. The Republican Party will not forget in the stress of other matters that its protective tariff policies have made the wages of our laborers the highest in the world. In the great readjustment ahead business must have sympathetic help, not antagonistic curtailment. There must be strong Federal regulation, but not Federal ownership.

"We have insisted, and now insist, that we are as unprepared for peace as we were for war. We slipped along under this Democratic Administration without any adequate thought of the problems that would confront us, just as we did before we entered the war. 'Watchful waiting' was as fallacious in this as it was to Mexico or to the failure to prepare for war when war was at our gates.

"The party has a great duty ahead in taking hold of the situation in Washington in the interests of economy. The war bills will be paid, and willingly, but we do not propose to permit the use of the war as an alibi for everything."

Mr. Hays said there would now be legislation to establish business on a safe and sane basis. Congress will take hold of the railroad problem, he said, and the return of the wires to their owners will be required. Legislation will be developed for "better relations between capital and labor, with justice for both," he added, and a budget system will be established, the diplomatic system will be improved, the shipping problem solved, soldiers who won the war will be remembered, and our position on international relations will be developed.

CARDIFF RACE RIOTS GO ON.

One White and One Arab Killed in Labor Outbreak.

LONDON, June 13.—There was a renewal in Cardiff, Wales, last night of the race rioting that broke out recently between negroes who had been brought into Great Britain as laborers during the war and the white population. One white man and one Arab were killed and several persons were injured. Many arrests were made.

The negro rioters had revolvers and kept up an incessant fusillade, while the whites for the most part, according to reports, threw bottles and bricks.

There was considerable damage to property during the outbreak.

CLASS DAY AT PRINCETON.

Many Graduates Return as Commencement Exercises Open.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 13.—William A. Kirkland of Houston, Texas, Vice President of the senior class and Master of Ceremonies, opened the formal exercises of Princeton's commencement at 11 o'clock this morning in Alexander Hall. Princeton is crowded with graduates and their friends. A special train arrived this afternoon from St. Louis, and another a short time later from Chicago.

The Class Day exercises this morning were confined to the formal opening exercises, which included the class oration with R. D. McKee of Pittsburgh as class orator, and the reading of the class poem by H. P. Keller, editor in chief of this year's Nassau Literary Board. Immediately after the exercises in Alexander Hall the ivy planting took place in front of Nassau Hall. H. P. Van Dusen acted as ivy orator in the ceremony that is one of Princeton's most cherished traditions.

The events of the afternoon were ushered in by the junior high hat parade at 2 o'clock, which marked the beginning of a long series of undergraduate and alumni parades which will end next Monday evening.

The cannon exercises, which took place just behind Nassau Hall around the old revolutionary cannon, were the feature of the day's happenings. Kirkland presided as master of ceremonies, and the main address was made by J. J. Winn of Mount Sterling, Ky., President of the class. The presentation speech was made by T. L. Prentiss. Unlike the other exercises, which are open to ex-1918 and returning men, the cannon exercise was reserved for the senior class only, and only seniors answered the roll call, which was read by P. W. Orth, Secretary of the class. The class historian was R. B. Barnett, and the class prophet Duncan McCulloch of Maryland. The class ode was read by S. B. Self.

At 7 in the evening the freshman class celebrated its release from freshman customs and paraded through the town and across the campus.

The reunion headquarters of all the classes that are back are fast becoming crowded. The Class of '79, President Wilson's class, has taken over two entire houses on Washington Road.

TO CONTROL WHEAT FLOW.

Barnes Says Premiums Will Be Added to the Basic Price.

To preserve a neutral flow of wheat from the farm, periodical premiums covering storage charges will be added to the basic price at various guarantee markets, according to an announcement here yesterday by Julius H. Barnes, United States Wheat Director. He said that it was expected that this premium would be announced at least thirty days in advance of the period for which it would be in effect at all markets and would apply uniformly above the guarantee basis at all markets.

Mr. Barnes said that it had been decided that no premium would go into effect during the month of July, but the basic prices named in the President's guarantee proclamation, which were the same prices at which buying had been done at the named markets for the last year, would be in effect during the month of July. Before the first of July the question of possible premiums for August and the details of these, if any, would be publicly announced in the same manner.

Mr. Barnes made public yesterday a delayed cable message from Herbert Hoover in Paris, intended to have been read at the recent conference of the grain industry here. Director Hoover in his message said:

"I would like to have you take occasion of your forthcoming conference in New York to express to these gentlemen the hope I possess that the sense of subordination of private interest to service for our people and to the world generally which our trades have shown during the war shall not end with peace. Here in Europe the individualism upon which economic life and civilization have been built is on trial against the forces of communism. They will, I am sure, hold with me that our organization of the processes of production and distribution, built as it is on every incentive to individual effort, is the only system by which the prosperity and comfort of all of our people can be maintained. Yet this very system must evolve methods by which there will be a more equitable division of the profits that arise out of its processes or it will give life and stimulation to its opponents."

INFLUENZA GERM ELUSIVE.

Speakers Tell Medical Convention Experiments Yield Little.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 13.—Physicians, who were invited to speak upon experiments with influenza cases, said at the final sessions of the convention of the American Medical Association here today that they had made little progress in isolating any organism of the disease or developing an anti-toxine. Dr. Wade Frost said that sporadic outbreaks of the disease might occur in various parts of the country, and pointed out that the profession would have to use its old methods of fighting the disease, because little new knowledge had been gained by investigators.

Dr. William H. Park of New York reported that conflicting results had been noticed by physicians who were trying to isolate the influenza organism said that with fifty different cultures about the same number of variations had been observed without finding the true germ. Other speakers said that investigation was so badly needed that the American Academy of Medicine had urged the association to seek a Government fund of $1,500,000 to carry on intensive research work for at least four years.

CLERGYMAN GETS $48,000 FOR FALL

A verdict for $48,000, one of the largest for personal injuries ever recorded in Kings County, was awarded yesterday by a jury in the Supreme Court before Justice Kapper to the Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish in a suit brought by him against the New York Consolidated Railroad Company, a subsidiary of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. An interesting feature of the case was that the clergyman won the big verdict without the testimony of any actual eyewitnesses to the accident of which he was the victim and which formed the basis of the suit. He sued for $75,000 damages.

Dr. Melish is the rector of Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, at Clinton and Montague Streets, and is one of Brooklyn's best known clergymen. He testified that on the night of June 14, 1917, he was returning from a meeting in the Brooklyn Labor Lyceum in Willoughby Avenue when the accident happened. He was ascending the stairway of the elevated railroad station at Myrtle and Evergreen Avenues, on which reconstruction work was in progress, when he stepped through an opening where one of the stair boards had been removed.

He fell to the street, a distance of twenty-five feet, sustaining injuries which confined him to his bed for six months. His right arm and thigh were fractured and his right hip permanently injured. He alleged that these and other injuries, including nervous shock, had so disabled him as to lessen his earning capacity.

Witnesses for the company testified that a plank had been placed across the foot of the stirway which the clergyman ascended to indicate that this station entrance was out of use. Dr. Melish, however, produced two witnesses who asserted that no barrier had been placed across this particular stairway and that there was no sign to show that the stairway was not to be used.

CREDIT MEN ELECT OFFICERS

Warn Public Against Sharks Seeking Liberty Bonds.

DETROIT, June 13.—During the closing session of the National Association of Credit Men's Convention this afternoon, Curtis R. Burnett, Newark, N. J., was elected President, to succeed F. B. McComas, Los Angeles. The other officers elected were: First Vice President, H. E. Choate, Atlanta, Ga.; Second Vice President, W. B. Cross, Duluth, Minn.; Secretary-Treasurer, J. Harry Tregoe, New York. Mr. Tregoe was re-elected for the eighth term. He is the highest paid credit man in the country.

The New York association, that came to the convention with 100 members, won the silver trophy cup for having the largest membership gain, 1,687 new members during the year, bringing the total membership up to 3,434.

Included in the resolutions adopted were a number referring to certain Government policies, notably one urging the adoption of a national budget system and appointment of a Federal Board on Government Expenditures; one asking that, in connection with the return of railroads and telegraph service to the owners, measures be taken to insure better service and larger returns to investors, and another protesting against the practice of railroads, both under Federal and private control, of demanding prompt payment of freight charges, but delaying payment of bills for supplies furnished by dealers.

Other resolutions included one urging holders of Liberty bonds to resist attempts of "enemies of society" to obtain these bonds at heavy discounts.

Botany Worsted Mills
PASSAIC, NEW JERSEY

The Board of Directors of the Botany Worsted Mills, upwards of two-thirds of the stock of which has been taken over by the Alien Property Custodian, on June 2, 1919, put into effect an Employees' Bounty Plan.

The plan provides that upon proof of the death of any person in the employment of the Company at the time or his or her death, who was continuously in the employment of the Company for at least one year preceding, and whose wages at the time of death did not exceed fifty dollars per week, the Company will pay to the person or persons designated in writing by such employee a sum of money equal to the wages paid to such employee by the Company during the last year of his or her life, not exceeding in any case the sum of one thousand dollars.

The plan provides that the present employees of the Botany Worsted Mills should be entitled to receive the benefits of the Bounty Plan notwithstanding their participation in a recent strike at the mill of the Company, which, the plan provides, is not deemed to have interrupted the employment which otherwise would have been a continuous employment during the past year.

The Botany Worsted Mills plan involves no insurance company but is a direct donation by the Company to its employees without cost to any employee and without medical examination of any kind.

The plan as formulated by the Board of Directors was unanimously approved by the stockholders of the Botany Worsted Mills.

It is a source of gratification to the directors, to the stockholders, and to the officers of the Botany Worsted Mills that the Botany Worsted Mills was the first of the great woolen concerns to inaugurate such a plan, and the Board of Directors of the Company have noted with satisfaction the fact that other woolen mills have promptly fallen into line by the institution of similar or like plans.

OPERA RE-ENGAGES CARUSO AND FARRAR

HARROLD AND 10 AMERICANS

On the eve of sailing today by the Italian liner Duca d'Aosta to revisit his native country for the first time in three years, Giulio Gatti-Casazza yesterday gave his first outline of his plans for the coming Metropolitan Opera season. He could not depart, he said, without thanking New York's opera patrons for generous support during the war, especially since an increased demand indicated that next season would see the largest subscription in the Metropolitan's history. He also expressed his appreciation of Chairman Kahn and the Opera Board, who had shown their confidence in him by extending his engagement as general manager.

In speaking of his operas and stars for next Winter, the impresario named first the proposed novelties and revivals. These will include Hadley's "Cleopatra's Night," Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird," of which the composer, Albert Wolff, will also be the new conductor for French operas; Leoncavallo's "Zaza," with Farrar as heroine; Tschaikovsky's "Eugen Oneigin," and revivals of "Parsifal," in an English version by Krehbiel, and Halevy's "La Juive," in which the hero will be Caruso.

"All the principal artists of last season have been re-engaged," said Mr. Gatti. "The public will be pleased to know that Mr. Caruso has accepted a prolongation of his contract for four more years, and that Miss Farrar has accepted a three years' extension of her engagement. Mr. Amato, completely restored to health, will resume his place in the company.

"If Mme. Emma Destinova comes to America next Winter, as we hope, she will make a number of appearances at the Metropolitan. As to Miss Lucrezia Bori, even if she does not rejoin the company next season, she has been re-engaged for the season following. Miss Mabel Garrison, by the way, will occupy an important position in the company, which her success last season earned for her."

Among new foreign artists engaged, the director mentioned five. They are Gabriella Besanzoni, a contralto from Rome and Buenos Aires; Louise Berat, also contralto, formerly of the Paris Opera Comique and Chicago; Renato Zanelli, a baritone of the Santiago Opera; Giovanni Martino, bass, formerly of the Scala at Milan, and Octave Dua, buffo tenor, formerly of Covent Garden and Chicago.

"Ten American artists have been added to the company," Mr. Gatti continued, "Orville Harrold, a tenor of fine quality, well worthy of the Metropolitan stage; the Misses Evelyn Scotney, Gladys Axman, Ellen Dalossy, Margaret Farnam, Edna Kellogg and Adeline Vasari, sopranos, and the Misses Jeanne Gordon, Frances Ingram and Carolina Lazzari, contraltos.

"At present six well-known scenic artists are engaged here on the scenery for the coming season. There are distinctive settings in preparation for our stage by Boris Anisfelt, Joseph Urban, Norman Bell-Geddes, James Fox, Willy Pogany and Pieretto Bianco. The new productions will provide an artistic feast not only for the ears, but also for the eyes."

Of the new operas and revivals in detail, he said:

"Among the novelties will be an American opera in two scenes, 'Cleopatra's Night,' based on one of Theophile Gautier's stories, libretto by Alice Leal Pollack, music by Henry K. Hadley, today one of the most popular native composers.

"Maeterlinck's 'L'Oiseau Bleu,' which as a play, 'The Blue Bird,' had such a great success here a few seasons ago, will be presented in operatic form for the first time on any stage. The music is by one of the best of the younger French composers, Albert Wolff, now conductor at the Opéra Comique, and whom the Metropolitan has engaged to succeed Maestro Pierre Monteux, who becomes conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

"Tschaikovsky's 'Eugen Oneigin,' perhaps the most popular opera of the Russian repertoire, will be another novelty.

"It is my intention to present a masterpiece either of Verdi or of Rossini unknown to our public. Another Italian novelty will be 'Zaza,' based on the play which years ago I understand had a long run in New York, the present libretto and music by Leoncavallo, composer of 'Pagliacci.' The opera has been given in the West but a capable interpreter of the title rôle was lacking. Zaza will have the good fortune to be interpreted here by Miss Geraldine Farrar.

"'Parsifal,' which is quite free from the taint of Teutonic militarism and imperialism, will be restored to the repertoire, but it will be sung in English, a special translation having been made by Henry E. Krehbiel. An entirely new and original mise en scène also is being prepared.

"Another important revival will be 'La Juive,' the masterpiece of the French composer, Ludovic Halevy, with libretto by Scribe. Special interest attaches to the fact that the chief tenor rôle will be sung by Mr. Caruso. Massenet's 'Manon' also will be revived."

Sailing this noon with Mr. Gatti are two of the opera conductors, Roberto Moranzoni and Giuseppe Bamboschek. The impresario expects to return to New York in September.

NEW SINGER FOR CHICAGO.

Campanini Engages Carlo Galeffi, to be Heard Also in New York.

A cable dispatch yesterday from Cleofonte Campanini, General Director of the Chicago Opera Association, announced that Carlo Galeffi, a sensational young Italian baritone, will be a member of the Western opera organization next season. Galeffi, who is now at the Teatro Colon, Buenos Aires, will come from the Argentine capital to this country, arriving in October. He will sing later with the company during its five weeks' stay in New York.

Galeffi is a native of Parma, the home city of Mr. Campanini, and since his début at the Scala he has appeared in the leading opera houses of Italy, Spain, and South America.

FILM UPLIFTERS TO MEET.

J. A. Quinn to Lay Plans Before 200 Clubwomen Here.

The Motion Picture and Theatrical Co-operative Association of the World, which has as its object the production of a better class of motion pictures, will hold its first meeting on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the Hotel Astor, according to an announcement yesterday by Mrs. John Francis Yawger, of 808 West End Avenue, member of the National Board of Censors.

The movement is headed by J. A. Quinn, a leading producer of Los Angeles, who has forty theatres in California, and who has secured the co-operation of representative producers, exhibitors and artists. He has arrived in New York and has brought with him the indorsement of his plan by a large number of motion picture stars, producers and exhibitors.

According to Mrs. Yawger, it is expected that 200 persons will be present at the meeting on Monday. New York club women are enthusiastic over the new organization and its opportunity to be of service in improving the standard of motion pictures, she said.

HADLEY LEADS NEW SUITE.

A new suite by Henry Hadley was played at the Columbia University open-air concert on the campus last evening, with the composer conducting the New York Military Band. The largest crowd of the season was out under the trees to hear the music.

The suite is in six parts, with the titles "Hollyhocks," "Forget-me-nots," "Crocuses," "Jasmine," "Bachelor Buttons," and "Poppies." It was interesting to hear how these common blossoms were distinguished musically. The first part was a swinging march, the second a dainty waltz, the third a sprightly dance movement, and so on to the poppies at the end, which proved to be Viennese posies, offshoots of the ancestral Strauss gardens. The whole suite showed Mr. Hadley's skill in instrumental coloring.

Alma Clayburg sang soprano solos, Bizet's "Angus Dei," and "The Long, Long Trail," in which last the large audience joined.

CALLS HIMSELF 'JULY FIRST'

Youth, Taken to Bellevue, Gives Address No. 1 July Street.

An unidentified man about 22 years old became violent at the corner of Twenty-ninth Street and Broadway last night, and collected about him an awe-stricken crowd made curious by his frenzied shouts of "July 1st! July 1st!" Patrolman Edward Nufl of the West Thirtieth Street Station summoned an ambulance from Bellevue Hospital, to which institution the man was removed for observation.

The man who was the cause of all the excitement and the eulogy on July 1st was later described as being 5 feet 4 inches in height, and weighing approximately 145 pounds. He was wearing a light gray suit, gray checked cap, tan shoes, and black socks. In a package which he carried was found a billhead bearing the name of the Forest Paper Company of 76 Duane Street.

At Bellevue Hospital doctors and nurses questioned the man, who appeared to be of Italian descent, and his only answer to interrogations was that his name was July First and that he lived at No. 1 July Street. Doctors at the hospital said he had not been drinking, but seemed to be obsessed with the date of July 1st.

TO EXTEND DRIVE FOR SCOUTS HERE

Committees Report City's Membership Quota Cannot Be Filled by Tonight.

McADOO PREDICTS SUCCESS

Increases Time Limit of Campaign to Wednesday—Taft Lauds Movement.

After the Boy Scout campaign committees in this city had reported yesterday that their aims in this city would not be achieved if the drive ended today William G. McAdoo, General Chairman, decided that it would be necessary to extend the time limit to Wednesday. He pointed out that the response of the rest of the country had made it possible for campaign committees in other cities to cease work tonight.

"The advantage of extending the campaign in this city outweighs the disadvantage," said Mr. McAdoo. "It is not a confession of failure; it is a confession of the insuperableness of the obstacles encountered. The campaign did not really get under headway here until the second day, and as Saturday is a half holiday and many persons cannot be reached at all that day, there have really been but four actual working days.

"I am quite sure if we go at this problem vigorously on Monday, invigorated by a rest over Sunday, we will meet with success. I am not discouraged at the situation. There never was a campaign during the Liberty Loans that at some time or other cold feet were more numerous than warm feet.

"One thing can be said for Americans; anything they set out to accomplish they never fail. Grit your teeth again and resolve to do this job."

A statement given out for the Executive Committee of the drive said that he workers believed that the city had not been thoroughly canvassed in the six days allotted for the work, and that New York, in a thorough campaign, would exceed its quota. It is the desire of the committee to enroll here at least 350,000 associate members, paying annual dues of $1.

A. B. Leach, Chairman of the Manhattan Canvass Committee, said yesterday that his workers had passed the $250,000 mark and would be able to cover thoroughly in their field before next Wednesday. Orders have been given to the Rainbow Division to redouble their efforts among the industries.

Chairman McAdoo yesterday enlisted the assistance of ex-President Taft in the campaign and, introducing him at the noon meeting at the Sub-Treasury, referred to him as the "greatest nonpartisan the country ever saw because, through love for his country, he always supported any nonpartisan movement that had for its object the nation's welfare."

"I am here as Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America to bear witness to the usefulness of the organization," said ex-President Taft. "Scout training will be of lasting benefit to the youth of America, which means the betterment of the country as a whole.

"We occupy boys in school a few hours a day and they have a great deal of leisure time. We don't work boys hard enough. Now the Boy Scouts movement is one of those steps of improvement that keeps a boy busy most of the time.

"It takes away the opportunity of improper development of the boy through too much leisure. It teaches the joy of service and takes away selfishness that leisure gives him. Take care of the boy and we can leave the men to themselves. There are not more boys in this organization because its scope of activities has been limited through the lack of funds. There are not enough funds to carry on the work, to buy uniforms which add so greatly to the spirit for the work, and to pay for many other items incidental to the running of the association. The Boy Scouts movement will give the nation a substantial and efficient foundation through the proper education of America's boyhood."

Meetings throughout the city will be held as usual today, and special meetings for tomorrow will be announced this afternoon.

70,000 LABOR MEN TO PROTEST "DRY" LAW

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Seventy thousand representatives of organized labor, headed by Samuel W. Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, are expected by union officials to participate in a Flag Day demonstration to be held on the steps of the Capitol tomorrow in favor of repeal of the wartime prohibition law and exemption of beer and light wines under the national prohibition amendment.

President Gompers, who is expected to be accompanied to Washington by 700 delegates to the American Federation of Labor Convention now meeting in Atlantic City, will address the labor representatives from a platform to be erected on the top landing of the marble stairway immediately in front of the Senate entrance.

Labor delegations from many Eastern cities, according to union officials, will be on hand to participate in the demonstration of protest in addition to 50,000 members of local labor unions.

BIG CUT IN OXYGEN COST.

Jeffries Tells Chemists of Reduction from $30 to $2 by New Method.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 13.—E. A. W. Jeffries, research engineer of the Morgan Construction Company, announced to the Northeastern Section of the American Chemical Society tonight that his company had perfected a mechanical method of reducing the cost of manufacturing oxygen from $30 to $2 a thousand feet, which saves $4 a ton in the cost of producing iron.

It was also announced that, with low-priced oxygen, carbide can be made at $10 a ton, as against the present figure of $40 a ton.

Those one-armed professional golf experts, Louis Martucci and Ives Botcazon, showed that they will be hard to defeat by finishing all square in a friendly exhibition with Joe O'Connor and Joe Bradley over the links of the White Beeches Golf and County Club yesterday. O'Connor and Bradley are assistant professionals to Dave Hunter at the Essex County Country Club.

Song Writer's Wife Sues for Divorce

MRS. WHITEHOUSE DID NOT PRESIDE

WOMAN LAWYER PRESIDED

Mrs. Whitehouse Never Heard of the Woman's International League, Which Held the Meeting.

Through a regrettable error it was stated in The New York Times yesterday that Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse had presided at a meeting of the Woman's International League at the Hotel Pennsylvania on Thursday night to protest against the peace treaty. At this meeting President Wilson was attacked and jeered. Mrs. Whitehouse was not present. The meeting was presided over by Miss Elinor Byrns, a lawyer of 165 Broadway, and an official of the Woman's International League.

Mrs. Whitehouse expressed surprise and indignation yesterday when she read the report in The Times of the meeting. She said:

"I was not at the meeting. I was not invited to it. I have no connection with the organization which held the meeting, and never heard of it before."

Norman de R. Whitehouse said:

"I resent the inclusion of the name of Mrs. Whitehouse in the report of the proceedings of those who assembled at the Hotel Pennsylvania on Thursday night under the auspices of the Woman's International League. I am indignant that her name should be coupled with such proceedings. The report does Mrs. Whitehouse a grave injustice."

Miss Elinor Byrns, who presided at the meeting on Thursday night, said yesterday:

"Mrs. Whitehouse was not at the meeting last night. I understand that she does not sympathize with the purposes of it, and that she has been strongly supporting the President. I have often been mistaken for Mrs. Whitehouse before."

TAX RULING FOR RESERVES.

Sailors and Marines Inactive but Not Discharged Exempt, Daniels Says.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Members of the Naval and Marine Corps reserves released from active service, but not as yet discharged, are entitled to any tax exemption or other benefits the States may provide for discharged soldiers and sailors, Secretary Daniels said today in reply to an inquiry from Representative Randall of California.

The Attorney General of that State has ruled that the tax exemption law does not apply to men in this inactive status or unless they are honorably discharged, which Representative Randall characterized as a discrimination. Discharges will be given when the four year enlistment term has expired, Secretary Daniels wrote.

CZECHS STILL RETREATING.

PARIS, June 13.—Peace Conference advices are to the effect that the Czechoslovaks are still retreating before the Hungarians.

Bela Kun, the Hungarian Communist leader, is said to have visited the Hungarian Red Army, and in a long speech told the troops that their valor would be responsible for a change in the attitude of the Peace Conference toward the Hungarian Government.

AUSTRALIAN TARIFF BILL.

LONDON, June 13.—W. A. Watt, acting Prime Minister of Australia, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Melbourne, told the Industries Protection League Thursday that the Australian Government intends to introduce a tariff measure to protect industries created during the war at the approaching session of Parliament.

The measure would also encourage new industries and extend those already in existence. The acting Prime Minister said it was the intention of the Government, if Parliament approved, to pass an effective tariff.

TWO ANTI-TIP LAW CASES.

Army Intelligence Men Accuse Merchants of Rebating on Sales.

On charges of violating the "anti-tipping" law, T. W. Stake, 1 West Eighty-third Street, Vice President of the Schoverling, Daly and Gales Company, at 302 Broadway, and Dennis J. Singleton, a salesman of the same firm, of Bayside, L. I., were released in $100 bail each in the Tombs Court yesterday, pending trial in Special Sessions. Their arrest resulted from a complaint to the District Attorney by Arthur Sacks and George A. Busby of the Army Intelligence Service, who alleged that Stake and Singleton had given a rebate on merchandise bought with company funds by Sergeant Frederick Blair of the Sixth Recruiting Company at Fort Slocum.

On a similar charge A. H. Stiehl and Edward Gibney, owner and manager of the A. H. Stiehl Furniture Company at 27 West Twentieth Street, were released under $500 bail by Magistrate Corrigan in Jefferson Market Court for a hearing on June 26. Sergeant Blair charged them with selling him furniture amounting to $704, and that by arrangements with the defendants the Government was presented with a bill for $1,039.25, and that when it was paid he received a check from the dealers for the difference, $335.25.

HOLD BROKERS' MESSENGER

Thousand-Dollar Certificate Disappeared While in His Care.

Joseph Barron, 20 years old, of 71 First Avenue, a messenger employed by the brokerage firm of Hirsch, Lilienthal & Co., 61 Broadway, was arrested by Detectives Grover Brown and August Mayer yesterday on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the disappearance of a $1,000 certificate of the city service coupon bonds.

On June 7 Barron was given six of these certificates to be delivered to the brokerage firm of Doughtery & Co., 72 Broadway. He delivered five of them and reported to his firm that one of them was missing. His employers reported the matter to Second Deputy Police Commissioner William Lahey, who assigned Detectives Brown and Mayer to the case. After they had interrogated the young man for about an hour yesterday the arrest was made.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Kleinberger & Katz, manufacturers of novelty handbags for women, have removed their office asd salesroom to 347 Fifth Avenue and their factory to 40 Milton Avenue, Jersey City Heights. They were formerly located at 298 Fifth Avenue. The change was made necessary by the need of a larger plant in which to take care of the steadily increasing business of the firm.

The American Dry Goods Company, importers, jobbers and mill agents, Grand and Mercer Streets, have installed a new department for the handling of bungalow aprons, house dresses, and children's wash dresses. This department is directed by W. A. Radwaner, who also has charge of the petticoat and similar lines.

WEBER INDICTED FOR TAX BRIBERY

SEARCH FIRM'S RECORDS

District Attorney Says Further Action Will Depend on What Is Brought to Light.

The Federal Grand Jury yesterday indicted Jay A. Weber, Secretary of the Pictorial Review Company, who was arrested on June 6 and held in $50,000 bail on a charge of offering a bribe of $25,000 to N. W. Gropper, an agent of the Internal Revenue Department, if he would certify to the accuracy of the tax return made by the company. At the time of the arrest it was stated that the return failed to show about $500,000 earned by the company for the year 1917. It was also stated that the books and accounts of the company had been removed to the local bureau of the Revenue Department and that they would be examined and the results compared with the returns of the company for all of the years from and including 1913 to the close of 1918.

Benjamin P. DeWitt, an Assistant United States District Attorney, who has charge of the matter, said yesterday that it would take about two weeks longer to complete the examination of the records, and that whatever further action the Federal authorities would take would depend upon the information obtained from them.

The indictment against Weber alleges that on May 29 he offered to pay Mr. Gropper, who was examining the books of the company in the usual course of business adopted by the internal revenue authorities, the sum of $25,000 if he would O. K. the company's returns for all of the years from the beginning of 1914 to the close of 1917.

It is also alleged in the indictment that on June 6, the day of his arrest, Weber gave Mr. Gropper $500 on account. The charges against Weber are divided into two counts, one for the alleged offering of a bribe and the other for having paid money for the purpose of bribing.

About the time the indictment was returned Weber presented himself before United States Commissioner Hitchcock for examination, but the proceedings were adjourned until next Wednesday, when Weber will be arraigned. His bail of $50,000 was continued. John B. Stanchfield has been retained as counsel for Weber.

The trend in the major provisions at this city this week was downward. Not only were hams and bacon lower here than last week, but declines of 25 and 10 cents a barrel, respectively, were shown by Spring patent and Winter "straights" flour. At Chicago the only advances were in live hogs and Middle Western lard. The declines occurred in live sheep, mess pork, and short ribs.

A peculiar condition existed in the dairy products. In spite of reports of unusually heavy receipts, prices for nearby fancy eggs moved up 13 cents a dozen during the week. The best Western eggs showed an advance of 6½ cents a dozen. The best creamery butter dropped half a cent during the week, while first quality renovated and State dairy stock each moved up a cent a pound. The listed grades of cheese, on the other hand, were weaker in price.

A rise in choice evaporated apples was the only change seen in the listed fresh and dried fruits. The vegetables list showed only a rise of 75 cents a barrel in cabbage and a break of 25 cents a hundred pounds in the price of potatoes. Salt Irish mackerel broke $2 a barrel during the week. No changes were seen in the tea list, but both of the basic grades of Brazilian coffee moved up again. They now show very sharp advances over the corresponding figures of 1918. Declines in Zanzibar cloves and black Singapore pepper were the only changes contributed by the spice list.

All of the changes in the grains were downward, and they included rye, oats, corn, and malting barley. Hides prices continued very strong, but this week the only advance were shown in Colorado No. 1 country steer and No. 1 buff stock. All of the listed leathers advanced for the second week in succession. These included No. 1 hemlock sole, tannery run union backs, No. 1 scoured oak backs and No. 1 light belting butts. In the metals a drop in No. 2 pig iron was the only decline, the advances being in lake and electrolytic coppers, spelter, and lead.

The advances and declines in the combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs, and oils were evenly divided at nine each, but features were lacking. In the naval stores a break in the price of tar contrasted with sharp advances in resin and turpentine. The last-named is now nearly twice as expensive as it was at this time last year. The miscellaneous changes included a drop in jute and advances in hemp, hops, tallow, and crude rubber.

Not a great deal of interest transpired in the textiles during the week. Save on some of the gray cottons, which were offered under market levels by second hands, prices were generally firm, and in the case of some standard prints and wide sheetings they were moved upward. Colored cottons also took on a firmer tone in some instances. In the burlaps prices were firm to higher, with business hampered by the lack of available merchandise.

The Fall lines in the coat and suit trade give evidence that the domestic designers do not intend to give up at once the freedom they obtained from the Parisian fashion dictators during the war. While there are many modified French styles on the market, it was pointed out, the straight line effect for the coming Fall appears to be most favored. This style treatment of the Fall fashions runs somewhat away from the ideas of the Parisian designers who are favoring a slight fullness at the sides.

Comment on Piece Goods Opening.

The opening gun of the Spring 1920 season in the men's wear piece goods market was fired with the naming of a price for the new season by a prominent concern. Market opinion seemed to consider the price of the line low in view of conditions. Opening prices, however are no longer of their former importance, it was brought out, owing to the advances which are quickly made once buying starts. For this reason it was intimated in the trade, other openings may be expected to start on a conservative basis, and work up where midseason profits will more than cover any difference in the usual margin that is accepted at the start.

Jobbers Will Take Anything.

Since the dress goods market began to show its upward tendency following the armistice weakness, jobbers in that line have bought wherever they could place their orders. From a survey of the jobbers' operations, the mill agents have come to the conclusion that the guiding principle of the jobber is not what he should buy but how much can be had. Anything and everything seem to suit the jobbers in general although, of course, there is discrimination shown by some. A mill agent calculated yesterday that the number of jobbers has increased since the war fully three hundred per cent.

Piano Makers Co-operate.

Delegates to the piano manufacturers and dealers' convention just returned from that meeting in Chicago report that the association idea has at last firmly established itself in the industry. There was an evident desire, it was said, to break down the barrier that was seemingly built up between the Eastern and Western sections of the trade. The delegates to the meeting reported that large orders were being taken for pianos, and that every manufacturer was compelled to turn down desirable cash orders because the output is limited by the scarcity of skilled employes. The National Piano Manufacturers' Association decided to co-operate with the National Association of Music Merchants in a plan for the contribution of 25 cents on every piano manufactured for the benefit of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce.

Furriers Hold Meeting.

The Retail Furriers' Association of New York held a meeting in the Auditorium of the Bush Terminal Sales Building last night, when plans to secure an amendment to certain phases of the luxury tax as it relates to furs were discussed. There was also a general discussion of business topics, including the establishment of a school to train crippled soldiers in the fur manufacturing industry. It has been planned to instruct them in the work carried on by the fur-trimming branch, in which wages are high. There were about fifty manufacturers present.

Gray Goods Sales Drag.

Excepting for 38½-inch 64-60 printcloths, a considerable quantity of which was sold yesterday at 15½ cents by second hands for delivery during the remainder of this month and next, sales in the local gray goods market dragged somewhat yesterday. The same sources disposed of 39-inch 72-76's for similar delivery at 20 cents, and of 38½-inch 60-48's at 13 cents. Sheetings business was limited and lacking in interest, and not much was done in fine yarn goods. Sales of sateens and twills by first hands for delivery in July and August were reported.

Boycott May Help Our Trade.

While there is some question in the export end of the local cotton goods trade as to just how much the anti-Japanese feeling now existing in China will help American business with that country, there is a disposition in some quarters to believe that the situation will prove the ill wind that will blow American exporters good. In support of this belief it was cited that, in spite of the present high range of prices, quite a little business has come to this market from China of late in the shape of a demand for brown sheetings and napped cottons. Reports from the trade indicate that foreign business in cottons has been quite active this week, the demand ranging all the way from sheer dress cottons to heavy duck.

Hard Coal Receipts No Larger.

Saward's Journal will say today that, beyond recovering from the slump incidental to holiday shutdowns at the mines, receipts of anthracite at tidewater have shown no improvement this week. In fact, there is little reason to expect any particular increase for some time to come, since the plan of distribution favored by the leading interests does not provide for an increased percentage of the output being diverted to this market until later in the year, after the faraway places have been given a large part of their annual requirements. In the bituminous trade, confidence remains unshaken in the face of local unsettlement brought about by a surplus of coal at the piers and afloat in the harbor.

It was pointed out yesterday by a local jobber of dress cottons that the demand for white goods this season, as for some times past, has been relatively larger in cities of less than 100,000 population than in places housing more people than that. Just why this is so he is at a loss to understand, as the reasons and occasions for wearing white cotton frocks are just as numerous and important in the large places as in the smaller ones. In an endeavor to solve the mystery he spoke to a woman relative of his about it, asking especially why more women in Greater New York did not wear white. Her answer, which is characteristically feminine and conclusive, follows: "What, wear a white dress on Broadway? Why, if I did I would feel positively undressed!"

Must Not Use Word "Linoleum."

Quite a little interest was shown yesterday in the local floor coverings trade in the decision of the Federal Trade Commission requiring the Ringwalt Linoleum Works, Inc., of New Brunswick, N. J., to discontinue the use of the word "linoleum" in conjunction with a product made by it which has a backing of felt paper impregnated with asphaltum and painted over. The decision also says that the Ringwalt Works must not use the word "linoleum" in its corporate name until such time as the concern actually makes linoleum according to the expired patents of Frederick Walton, which were granted in England in 1863, and in this country in 1889. The case has been in the trade eye for some time. In relation to the ruling of the commission it was said here yesterday that a number of concerns make a product similar to that of the Ringwalt Works, but that this concern was the only one which called the goods linoleum.

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

P. A. NEWMAN & CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Paul A. Newman and Florine B. Newman, who compose the firm of P. A. Newman & Co., stock brokers, at 15 Broad Street, by N. Howard Pinto, attorney, for these creditors: G. W. Clarke, $800; Robert E. Lange, $600, and Edward J. Kiernan, $725, proceeds of sales of stock. Robert E. Lange is on an assigned claim of Samuel Parker. It was alleged that they are insolvent and made preferential payments and transfers of property to parties whose names are unknown.

DANIEL CAHN, dealer in women's hats at 1,481 Broadway.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against him by these creditors: R. S. Stern & Co., $1,618; J. Bloomfield & Co., $646, and Harry S. Morris, $441. He made an assignment June 3.

DELMONICO'S.—Alwyn Ball, Jr., Daniel Greenwald and Thomas H. Baskerville, who were appointed last week appraisers to appraise the leasehold of Delmonico's, at the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-fifth Street, have filed their report, placing a valuation of $75,000 on the lease. The lease runs from July, 1912, to July, 1927, at $75,000 a year rental. The tenant pays all taxes, assessments, water rents, fire insurance up to $300,000, and makes all repairs of every nature. No change can be made in the nature of the business—a restaurant—without the approval of the lessee.

The appraisers state the land has increased greatly in value since the lease was made and if the purchaser of the lease could make such alterations as desired without hindrance from the landlord, the appraisers would not hesitate in declaring the lease worth between $200,000 and $300,000. There has been in the past four years a movement in the neighborhood toward the installment of uptown branches of the great financial institutions, as the corner is one of the few remaining of any size suitable for such purposes. The clause in the lease limits the use of the property, in the hands of a lessee, to a restaurant. They are therefore of the opinion that at the present time the lease is worth $75,000.

Weekly Failure Report.

Bradstreet's reports 94 failures in the United States during the week, against 94 for the previous week, and 193, 270, 285, and 323 for the corresponding weeks of 1918 to 1915. The Middles States had 27, New England, 13; Southern, 14; Western, 24; Northwestern, 6, and Far Western, 10. Canada had 9, against 13 for the preceding week. About 88 per cent. of the failures had less than $5,000 capital, and 7 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

DIFFER ON HAULAGE CLAUSE

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Opposing views as to rigid enforcement of the long and short haul clause of the proposed interstate commerce law were presented today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. M. M. Caskey, representing the Southern Traffic Association, declared Congress had for years left it to the Interstate Commerce Committee to determine the fairness of rates.

"The whole territory of the South east of the Mississippi River," he said, "is permeated with instances of departures from the long and short haul provision. Attempt to change that now would result in losses and hardships indescribable."

H. M. Gregory of Little Rock, Ark., said the passage of the measure would render justice to communities which had long been discriminated against.

Radical elements in Western States point to existing railroad freight rate schedules as one proof of injustice inherent in American Government structure, Frank R. Gooding, delegated to speak for the Governor of Idaho, told the committee.

Samuel Wettrick, traffic expert for the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, said that the bill was "a part of the offensive campaign constantly carried on by intermountain cities in the West to take away from Pacific cities natural advantages inherent in seaboard location.

"We do not ask for maintenance of preferential rate conditions at the Pacific Coast," Mr. Wettrick said, "but simply for a rate structure so arranged as to give us the proper advantages of water transportation."

ASK TARIFF ON TUNGSTEN.

Colorado Mine Owners Make High Tariff Plea to Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Twenty-one Colorado tungsten producing companies informed the House Ways and Means Committee today that they could not resume production unless a tariff of $10 a unit on their product was granted.

"The tungsten industry is in a critical condition," said their telegram, read by Representative Timberlake, Republican, of Colorado. "Immediate relief is imperative, for all mills are closed and the mines are filling with water."

Representative Kahn of California declared the development of tungsten mining, begun as a war necessity, would make the United States independent if Austrian competition, with its low mining cost, was prevented.

Western producers of tungsten and other minerals, including magnesite and manganese, will continue their plea Monday for a high protective tariff.

TRAFFIC INCREASE MAY PREVENT HIGHER RATES

Increase of 64 Per Cent. in Grain Loading in the West Over Last Year Reported.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Increasing business, which it is hoped may offset the railroad deficit sufficiently to make an advance in rates unnecessary, was reported by the Railroad Administration in statistics for traffic last week.

In the Central Western region there was an increase of 64 per cent. over the same week last year in the loading of grain and in the Northwest the increase was 100 per cent. All freight handled in the Southwest was 11 per cent. more than last year. Cotton is moving freely to the Gulf Coast under promise of additional steamers. In the East, the general freight movement is sub-normal, but ore shipments are increasing.

MAJOR WICKERSHAM CITED.

Son of Former Attorney General Praised by Pershing.

In a statement issued by Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan at the headquarters of the New York National Guard last evening it was announced that Major Cornelius W. Wickersham has been cited by General Pershing for "meritorious and conspicuous service" in connection with the attack of the 4th Army Corps during the St. Mihiel offensive.

General O'Ryan's statement follows:

"Notice has been received at headquarters of the New York National Guard that Major Cornelius W. Wickersham, formerly Assistant Chief of Staff of the 27th Division, received a citation from General John J. Pershing, as Commander in Chief, American Expeditionary Forces, for 'exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous services as Assistant Chief of Staff, G-3, 4th Corps.' Major Wickersham was one of the officers who planned and carried through the attack of the 4th Corps at St. Mihiel, and this citation is understood to refer to his services rendered at that time. Major Wickersham was later transferred to the General Staff of the Second Army in France."

Oil and Victory

Admiral Beatty, in command of the British fleet in the victorious battle of Skagerrak, is quoted as saying that the Allied cause was floated to victory on a flood of oil. FINANCIAL MARKETS

The stock trading community, especially that portion which stays close to the ticker, was in a mood yesterday to look at current events through dark glasses. The persistent stiffness of money rates had undoubtedly disturbed many speculative calculations, and so it was not surprising that the greatest tension which call funds have displayed this year brought about a sharp selling movement. The reduction of lines of stock held on margin was particularly rapid among the industrial group, which suffered net declines extending from 2 to 12 points. Call money loaned as high as 12 per cent., the maximum rate since December, 1916, but the movement upward was no less effective in unsettling business in stocks than the fact that a much greater percentage of the day's borrowings commanded a higher rate than 6 per cent. than on any preceding day of the week. Whereas there had previously been abrupt bulges of the quotation toward the end of the stock market session, the scarcity of loanable funds became pronounced yesterday before 1:30 o'clock. Railroad shares were weak with the others, with activity less among them and with declines less extensive.

The strain upon the money market incident to payment of the second income tax installment was evidently more extensive than had been expected in stock market circles. The due date is Sunday, but the movement gained force yesterday and as the money market does not open on Saturdays, the banks doubtless made full preparations for the demands upon them. The total of payments which will be made in the local Federal Reserve district at the Treasury's call can hardly be estimated, as a calculation based upon the first installment is likely to be out of the way by a wide margin because of the Government's suggestion to tax payers that they anticipate later payments as far as possible. Approximately $345,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, which may be turned in against the tax at this time, were placed in this district, but the rise of the call rate indicated that they failed to ease the burden appreciably. The proceeds of tax payments are not to be redeposited among the banks by the Treasury, differing from the practice last year, and it will be interesting to trace the condition of the money market next week.

The tightness of bank accommodation was hardly conducive to continued pool operations in stocks, and it was noticeable that issues popularly supposed to be the subject of group buying lately were among the weakest. At the same time, weakness was general, and in this the occurences were familiar ones of similar markets of the past. From Monday morning on the tendency of quotations had not been assuring to the seekers of profits on the long side and the accumulated fatigue of traders probably stimulated sales. As often happens when the market becomes disturbed, news which lately had either been ignored or interpreted favorably looked quite different under the influences of the day. The peace negotiations which had been considered as shaping themselves in satisfactory fashion were gazed at askance when cabled dispatches hinted at material changes in the final document. The Railroad Administration's report that traffic, aided by grain shipments, improved substantially last week was overlooked as a favorable item in the general depression of speculative sentiment.

Italian exchange moved against that country, and Spanish rates also turned against Madrid after working the other way the day before. Sterling changed very little. In periods of normal exchange operations a rise of money rates here, of the sort recorded this week, would probably have brought a considerable volume of funds from London, entailing the unbidding of the dollar and a consequent decline of sterling.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Royal Dutch Stocks Close.

The two classes of Royal Dutch shares closed neck and neck at 111 yesterday. In order to stand on an equal basis when business closed, however, one had to fall further than the other. The so-called "American" shares declined 4¼ points and the "New York" shares 3⅝ points.

* * *

Inactive Stocks.

In such a market as yesterday's the owner of unlisted stocks frequently has reason to be thankful that his money is in issues of the sort. Such shares rarely move as rapidly in either direction as do others of a corresponding class which are on the Exchange or the Curb. In periods of long declines on the active markets, too, the unlisted securities are often steady for days at a time.

Victories Still Climbing.

The Victory 3¾ per cents., the tax-exempt notes, continued their climb yesterday, going to 100.48, as against a high of 99.98 for the 4¾ per cent. taxable notes. This movement widened the "spread" to an even one-half of 1 per cent., and would surely present a most attractive arbitrage if such a thing were possible. But it isn't, as yet. However, the demand for the 3¾ per cents. was not as keen yesterday as on some other days, possibly because potential buyers have discovered that there are very few of the tax-exempt notes to be had in the market without running up the price, and it is understood that some large buying orders are being held out until the two classes become interchangeable and the market assumes more normal proportions.

Gold Engagements.

Gold engagements were again recorded but few of them were made public. It was announced that the Mercantile Bank of the Americas had made application for permission to ship $1,000,000 in bars to Peru. This is the first application for a movement of bar gold, all previous engagements having been for coin.

* * *

Shipping Rates Lower.

Shipping rates are steadily going to lower levels which augurs well for American participation in the world markets. The high rates have in many instances worked a hardship against American manufacturers. While they obtained the difference in production costs, which favored this country, they were nullified even to the extent of making it impossible to lay down goods abroad at an advantage. The decreasing rates for shipments will doubtless bring to the fore again the cry of the English steel manufacturers that they cannot compete with American producers. Steel in this country is some $15 a ton cheaper than in England but, except in the case of special steel products, the American manufacturer could not take advantage of the situation to compete in British markets against the British manufacturers. With lower freight rates the conditions will be changed.

The Financial Centre.

There has been considerable talk recently that New York was to replace London as the financial centre of the world. In fact there are any number of good arguments to substantiate the belief that this will eventually come to pass. These, however, were not in the mind of a broker who was discussing the money market yesterday. "This talk about New York becoming the financial centre," he said, "sounds ridiculous when we have a call money rate of 12 per cent. here while money is ruling at 3½ per cent. in London, and is only 5 per cent. in Berlin.

General Motors Weak.

General Motors stock followed the downward path yesterday, with as much consistency as it was only a short time ago displaying in attaining new high levels. The shares were under selling pressure throughout the trading session and the close at 211½ was also the low for the day, the decline having amounted to some 12 points. As compared with the high which was touched within the last ten days, at better than 240, the net decline in that period has been more than 30 points.

Fuel Oil Prices.

For some time there has been a steady decline in the price of Mexican fuel oil, but even with knowledge of this, there was a disposition to take with the proverbial grain of salt the statement which appeared yesterday that Mexican oil was selling at 1 cent a barrel. Certain oil it is known has been selling at 11 cents a barrel, but the latest price of 1 cent a barrel was characterized yesterday by one oil man as absurd. The production from the Mexican fields has been low recently because wells were shut down, the producers seeing no benefit in selling oil at the low figures which ruled. The demand for high grade oil continues to be heavy although there is a suggestion that overproduction may result from the great activity in the new western fields.

Curb Market Memberships.

The plan to house the curb market is well under way, and it is understood that the special committee appointed by the association to decide upon the future home of this mart is getting down to figures with the real estate agents who have parcels to offer in the district bounded by Broad, Wall, William, and Beaver Streets. At the same time there has been a considerable amount of speculation as to the price at which New York Curb Market Association memberships will sell when the market moves indoors and the membership is limited to 500. At present there are 431 members, and 138 applications for membership remain to be passed upon. This apparently would mean that 68 members will be taken in and 68 will not. In some quarters this is taken as an indication that memberships will then be at a premium.

The Telegraph Strike.

Wall Street will pay close attention today to the vote of the operators who comprise the Brokers' Division of the Eastern Division of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union on the question of a strike. In some of the wire houses it has been stated flatly by the operators themselves that there will be no vote in favor of a strike by the Wall Street telegraph operators, but in other quarters it is asserted that the men will vote to go out. Brokers in general did not appear to be worried over the situation, as the operators who handle the financial district's wire business enjoy good working conditions, their hours are short, and the pay is high, and in the past when there has been agitation for a general strike they have given it but little attention.

Rails Reflect Selling Pressure.

The railroad stocks were not immune from selling pressure in yesterday's declining stock market, and losses ranged from fractions to nearly 3 points, with only slight recoveries before the close. Among the issues which lost more than 2 points for the day were Texas & Pacific, Southern Pacific, and St. Paul, while losses of more than a point occurred among the following: Reading, Pere Marquette, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, and Great Northern preferred. In the case of several of the issues the stock sold off on an exchange of only a few hundred shares of stock.

CLOSE SWEDISH LOAN BOOKS

It was announced by the National City Company yesterday that subscription books to the $25,000,000 Swedish loan had been closed last night and that allotments would go out today. The offering, it was said, had been considerably oversubscribed.

Bankers said that no new foreign credits had been arranged as yet, but admitted that negotiations for two or three are pending. It was reiterated that negotiations for a Swiss Government loan were being conducted and that at least one other European Government was in the market. Both of these loans, it was further stated, might be arranged before the drafting of the comprehensive rehabilitation program of which international bankers had been talking was completed.

A Czechoslovakian credit for the purchase of American cotton is being spoken of, but it is understood this matter will not be arranged until the Peace Treaty is signed. The cotton, it is said, is now at a European port awaiting final disposition.

DISCUSS JERSEY TAXES.

The commission appointed by Governor Edge to investigate tax problems held its first meeting yesterday in the Assembly Chamber of the City Hall in Jersey City. After taking testimony it will report a tax reform bill to the Legislature. Commissioner James F. Gannon, the Director of Revenue and Finance in Jersey City, welcomed the commission to the city.

Among the suggestions made by Commissioner Gannon was one considering the advisability of exempting from taxation for the next five years all building erected within the next two years for housing purposes. Commissioner Gannon pointed out that every large city in the country was facing the housing problem. He declared that if some legislation were not adopted this problem would grow more acute. Other witnesses discussed proposals providing for exemption of taxe son buildings, machinery, stocks, trade, and personal property, with a corresponding increase in land taxation.

The commission adjourned to meet in Newark on June 23.

CALL MONEY GOES UP TO 12 PER CENT.

Rate for Demand Loans Hits the Highest Mark Since Dec. 5, 1916.

SEE RISE DUE TO TAX RATE

Call money rates on the Stock Exchange yesterday went to 12 per cent. for both classes of demand loans, which is the highest rate recorded since Dec. 5, 1916, when money touched 15 per cent., and the second highest rate reached since the establishment of the Federal Reserve system, in November, 1914. A week ago rates for loans entirely secured by industrial collateral went to 11 per cent. and loans on good mixed collateral rose to 10 per cent. During the present week rates have been up to 8 per cent. on two previous occasions and to 9 per cent. once.

Bankers said that the advance in money was due primarily to the demand for bank accommodation over the income tax due date, which is today. They insisted that the warning recently sent out by the Federal Reserve Board had not caused any wholesale calling of loans, but admitted that some loans had been called because of the pressing need for money for the tax payments. Time money rates and those for commercial paper also stiffened a little yesterday, time funds going to the legal maximum of 6 per cent. for practically all maturities, and commercial paper to about 5½ per cent.

Expect Loan Expansion.

It is believed likely that the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Bank, to be published today, will show some reduction in member banks' borrowing at that institution. At the same time, most bankers expect a substantial expansion in the loan accounts of banks belonging to the Clearing House. This is on the theory that if banks reduce their borrowings on Government securities at the Reserve Bank, the process will tend to expand their own loan items.

It is not believed that brokers' borrowings have decreased this week, nor that they have been expanded much. Loans made for individuals and firms for purposes of meeting the tax payments are expected to help materially swell the loans in today's Clearing House statement.

The flow of money from the interior to New York, it is generally thought, has about ended. The interior banks are now being called upon to help finance tax payments in their own sections of the country and with the needs for crop moving and other purposes coming on, the movement of money toward New York is expected to come to a complete stop within a very short time. This movement has been a factor in keeping rates here at low levels for some months, for as soon as call money rates started to climb the interior banks instructed their correspondents here to lend their balances on the Stock Exchange. Now, even though the flow has not as yet started in the opposite direction, bankers say the supply of new money has fallen off, whereas the demand continues heavy.

Trend Is Feverish.

The trend of money rates on the Stock Exchange yesterday was more feverish than any seen in more than a year. At the opening of the money market, about 11:30 in the forenoon, the first quotation and the renewal rate was 6 per cent. However, many banks which had called loans early in the day did not immediately reoffer it, as has been the custom lately, and the demand coming from those brokers who had been unable to renew at the renewal hour and from those who wanted new money continued throughout the session. By 1:30 the rate for mixed collateral loans was still at 6 per cent., but the rate for all industrial loans had risen from the opening figure of 6½ per cent. to 10 per cent.

At that time several banks sent in large amounts and the rate fell again to 6 and 6½ per cent. for mixed and all industrial loans, respectively. But in the late afternoon it mounted again until both classes were quoted at 12 per cent. at about 2:30. At the close the quotation for both was 9 per cent. After the close of the market brokers said that more loans had been called yesterday and that renewals and new negotiations were harder to arrange than on any day thus far.

The stock market reflected the pinch in money by a general decline throughout the industrial list. Losses of 3 to 5 points were made during the session, but they rallied a little before the closing hour. Part of the decline was also said to reflect nervousness on the part of out-of-town operators over the threatened strike of brokers' telegraph operators.

ORDERS ONE RATE ON PAPER

Interstate Commerce Commission Finds Carriers Discriminate.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Rates on paper throughout trunk-line territory must be revised to make them conform to a definite and uniform basis, the Interstate Commerce Commission declared today in deciding the case brought by the Michigan Paper Mills Traffic Association against the New York Central and other railroads seeking removal of alleged discrimination.

Defendants were allowed forty-five days to propose a revised schedule that will eliminate the inequalities disclosed by the evidence.

"It is definitely established," the commission said, "that many of the rates on paper in the East have been made by the carriers largely for the purpose of permitting mills on their lines to compete in certain markets with other mills more favorably located."

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

The trade reviews of the week reflect a continuation of the healthy tone reported in other recent weeks. The delay in getting the Peace Treaty signed is said to have caused some deferring in important commitments, but general business is moving well and there are signs that it will continue to do so. In commenting on the situation, Dun's Review says, in part:

> Neither labor controversies nor foreign political uncertainties have caused deviation from the forward trend of business, and the constructive elements in the situation, which have undergone no essential weakening, foreshadow sustained expansion. Where seasonal influences, such as preparations for mid-year inventorying, impose restraint on operations, the markets are now rather quieter, but nothing suggests lasting abatement of activities and many more points of gain than of loss are still apparent. The commercial recovery, in fact, has recently been more rapid and far-reaching than seems to be generally realized, and the lifting of the embargo on gold exports from this country, followed immediately by shipments of the metal to South America, is another step in the elimination of artificial restrictions and is significant of the movement toward restoration of normal economic conditions.
> While the vexing delay in the actual adoption of the Peace Treaty remains an obstacle to a full measure of progress, less is heard of the deferring of important commitments on this account as consumers' needs develop more urgency and buyers see more clearly that further price recessions are unlikely, and the disposition to anticipate future requirements is spreading in many quarters.

Bradstreet's review of the week says:

> Favorable conditions continue to prevail in wholesale and retail trade as well as industry generally. Activity is more noticeable in retail lines, especially those supplying the demand for lighter wearing apparel, men's and women's furnishings, millinery, hats, and shoes, which has been further stimulated by warmer weather. From a number of sections reports continue to come that supplies of needed merchandise are light, an indication of past conservatism in ordering induced by anticipations of lowered prices. This disposition is now apparently less in evidence and orders are given more freely.
> Distributive trade displays a freer tendency and an enlargement in volume. Manufacturers in many sections are reported as working to capacity, and in most places as active in filling orders. Makers and sellers of footwear are meeting an active demand, and leather prices are firm, with the prospect of advances. Building activity is reflected in an increased demand for lumber and other materials, including hardware.

NOT TO SELL BRITISH REGISTERED SHIPS

TO HOLD MEETING MONDAY

The proposed sale of the British-registered vessels of the International Mercantile Marine Company will not go through at the special stockholders' meeting on Monday next, according to a statement issued last night by John W. Platten on behalf of the Proxy Committee formed by him with Frederick W. Scott. This sets at rest all doubts as to the possibility that the Marine Company will be liquidated, and has been interpreted in the financial district to mean that the American flag fleet of the company, which was jeopardized by the proposed sale and liquidation, may be used as the nucleus for the development of the American merchant marine. The statement issued by Mr. Platten read:

> The stockholders at their meeting to be held on Monday will not approve of the sale of the International Navigation Company, Limited, assets. Already the committee has received proxies covering 460,000 shares to be voted in opposition to the confirmation of the sale. These proxies have been received within less than forty-eight hours after the proxies were mailed to shareholders, and a very substantial additional amount of stock will be voted against it. The total amount of stock eligible to vote at the special meeting will not exceed approximately 900,000 shares.

Before the announcement was made by Mr. Platten that his committee had enough proxies to block the deal, it was learned that Harry Bronner, a Director of the company, was also opposed to the sale and had turned over his proxy to the Platten Committee.

It was also learned that the opposition to the proposed deal among members of the Marine Board only became evident after statistics regarding the world tonnage situation had been received from the other side. At the time the first offer was made by the British syndicate the £27,000,000 offered for the assets and tonnage of the British subsidiary companies was considered a fair price. The armistice had not been signed, peace was problematical, and there were no figures showing just how deep an inroad the war had made into the merchant fleets of the world. Nor had there been any survey of the peace requirements of Europe.

Since the blocking of that deal by the United States Shipping Board, which asked first that the negotiations be held up for a time and then stated that it would take the place of the British syndicate, later refusing to carry out its verbal contract, the shipping situation became plain to America, and it was evident that the British offer was not sufficient.

While no official statement has been made on this point, it is asserted in some quarters that the members of the Marine Board who opposed the deal were willing to have it go to the stockholders for their consideration and the special meeting was called. When it developed that a ratification of the sale by the shareholders would place the company in an embarrassing situation and that liquidation of this big going concern would have to follow, the Platten-Scott Committee was formed and the real fight started.

COTTON MARKET NERVOUS AND JUMPY

TRADING VOLUME SMALL

The nervousness of the cotton market was well demonstrated yesterday. Beginning with a rise which carried prices up 40 to 45 points, it broke sharply in the early afternoon, going down 80 to 85 points to the extreme low levels, and then, just before the close, it recovered sufficiently to allow the final prices to show changes ranging from a 9 point loss in July to a 12 point gain in January. And all of this was accomplished on less news and a smaller volume of trade than is usually seen.

First prices were steady and not greatly altered from Thursday's closing. Then, on good buying for local spot account and some unfavorable weather reports, the market turned upward and for the first two hours continued to rise until July stood at 31.80, October at 31.35, and January at 30.81, gains of 37 to 45 points. The rise was considerably helped by the publication of the Southern Products Company's condition report as of June 8, which made the condition only 71.7.

The ring recalled that this company's end-May reports had very accurately foreshadowed the Government's May 25 report of a condition of 75.6, and for this reason was inclined to give more importance to the display than is usually accorded private estimates. A good deal of buying followed it.

In the early afternoon, after the high call money rates had got to work on the stock market and had occasioned some substantial declines, cotton broke sharply in sympathy, although wild reports that Wall Street houses were selling cotton contracts so as to release margin money were not generally credited. The decline took July contracts down to 31.05, while October sold off to 30.50, and January to 30 cents.

At the close the market had recovered about all of the net loss on the day and finished steady. There was no Liverpool market yesterday.

Export clearances for the day were posted as 24,884 bales, making the total for the week 138,530 bales, against 102,184 bales the previous week and the largest total reported since the week of May 9, when the amount was given as 140,513 bales.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Previous Day.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet, 10 points lower to 32.85c. for middling upland; sales, none.

Southern spot markets were: Galveston, 32.60c.; New Orleans, 31.88c.; Savannah, 32.00c.; Augusta, 31.37c.; Houston, 32.00c.; Little Rock, 31.25.

Amendment to By-Laws of Cotton Exchange Permits Revised Schedule

The members of the New York Cotton Exchange yesterday by a vote of 224 to 32 agreed to the amendment of the by-laws so as to allow the adoption of a new commission schedule. The new rates are as follows:

Ten dollars per 100 bales when the price is below 13.01 cents; from 13.01 to 25 cents a pound, $12.50 per 100 bales. An additional charge of $2.50 per 100 bales for each advance of 5 cents a pound above 25 cents. For members the rate will be one-half of the new schedule. For persons outside the United States and Canada an additional $2.50, except in the case of members of the Exchange resident outside of the United States and Canada, who will be charged only $1.25 additional per 100 bales.

PLAN $280,000,000 EQUIPMENT FUND

OFFICIAL REPORT SOON

Proposal Calls for the Final Allocation of Material to the Respective Roads.

The special committee of bankers appointed by T. De Witt Cuyler, Chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, to devise a plan acceptable to bankers for the financing of the $400,000,000 of railway equipment purchased on the order of the Railroad Administration and partially allocated to the railways, has about completed its work and will report to Mr. Cuyler within a short time, probably before the end of next week. Nothing official will be said until Mr. Cuyler announces the findings of the committee. This may not be for some weeks.

It is understood, however, that the tentative plan which the bankers have in mind contemplates the issuance of approximately $280,000,000 in railway equipment trust certificates. If such an issue is marketed, the proceeds will be turned over to the Railroad Administration, which has already advanced the major part of the $400,000,000. The balance of the amount due to the Administration will accrue out of excess earnings of the equipment, which will be leased to the railroads and will ultimately become their property, after making adequate allowances for depreciation and maintenance of the equipment and the amortization of the equipment trust certificates.

Bankers say that to successfully offer such a large amount in equipment trust securities, the securities must be made very attractive to the investing public. As one banker expressed it yesterday, they must be "superlatively good, so that they will almost sell themselves." In the plan the bankers are working out the prime question is one of security behind the trust certificates. Their maturity and the interest rate they will bear will be settled later, if the plan is finally adopted. In the report to be made to Mr. Cuyler, it is understood, these matters will not be touched upon.

The plan does not provide for Government ownership of the equipment. On the contrary, as an essential part of it, a positive and final allocation of the equipment is proposed. It is believed that the Railroad Administration will not consent to assume ownership obligations, and for this reason it is thought very necessary that the equipment be trusteed. If it is impossible to secure the consent of the individual railroads to accept the equipment finally, that is, after the expiration of the equipment trust, one banker said yesterday that such equipment would not be included in the trust and that it might become a permanent investment of the Railroad Administration.

The necessity of having to secure Congressional action in the matter was suggested as a possibility by a banker who has been following closely the negotiations between the railroads and the Railroad Administration. Just what form this might take, he refused to say, but elsewhere it was explained that some question as to the legality of the Administration owning equipment in the event that the railroads are discharged from Government control, and the Railroad Control act lapsing before the equipment is liquidated, might arise, and that it might be necessary to have Congress enact enabling legislation.

The Bankers' Committee consists of Jerome J. Hanauer of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Chairman; Charles E. Mitchell of the National City Company, Harold Stanley of the Guaranty Trust Company, Arthur M. Anderson of J. P. Morgan & Co., F. W. Allen of Lee, Higginson & Co., and E. B. Sweezy of the First National Bank. This committee was appointed about three weeks ago, following a conference of railway executives, representatives of the Railroad Administration, the Treasury Department, the War Finance Corporation, and private bankers.

GERMANS TRIED HARD TO GET RADIO SECRETS

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The War Department today made public a captured German document showing the importance the enemy attached to salvaging our airplane wireless apparatus of the "continuous or undamped wave type." The document is also looked upon as indicating that the Allies had progressed further than the Germans in teh radio equipment. It reads in translation:

> XIII. (WURTTEMBURG) ARMY CORPS, H. Q.
> Corps Headquarters, 5-6, 1918.
> ROUTINE ORDER NO. 30.
> 1. (1s) Captured aviation W. T. fittings.
>
> The enemy has found it possible to use wireless installations for undamped waves in his aeroplanes. So far few fittings of this type of apparatus have bene captured by us, and in order to enable us to make use of this as soon as possible and also so as to save millions, which would have to be spent in experiments, it is every one's duty to see that all W. T. fittings from captured airplanes are salved as completely as possible. Even the smallest pieces will be collected as a tyro cannot recognize the value and importance of small parts to the expert.
> W. T. fittings which have been salved will be forwarded to the nearest aircraft unit, which is responsible that they are sent on immediately to the commander of aviation.
>
> In view of the importance of these fittings for our own wireless telegraphy, usms paid for salvage will be high.

This document explains what it was thought necessary for our aviators, who were forced to land on enemy territory, to burn their aircraft and equipment.

"When it was taken into consideration," the Division of Military Aeronautics said, in a statement issued today, "that Germany did not even know that we had developed a practical radio or telephone equipment, the importance of such equipment is readily seen.

"Wireless telegraph apparatus may be divided into two general types—those of the 'spark,' or damped wave type, and those employing the continuous or undamped wave system. The latter type is an improvement on the former, and came into use several years ago for ship and shore stations, superseding the telegraph apparatus of the spark type to a great extent. The telephone apparatus is based on the continuous or undamped wave system, and the outgoing energy is modulated by the voice instead of by the key, as in the telegraph system. Airplane radio telegraph sets of the continuous wave type already used by the Allies as early as the Spring of 1917."

I.W.W. GATHERING IN KANSAS

State and Federal Officials on Guard to Protect Wheat.

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 13.—Reports that "the wobblies were jungling up," which is the I. W. W. slang expression for mobilizing, continued to reach the office of Fred Robertson, United States District Attorney for Kansas, today.

A conference of all County Attorneys in the wheat belt of Kansas was called to meet at Hutchinson Saturday to combat the campaign of the agitators now under way in that section of the State.

So far no acts of violence have been reported, but the actual harvest has not begun, and there has been no chance for I. W. W. outrages. Sheriffs and Marshals in the belt report, however, that the agitators are gathering in little groups in the woods and holding meetings. This is called "jungling up," and is the process used in 1917.

"There are several thousand I. W. W.'s now in this section of the State," Mr. Robertson said last night. "They have been appearing for the last week."

Reports that I. W. W. men were coming in on every train that arrived in Belleville, Kan., were received today by Mr. Robertson.

The Government is making a special effort to co-operate with the State officials, not only to protect the crops, but as a means of locating army deserters.

TO DISCUSS TUBERCULOSIS.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 13.—The National Tuberculosis Association will open its convention tomorrow. The effects of the war in regard to the spread of tuberculosis will be the subject of the chief reports. The sessions will extend over five days.

Among the five hundred delegates are many members of Health Boards and representatives of the United States Public Health Service and Surgeon General's office. It is expected that the United States Public Health Service will be asked to create a division of tuberculosis and adopt a program to protect the health of the nation during the reconstruction period.

Conditions in Europe will be told in reports to be read by Dr. Livingston Farrand, Director General of the American Red Cross, and Colonel Homer Folks. The latter has just returned to this country after making an extensive survey of conditions in the Balkan countries.

UNITED MOVE FOR SUFFRAGE

INDIANAPOLIS, June 13.—Governor James P. Goodrich today took initial steps looking forward to the possible calling of the Indiana General Assembly in special session to consider ratification of the suffrage amendment in time to take action toward giving women of the United States full suffrage in 1920.

The Governor addressed telegrams to thirty-one Governors asking their opinion as to the probability of ratification by their respective State Legislatures, if convened in extraordinary session. He indicated that his action relative to calling a special session of the Indiana Legislature would be guided by the answers.

The Governor's action followed communication with Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who today approved his plan of action, saying that "it would give tremendous impetus to quick ratification."

WARNS SPECULATION IS RIFE IN COUNTRY

TALKS OF MEANS TO CHECK

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—A warning against the era of speculation through which the nation is passing, largely as a result of the removal of many trade restrictions throughout the world, was sounded tonight by the Federal Reserve Board. Indications are, it says, that the speculative movement has spread to a large part of the population of the United States.

By direction of the Federal Reserve Board the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank in each of the twelve districts of the nation sent letters a few days ago to all member banks seeking information as to the scale on which Government bonds and securities were being employed as collateral in connection with the speculative movement, the belief being expressed that this form of financing had reached a point where it demanded attention. The information obtained has not been made public.

There have been discussions also as to action which the Government might take to end this practice, but it has been felt up to this time that a change in rates at Federal Reserve Banks, which would have the effect of checking the movement, was not warranted because of the continuance of the emergency conditions caused by the war.

In discussing the situation the Federal Reserve Board, in its June Bulletin, published today, takes up first the "end of Government control" of business, and asserts that "it is probable that there is today a greater degree of freedom of movement and lack of restriction upon trade throughout the world than has existed for nearly five years.

"The restoration of business to a competitive basis," the board states, "necessarily implies the restoration of our banking and financial mechanism to the exercise of its normal functions in connection with the development of trade. Among these are the restriction of undesirable or excessive borrowing and the application within reasonable periods of the test of liquidation to our foreign trade. It will probably be some time before the mechanism recovers its full effectiveness and is able in the same degree as formerly to adjust the relationship of demand and supply, and to control undue fluctuations in prices. During this period of transition danger of maladjustment or inflation will necessarily exist in greater or less degree, and such safeguards as can reasonably be applied should be invoked. This places upon the banks of the country an exceptionally responsible task.

"One phase of the present situation which parallels conditions that have existed at the close of most former wars is the development of an active speculative situation in the securities market. During the last month operations on the New York Stock Exchange have been upon a basis practically unprecedented since the opening of the war, and paralleled only by the active market operations which marked the advent of large munitions orders when the European contest had definitely established itself. A succession of 'million-share days' with abnormally high prices in many classes of goods has indicated the scope of the speculative movement itself, while the fact that much of the buying within recent weeks is said to have come not from professional traders but from prospective investors throughout the country, indicates the hold which the movement is already taking upon the population of the United States.

"One phenomenon which has presented itself as an incident to this speculative movement is the existence of high call money rates. These rates have at times gone as high as 7½ per cent., although only for a short period in any instance. Such fluctuations of the call money rate have promptly been followed by little more than very moderate curtailment of the volume of banking accommodation. There is here undoubtedly an element of danger to the financial position of the country. Ordinarily a sharp check could be administered through the advancing of the rates of rediscount at Federal Reserve banks. Such a check for the moment encounters some difficulty, so long as the policy of promoting the absorption of Government securities by favoring rates is maintained.

"For the moment the avoidance of abnormally high loan accounts must be effected by means other than those which would ordinarily be applied under the methods and principles of central banking. Eventually, when circumstances will permit, and the Federal Reserve Banks assume their normal functions making advances chiefly against liquid commercial paper, reducing to small proportions advances against United States Government collateral, a natural and effective check to existing conditions in the money market may be afforded through changes in rates at Federal Reserve Banks. As things stand the continuance of emergency conditions caused by the war has caused this primary function of the Federal Reserve system to be held more or less in abeyance."

RUSH TO PAY INCOME TAX.

Overflow of Second Installments Is Expected on Monday.

Income and excess profits tax payments began yesterday to flow into the several offices of the Department of Internal Revenue of the city in response to the Treasury's notification that the second installment was due on June 15. As the date falls on Sunday, it is expected that the bulk of the payments from corporations and individuals will be made today with an overflow on Monday. The downtown banks made preparations yesterday to meet the demands upon them, in consequence of which loans for stock market purposes became scarce in the afternoon and the demand loan rate rose to 12 per cent., the highest level in more than two years.

At the Custom House it was said that payments would be received all day today and along into the evening. Yesterday a long line of persons with payments to make filed through the Collector's department. The officials were unable to estimate the total of money received, and it is probable that a report will not be possible until late on Monday at the earliest.

The first installment on March 15 last brought in approximately $1,000,000,000 throughout the country, and this sum is expected to be exceeded this time. The Treasury in sending out the second installment bills urged that as much of the payments due at the later dates be paid on June 15 as possible. As subscribers to the Victory notes have liquidated a far greater proportion of their pledges to date than Government officials had hoped for, it is believed that the tax payments will run considerably ahead of the total on the first call.

The substitution of matured, or nearly matured, Treasury certificates of indebtedness in place of cash for tax payments should figure largely in the transaction. One series which falls due June 16 amounted to $337,516,000 and another of $392,381,000 matures on June 17. These may be surrendered. Of this aggregate of $729,897,000 certificates, about $345,400,000 were originally placed by the Treasury in the local Federal Reserve district.

MAKE NEW ADJUSTMENT.

Change in Reorganization of Aetna Explosives Company.

Certain changes have been made in the reorganization plan of the Aetna Explosives Company due to objections by the common stockholders to the original plan of readjustment dated March 14, 1918. The changes have been approved by Judge Julius M. Mayer and notice of the amended plan is being sent to the bondholders and preferred stockholders by J. and W. Seligman and Company, readjustment managers.

The plan as now outlined provides that depositing bondholders will be entitled either to receive for each $1,000 bond and unmatured coupons $850 and accrued interest in cash, or to exchange the present bonds, par for par, for Series A 6 per cent. bonds of the Aetna Explosives Company, maturing Jan. 1, 1931. One-twelfth of the total issue of this series is to be retired each year beginning with the year ending July 1, 1920.

Depositing holders of the preferred stock will receive for each share of their holdings $20.75 in cash and $75 par value in 6 per cent. Series B bonds of the Aetna Explosives Company, maturing Jan 1, 1941. Of these one-twelfth is to be retired each year beginning with the year ending July 1, 1920. They will be secured in the same manner as the Series A bonds, but will be a junior lien.

The time within which holders of the preferred stock and bonds can participate in the amended plan is limited. All deposits of both preferred stock and bonds must be made before July 1, 1919. The bonds are to be deposited with the Bankers Trust Co., and the preferred stock with the Columbia Trust Co.

WILL PUT $30,000,000 IN MORTGAGE LOANS

DECLARES MORE IS NEEDED

Senator Lockwood Says Situation Requires the Investment of $75,000,000.

During the session of the Joint Legislative Committee on Housing yesterday at City Hall, Senator Charles C. Lockwood, the chairman, announced that the committee had received promises from banks and insurance companies that more than $30,000,000 would be placed in real estate mortgages during the next two months. He said that $75,000,000 would be needed. "The Williamsburg Savings Bank of Brooklyn," he said, "has already loaned $900,000 on homes only, and negotiations are now under way with an insurance company which promise the construction of 200 new homes in the Eastern Parkway district of Brooklyn in the near future."

At yesterday's hearing the committee continued the examination of savings banks officials, each of whom was asked how much his institution would invest in real estate mortgages in the next few months. The officials of the banks named various amounts ranging from a few hundred thousand to a million dollars. All of them said their failure to invest to any extent in mortgages of late was due to the large amount of money they had put into the Government loans. Walter Trimble, President of the Bank for Savings, sent a letter to the committee saying that the Board of Trustees of his bank had voted to make permanent mortgage loans according to the provisions of the statute as to savings banks loans up to the amount of $2,000,000 or more within the next few months on properties, (new houses built or to be built for housing purposes,) to be appraised and approved by the bank.

When Senator Lockwood was asked about the statement made last Wednesday by Jesse L. Phillips, State Superintendent of Insurance, to the effect that Mr. Lockwood was counsel for the Postal Life Insurance Company, the Senator replied that it was true that he was counsel for the Postal Company, but that he saw nothing wrong in it. He said it was also inferred at the Wednesday meeting that he had some connection with the Mutual Life Insurance Company, but that the fact was he had never been employed directly or indirectly by the Mutual in any capacity. When he was 16 years old, he said, he was an office boy for a law firm which had an office in the Mutual Life Building, but the firm had no connection with the company except to pay it the rent.

The committee will meet again next week, probably on Thursday morning. At that time the officials of trust companies will be questioned and the ice question will be taken up. The committee was appointed to investigate both the housing and the ice problems.

SMITH CALLS FOR PLANS.

ALBANY, June 13.—Governor Smith said tonight that he had received the letter of Nathan Hirsch, Chairman of Mayor Hylan's Committee on Rent Profiteering, asking the Governor to take up with the Legislature next week the matter of housing conditions. The Governor said he had replied to Mr. Hirsch asking him to state definitely just what he wished done by the lawmakers. The Governor said he had not made up his mind as to whether he would ask the Legislature to do anything except ratify the woman suffrage amendment.

"If any of the committees now at work can present a workable plan that is sensible and understandable for anything that is absolutely necessary now, I am not going to stand with my back to the wall and take an arbitrary attitude in the matter," Governor Smith said.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

With the rate of call money further advanced to 12 per cent., all advices making for an improved market tone were outweighed, and heavy liquidation set in on the Consolidated Stock Exchange, which lasted throughout the session and brought substantial losses to the entire list. The oil and motor shares suffered most, General Motors being offered down 9 points, Studebaker 5⅝, and Pierce-Arrow 3. Mexican Petroleum, which sold ex-dividend 2 per cent., fell back 6⅝, while Royal Dutch of New York lost 4⅝ and Sinclair Oil 3⅜. United States Steel declined 2¼, Pressed Steel Car 4, Bethlehem Steel B 2⅝ to 88⅝, and Crucible 3⅜.

AETNA EXPLOSIVES COMPANY, Inc.

To the Holders of Common Stock of AETNA EXPLOSIVES COMPANY, INC.:

Terms of Settlement formulated by a Committee appointed by Hon. Julius M. Mayer, Judge of the United States District Court, and embodying the plan proposed by him, have been approved by that Court and accepted by the representatives of large holdings of the various classes of the securities of the Company. Pursuant to the provisions of such Terms, Messrs. F. H. Prince & Company, as large owners of common stock and representing other common stockholders, have entered into an agreement with Messrs. George C. Holt and Benjamin B. Odell, in form approved by the Court, under which the common stock will be voted for the purpose of carrying out said Terms of Settlement. These Terms are the result of the able and disinterested action of the Court, aided by the various interests of the Company, and provide an adjustment which is believed to be fair to all security holders.

The Receivers, George C. Holt and Benjamin B. Odell, took over the control and management of the Company's affairs two years ago under appointment from Judge Mayer. As the termination of the Receivership is now imminent, it is important, in the interest of the common stock, that there be, as far as possible, a continuance of the same efficient and successful management which has contributed largely toward bringing the Company into its present prosperous condition and that the Company pass immediately into the hands of officers and directors representing the common stock. We believe that these results will be accomplished through the adoption of the Terms of Settlement.

The Terms of Settlement are on file in the office of the Clerk of the United States District Court in the old Post Office Building, New York City, and in the office of the Receivers, 165 Broadway, New York City, where printed copies can be obtained. They provide in effect:

(1) Common stockholders retain their existing holdings and will control the Company, through its officers and Board of Directors;

(2) Bondholders will be entitled to receive, at their option, eighty-five per cent. in cash of their holdings in bonds or par for their present holdings in new twelve year six per cent. bonds;

(3) Preferred stockholders will be entitled to receive $20.75 in cash and $75.00 in a new twenty-two year six per cent. mortgage bond for each share of preferred stock;

(4) The Terms of Settlement are to be carried out under the supervision of the United States District Court with the co-operation of the Committee heretofore appointed by it, representing various interests in the Company, acting in conjunction with Messrs. Holt and Odell;

(5) Messrs. Holt and Odell are to approve the personnel of directors and are expected to become members of the Board and officers of the Company, with Mr. Odell as President, assuring in effect a continuance of the present management.

Forms of proxies for the necessary votes and consents to carry out the Terms of Settlement will be mailed by us to common stockholders within the next few days and may also be obtained at our offices at Court and Washington Streets, Boston, Massachusetts, and 25 Broad Street, New York City.

F. H. PRINCE & COMPANY.

Referring to the foregoing, the undersigned approve thereof and urge that common stockholders execute and forward to Messrs. F. H. Prince & Company proxies for the necessary votes and consents to carry out the Terms of Settlement.

FULL CONFESSION BY BANK MURDERER

CRIME LONG IN PREPARATION

Prisoner Refuses to Reveal Identity of Partner or to Tell His Own Family History.

Gordon Fawcett Hamby, who on Thursday evening confessed to the murder of two officials of the East Brooklyn Savings Bank, yesterday amplified his statements to District Attorney Harry E. Lewis of Brooklyn and concluded his story of eight years of crime by dictating a detailed narrative of the episode which resulted in the death of De Witt C. Peale and Henry W. Coons. This document, signed by the prisoner, is now in possession of Mr. Lewis. After making his formal confession Hamby was arraigned in the County Court before Judge Mitchell May charged with murder in the first degree. A plea of not guilty was entered for him and his trial was set for Monday, June 23.

Hamby was dressed in a well fitting gray business suit. He is tall, with wide shoulders that droop slightly. He is rather spare of flesh and his clean-cut features give him the appearance of a student. There is nothing on the surface to indicate the man's desperate character. As to his family history, Hamby refused to say a word. He told Mr. Lewis that none of the names he has used in his criminal career give any clue to his real name. The District Attorney and the police expect, however, to clear up the mystery which Hamby has thrown about his antecedents.

When asked if he had money to employ counsel Hamby told Judge May that he had none, but he expected friends would provide a lawyer for him. The judge suggested that perhaps it would be better if he accepted counsel provided by the court. The prisoner finally agreed to this plan and was remanded to Raymond Street jail to await trial. District Attorney Lewis communicated with Commissioner Hamilton of the Department of Correction warning him that Hamby was a dangerous man and asking him to maintain a special guard about him while he is in the jail.

District Attorney Lewis struggled with Hamby for six hours on Thursday before he finally admitted that he was guilty of the murders at the East Brooklyn Savings Bank. The prisoner talked freely of his many exploits as a robber of banks and of the murder in Washington, but maintained that he was not guilty of the Brooklyn killing. Identification by the chauffeur of the taxicab and by Mr. Freeman, one of the bank clerks, did not shake him. Suddenly the door of Mr. Lewis' office opened and Peter Bollinger, proprietor of a hotel in Greenpoint, walked in. Hamby started, half recognized the newcomer, then like a flash assumed an air of indifference toward him, as if he did not know him. Bollinger, however, walked right over to him and greeted him. He identified Hamby as the "tall man" who, with his "short" companion, spent the night of the day of the murder at his place.

The identification by Bollinger seemed to break Hamby's nerve, for he then admitted his guilt and proceeded to give details. Mr. Lewis pressed Hamby with questions as to the identity of his partner.

"I won't discuss him, except to say that he did not follow out my orders and made a bum job of that robbery. I ordered him to go over the top of the partition in the bank, but he dived through the window in the railing. You see, he was not used to a 'five figure job'; he was only a petty larceny crook. I was never mixed up in anything but five figure jobs."

Hamby told District Attorney Lewis that at one time he lived in Pacific Street, in Brooklyn, near the Long Island Railroad Station. He went to the East Brooklyn Savings Bank first by chance. He happened to be in the neighborhood of Myrtle and Franklin Avenues and wanted a note changed. He went into the bank to have it done. While there he noticed that the interior arrangements were favorable for his operations, because all the employes were behind the partition on the same side of the building, and consequently no one would be behind him when he held the bank up. He made several trips to the bank for observation in the Summer of 1918. He then shipped on a tank vessel, and went to France.

"Why did you go there?" asked Mr. Lewis.

"Well, when you get money in this country it is wise to spend it abroad, and when you get it abroad it is wise to spend it in this country," answered Hamby.

The prisoner returned to this country early in December, with only $50. He remembered the East Brooklyn bank, and made another trip there. He purposely tore a ten-dollar bill in half, and went into the bank and obtained a new one for it. On that day he made his final observations for the holdup, which took place on Friday, Dec. 13. Hamby said he divided the money obtained in the robbery while he was escaping in the taxicab with "the other fellow," as he persisted in calling his partner. Hamby kept $12,000 of the money taken from the bank. He remained in Brooklyn overnight, and then spent two weeks in Manhattan before he started on his trip West.

One of the things that amused Hamby in talking of the robbery was that several women who were in the bank building became alarmed when they saw him with his revolver in his hand. He declared that he went over to one of them and assured her that he was rehearsing a stunt for a moving picture film and that she was in no danger whatever.

Hamby thought the little stopover he made in Minneapolis on his trip West when he held up a bank in that city was a huge joke on the police out there. "When I left Brooklyn I had $12,000. When I arrived in Tacoma I had $17,000," he said with a chuckle. Hamby told Mr. Lewis that he did not have a cent of money left after his many robberies. "You know I have been somewhat of a spendthrift and what I did not get rid of the lawyers in Washington relieved me of."

When Hamby was taken to Police Headquarters on Thursday night his necktie and belt were taken from him so that he would be unable to strangle himself if he felt so inclined. Detectives sat outside of his cell through the whole night. Yesterday morning he was taken to New York Police Headquarters, where he was placed on the "lineup" for the members of the Detective Bureau. He was also finger printed and measured for the Bertillon records.

HOLDS TWO WITHOUT BAIL.

Magistrate Gives Attorney Better Basis for Habeas Corpus Writ.

As a result of the threat of their attorney to ask a writ of habeas corpus if the bail of $10,000, under which John P. Kent, 42 years old, living at the Patterson Hotel, Forty-seventh Street and Sixth Avenue, and John Parker, 41 years old, of Boston, were held on a charge of grand larceny was not reduced, Magistrate Norman E. Marsh, in the Yorkville court yesterday committed the men without bail for further examination on Monday. They are accused of obtaining $7,000 from Newport Logan, an Australian cattle dealer, by means of a fake horse race scheme.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Unger asked for an increase in bail to $25,000 when the case was called. He explained that, according to information received by the District Attorney's office, warrants were out for the arrest of Kent and Parker on similar charges in Atlantic City and Montreal.

At this point John G. Dyer, representing the accused men, said he would immediately apply for the writ if Magistrate Marsh increased the bail.

"I'll give you plenty of evidence to get your writ, since you are going to make such an application," replied the Magistrate, and held the men without bail.

SEA BREEZE HOME OPENED.

Sea Breeze Home at Coney Island, conducted by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, was opened yesterday and more than 300 mothers and children are enjoying a two weeks' outing at the beach. The party is made up of mothers with children under school age, convalescents and aged women gathered from various agencies in New York.

Many of the association's guests are widows whose efforts to support themselves and children have left them tired and in need of the rest and care provided at Sea Breeze, which is the largest fresh air home of its kind in the country. The association reports that thousands of applications for fresh air relief have already been received.

One way in which the people can help to avoid any possible epidemic this Summer is to send the tenement children to Sea Breeze as their guests. The home has accommodations for 400. The tenement mothers and children go there as the guests of those who give them their outing. It costs $5 a week for each guest. Contributions to the association's Fresh Air Fund may be sent to the association, 105 East Twenty-second Street.

BIG CATTLE TRADE OPENING.

Trial Orders for Dairy Cows for France Will Decide the Future.

Following the recent arrival from France of a commission to negotiate for several thousand head of dairy cattle, the Department of Agriculture offers suggestions as to how breeders in this country may help the farmers of France, and at the same time benefit the animal industry of this country. The number of cattle to be supplied will depend upon the ability of American dairymen to furnish sufficiently good animals at the prices the commission is prepared to offer.

Probably 3,000 cows and heifers will be purchased the first month and the number will be increased if the animals are satisfactory.

This is the second purchase of dairy cattle for the devastated regions of France; the first, made last April, consisted principally of 104 pure-bred and grade cows and four pure-bred bulls purchased by the French High Commission. That importation by France was in the nature of a trial order. Those cattle and the others which will be obtained are to be used as foundation herds for the war destroyed regions of France.

Regulations governing transportation of live stock to foreign countries have been revised, and apply to dairy cattle as well as to beef animals which in past years constituted the bulk of the shipments. The regulations require that adequate feed, water, and attendants, as well as comfortable stalls and pens be furnished, so the animals will arrive in the best possible condition.

The Bureau of Markets, through its foreign trade division, has arranged to have the animals transported under the classification of "relief," which makes immediate shipment possible. Inspectors of the Bureau of Animal Industry will make the necessary certification to the health of the export cattle and an official health certificate will accompany each shipment.

The success of livestock exportations from the United States, it is announced, depends principally on the co-operation of breeders. It appears that orders are being placed with other countries, including Canada, and repeat orders will depend on the measure of satisfaction given. The French officials have indicated their desire for large animals of good milking quality. The Department of Agriculture lays stress on the need for sending the French people only the kind of stock that will be a credit to the American cattle industry.

According to the officials the export trade in dairy cattle can be established for years to come by filling the orders with animals of excellent quality; on the other hand the trade may be quickly lost by shipments of inferior stock. Officers of dairy cattle associations are being asked to acquaint their membership with these policies, and also to impress on them the importance of building up abroad an esteem not only for American cattle but for the fairness, courtesy, and ability of American breeders.

SAVES MANY LAWSUITS.

Federal Grain Inspectors Leave Little Room for Disputes.

The Federal Government has developed an authoritative system of grain inspection throughout the country that promises to reduce greatly, if it does not entirely eliminate, lawsuits over quality of grain delivered. Formerly inspections were made wholly by private agencies that carried little authority and where shipper and receiver disagreed a lawsuit was very often the result. Now the Government's agents step in when the receiver appeals from the declaration of the shipper as to quality and grades the shipment. Though this grading may be disregarded, the Government's laboratory methods and disinterestedness in the proceedings leave little hope for the party to the transaction who carries his contention further. As an example of how the plan works the following is cited:

A grain dealer in a small town where there was no licensed inspector bought a car of No. 3 yellow corn from a shipper at one of the large markets. On receipt of the corn it was found that the car was very unevenly loaded. Approximately one-fourth of the corn on top was of good quality, while the rest had a large percentage of heat-damaged kernels mixed through it. All efforts to get the company that sold the corn to make a settlement met with the reply that the corn was sold subject to inspection at place of shipment and that no discount would be allowed.

Finally the consignees wired to the nearest office of the Federal Grain Supervision, asking to have a licensed inspector come and inspect the grain at destination. They then called an appeal from this inspection to determine the true grade of the grain at the time and place of the last inspection. The appeal resulted in the assignment of a sample grade to three-fourths of the car and No. 3 yellow to approximately one-fourth, which had been unloaded but the identity of which had been preserved.

After this inspection by an officer of the Federal Grain Supervision, the shippers made a settlement by allowing a discount of 10 cents a bushel on 1,000 bushels.

Taking an appeal is not difficult, nor is it a complicated procedure. All that is necessary is to secure a blank complaint form from a Federal Grain Supervision office of which there is one at every large market centre, fill in with the information called for, and sign it. The document should then be left with or sent to the office of the Federal Grain Supervision in the district in which the grain was inspected. The complaint must be accompanied by the original inspection certificate and a deposit of $3. The amount will be returned if the appeal is sustained and the inspection grade changed.

Appeals do not cause serious delays, for the Federal Grain Supervision offices dispose of them promptly. For example, one grain supervisor thus describes the situation at his office recently:

"In one day we handled twenty-five appeals—nine corn and sixteen wheat. All were difficult, as the corn grades were appealed on account of color and damage, and the wheat on account of damage and inseparable foreign material. Yet the laboratory work was finished at 4:30 P. M., and the samples and papers were in the mail by 6:30."

STAR PRISONERS RETURN.

OSSINING, June 13.—Twenty widely known criminals, including "Ownie" Madden, former leader of the Gopher gang on the west side of Manhattan, who were, for political reasons, ousted from Sing Sing some time ago, came marching back to their old quarters today from Auburn prison. "O. K. Bill" Myers has been put out of Sing Sing a dozen times, but got back again this time as usual.

Madden, John Rodgers, Alfred Friedlander and "O. K. Bill" were favorites of Thomas Mott Osborne when he was warden. "O. K. Bill" was the efficiency engineer of the Mutual Welfare League in the heyday of its career, and, according to keepers, he and the rest of the gang were returned through Mr. Osborne's invervention in their behalf with prison officials up-state. Myers, it is understood, is to rehabilitate the league, and with the other distinguished arrivals will try to stampede the inmate election next month for the Osborne party. Just now the anti-Osborne, or "Tammany" party is in power. Former Warden William Meyer drafted most of the returned criminals to Auburn for either failure to work or pernicious activity in politics. "I've been fired out of Sing Sing," said Myers, "by every warden that's been here in my time. I hope Warden Brophy will let me stay." As "O. K. Bill" has served so many terms in prison for burglary he has lost count, he has done a lot of traveling back and forth between the prisons because of the dislike Sing Sing wardens have taken to him. Madden was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment by Judge Nott on June 8, 1915, for the killing of Patrick Doyle at Eighth Avenue and Forty-first Street.

4 SHOT IN FIGHT TO STOP ARREST

RESERVES DISPERSE CROWD

Throng Opens Fire, but Fails to Rescue Man Wanted for Holdup.

In a fight to arrest a man believed to be implicated in the robbery of a confectionery store about a week ago two policemen were shot and slightly wounded and a woman passing in a street car and a man almost a block away were hit by stray bullets fired by friends of the prisoner. The policemen, notwithstanding their injuries, held the prisoner, who was unhurt.

The holdup took place on June 7, when five men entered the store of Julian Berger, at 237 East Ninety-sixth Street, and at the point of a revolver ransacked the place. No money was taken, but the robbers got away with several hundred dollars worth of candy and tobacco. Berger reported to the police that he recognized two of the men, giving their names as James McQuade and Michael Murphy. The former was arrested several days ago and on his arraignment was held in $10,000 bail by Magistrate Groehl. Orders were issued at the various precincts for the apprehension of Murphy.

Last night, as Patrolman Thomas Brown, of the 39th Precinct, was coming to the end of his beat at Ninety-fifth Street and Second Avenue, he saw Murphy standing under a street light. The policeman promptly arrested his man. Another patrolman, Timothy Ryan of the 35th Precinct, whose beat touched Brown's, joined the latter just as the arrest was made.

Murphy attempted no fight, but surrendered at once, and Brown prepared to take him away when a crowd of nearly 200 men and women gathered around to see what the trouble was.

The policemen ordered the crowd to move on, but it refused and began to jeer at the policemen. "Lets take him away from the cops," came a shout. And then some one threw a brick which narrowly missed Ryan.

The policemen drew their pistols and pointed them at the mob, the front rank of which gave way promptly. From the rear, however, more bricks and bottles and stones began to fly. Two pistol shots followed and then a volley.

Ryan received a bullet in the left heel and Brown, on the other side of the prisoner, was shot in the right leg, just above the knee. The policemen fired twice over the heads of the crowd, which began to break, although several men in the rear continued to shoot at intervals at the patrolmen holding their prisoner fast between them. It was one of these last shots that smashed the window of a Second Avenue trolley car and wounded Miss Elizabeth McNamara of 1,051 College Avenue, the Bronx, in the right side.

The noise of the fighting called out reserves from the Thirty-fifth Precinct Station House on East Eighty-eighth Street, and their arrival put the mob to flight. The two wounded policemen were found backed into the doorway of a house, one holding each arm of Murphy, who did not try to take advantage of his friends' attempts to free him.

The trolley car with its wounded passenger was stopped a block away and an ambulance from the Flower Hospital was called. Dr. Walsh dressed the wound, after which Miss McNamara went home. Ryan and Brown were attended by Dr. Hartmann of the City Hospital, where they were removed.

Michael Lawrence, 24 years old, of 220 West Ninety-fifth Street, was walking along Second Avenue, between Ninety-fourth and Ninety-fifth Street, when a stray bullet hit him in the leg. He was attended by an ambulance surgeon from Mount Sinai Hospital and went home.

ROBBERS TIE CIGAR CLERK.

While a policeman stood on the corner of 125th Street and Broadway directing traffic at about 10 o'clock last night, two men entered the United Cigar Store at 126 Manhattan Street about thirty feet from the traffic post, held up and bound the clerk and got away with something over $250 in cash.

The clerk, Edmund J. Regan, was counting his receipts for the day when the men entered. One of them pointed a pistol at his head and ordered him into the back room. He obeyed, and there the robbers bound his hands and feet with heavy twine which they found in the store. Then they rifled the cash register and the safe, which the clerk had just opened to put away the money. Ten minutes later a customer released Regan, and the latter told his story to the police.

No trace has been found of the holdup men, and the police say they must have escaped in an automobile.

ARREST IN GEM THEFT.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 13.—Acting Captain Frank Cody of the local Police Department believes that the arrest of John Kovar, a machinist, who is now in the local lockup, will clear up the robbery of $20,000 worth of jewelry last Saturday night from the home of former Congressman Lucius Nathan Littauer of Premium Point. Through the arrest of Kovar a diamond ring valued at $5,000 and another worth $250 have been recovered in Manhattan. Kovar denies participation in the robbery, and says that a man known to him only as "Julius," whom he met in a saloon in Manhattan, gave him the two rings to pawn.

From a description of the jewelry taken the Manhattan police traced one of the rings to a Brooklyn pawnshop and then notified Mrs. Littauer, who went to Brooklyn and identified the ring. The pawnbroker furnished a description of the man. Mrs. Littauer and Acting Captain Cody went to Manhattan this afternoon, where Mrs. Littauer identified the other ring at a pawnshop and Kovar was brought here.

The Rev. Charles R. Kingsley is the second of the ministers to leave the island. Dr. Kingsley has been pastor of the Emmanuel Church of Westerleigh for a quarter of a century. He announced yesterday that he had resigned. Old parishioners are planning to ask him to withdraw his resignation.

Thieves Rip Open 300-Pound Safe.

Burglars some time Thursday afternoon or evening entered the apartment of Mrs. F. Berlin, widow of Dr. F. Berlin, a physician, on the first floor of 128 West Sixty-first Street and ripped open a 300-pound safe. Mrs. Berlin found the door of the safe ripped off when she went to her apartment last night. Four hundred dollars worth of watches, rings, and other articles are said to be missing.

On the floor near the safe were found two jimmies, an opener, a brace and bit, and several cigarette stubs.

The tenants of the apartment directly underneath that of Mrs. Berlin said that they heard footsteps above them yesterday afternoon, but they thought it was Mrs. Berlin.

EXPECT ARREST SOON IN BIG STOCK FRAUD

PLAN TO SAFEGUARD LISTING

Suggested That Valueless Securities Be Barred from Published Quotation Lists.

A search yesterday by representatives of the Bureau of Commercial Frauds of the District Attorney's office, aided by the police here and in several cities, to find the swindlers who got $20,000 on a buying order from Hughes & Dier of 50 Broad Street, developed several clues that are expected to lead to an arrest within a day or two. Hughes & Dier, who are members of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, lost the money through their branch office at Paterson, N. J.

B. F. Shrimpton, manager of the Broad Street office of the firm, told the District Attorney that an unidentified man who said his name was "C. L. Bowman," went to the Paterson office, ordered and paid for a small amount of stock of the Potts Canyon Mining Company of Superior, Ariz., and then placed large orders, which were executed, whereupon the customer disappeared without paying for it. Manager Shrimpton said the stock was bought at a price beyond its real market value, and that the firm was unable to sell the stock and recover the loss.

Assistant District Attorney Dooling said this scheme was identical with that which had cased a loss of $23,787 to B. Warren Corcoran & Co. at Baltimore, Dooling said that W. J. Bissell, a member of the Baltimore firm, had telephoned yesterday that he had identified the photograph of a New York stock promoter as the companion of the swindler who as "Captain Thomas W. Brown of the Ordnance Department at Washington" had induced the bankers to buy 12,000 shares of Potts-Canyon stock and had disappeared as did the Paterson customer.

"This New York promoter referred to by Bissell," said Dooling, "is under indictment here for alleged grand larceny based on a charge of swindling made by an officer of a national bank in Broadway. The so-called Brown and Bowman, who succeeded in their swindles at Baltimore and Paterson between June 2 and 5, undoubtedly work with confederates here in the manipulation of the stock, but we had not known of the companion of Brown until we received this information today. This is a most important clue, and we are confident that we will be able to round up the entire gang of stock sharks. The mining company and several legitimate brokers who were induced to handle the stock are not involved at all in the plot to swindle the Baltimore and New York firms."

Dooling and John V. Dunne, Chairman of the Welfare Committee of the Curb Association, discussed yesterday a method for prohibiting listing or publication of quotations of questionable stocks on the curb. The association lists stocks, but has nothing to do with supplying the public quotations or their publication.

"Mr. Dunne and Franklin Leonard, Jr., attorney for the Curb Association, agreed with me that protection to investors and the public generally could be attained by barring all stocks failing to show financial or property integrity upon investigation and by keeping out of the quotation list all stocks that fail to meet approval," said Dooling. He thoght that the penal law would apply in enforcing some such provision.

PUT OFF CHURCH LEAGUE.

Atlantic City Meeting Fails to Reach Agreement on Plan.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 13.—Representatives of a score of the largest evangelical denominations in North America failed to reach an agreement in conference with the ad interim committee of the Interchurch Council today relative to forming the basis of an organization to be proposed for the projected League of Churches of Christ.

"While a sincere desire to advance the objects of the coalition of the churches was evinced on the part of all the denominational bodies represented, there was no disposition to force the question whether the proposed union of faiths shall take the form of linking up the existing church bodies or merging them all into a single organization," said Bishop Luther C. Wilson, head of the War Mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Bishop Wilson and representatives of several branches of Methodism here authorized the further statement that the progress made in the meeting was "very encouraging." The conclusion was corroborated by Protestant Episcopal and Presbyterian members of the conference. It was decided to call a meeting of the Interchurch Council late in November in New York or Philadelphia to formulate a report to be presented to the legislative bodies of thirty-odd religious faiths represented in their respective assemblies in 1920.

8 ESCAPE DEATH IN AUTO FALL OF 40 FEET

HEAVY TOP SAVES LIVES

Eight persons had a narrow escape from death last night when the automobile in which they were riding plunged over a 40-foot embankment, landing in a vacant lot on Convent Avenue, between 130th and 131st Streets. According to the police, the fact that the car was a limousine kept the machine from pinning the occupants to the ground. It was shortly after eight o'clock when the accident happened.

Dr. Arnold Neulinger, living with his parents at 575 West 172d Street, had invited the family to accompany him for a ride in his automobile, which had been delivered from the dealers two days before. The doctor was at the wheel, beside him the chauffeur, Charles Varity, of 568 West 171st Street, and in the back were Mr. and Mrs. Pincus Neulinger, the doctor's father and mother, with George, Anna, Mollie and Dorothy, his sisters and brother.

Turning into Convent Avenue, Dr. Neulinger drove south for several blocks and then, noticing that the traffic was getting congested, the chauffeur suggested they turn around. The doctor started the turn, and was backing slowly when another machine shot toward them, coming from the north. Dr. Neulinger being unused to his car, backed too far, and the heavy limousine slid up on the sidewalk, while the people in the other car shouted a warning.

At this point on Convent Avenue, on the same side of the street, is a vacant lot belonging to the Knickerbocker Hospital. It drops away from and below the level of the walk a distance of forty feet, and along the bank at the top runs a board fence. The automobile was backed toward that fence.

Varity, the chauffeur, grabbed for the emergency brake. What happened next is not clear, but the police believe that the doctor in his excitement tried to jam on the foot brake and instead stepped on the foot throttle, speeding up his engine. At any rate, the huge limousine crashed through the fence, balanced a second on the edge of the embankment, and then toppled over. Men and women who saw the accident say that the machine turned a half somersault in the air, landing wheels up on the ground below.

A man who was driving by saw the automobile go over and raced for the 125th Street police station, where he told Captain Patrick Groghan that an automobile full of women and children had run over a cliff, killing everybody in it. The police reserves were ordered to the scene and Captain Groghan himself took charge. When they arrived at the scene they found that passersby had already clambered down into the lot and pulled out through the windows of the car the bruised and terrified passengers. They were taken to the Knickerbocker Hospital in automobiles at once, where they were attended by Dr. McMann. Mr. and Mrs. Neulinger will have to remain for several days in the hospital, it was said last night. Mrs. Neulinger has several broken ribs and is bruised about the head and body. Mr. Neulinger is suffering from injuries to the back. The rest of the party was able to go home after being treated for bruises and shock.

Tom Alley says;
"I have found Mason Cord Tires without an equal. They are the greatest wear-resisting tire which I have seen or used during my years of racing experience. I congratulate you upon their superior quality and the wonderful wear-resisting tread."

Mason Cords
Smash all Endurance Records

In the recent great automobile racing classic at the Indianapolis Speedway, Mason Cords were the only tires that stood up under the terrific strain of the long 500 mile race. No flat tires, no tire trouble of any sort during the severest test to which a tire can be subjected is the new record established by Mason Cords.

At the end of the race the Mason Cords on Tom Alley's car were the wonder of tire experts and racing drivers who crowded around to marvel at the splendid condition of the wear-resisting tires that had borne him through the race in safety and without a single change.

Of the eleven Mason Cords used in the race not one failed to endure the strain imposed upon it. This remarkable record vindicates all claims we have made as to their exceptional endurance and greater mileage. The tearing grind of 500 miles on this speedway is equivalent to 20,000 miles of ordinary wear.

Every Mason Tire is constructed on the "Individual Integrity" principle. Each is made from the best materials that it is possible to obtain and under the supervision of the most expert tire builders in America. Mason Tires are built up to mileage satisfaction not down to a guarantee.
